

JAPANESE POP CULTURE & LANGUAGE LEARNING $4.95

MANGAJIN

No. 37

MANGAJIN

No. 37, August 1994

CONTENTS

FEATURES

特集

tokushū

11 Political Cartoon

Hari Tsunao's cheeky view of Japanese factional politics.

14 Beer Update: What's Brewing in Japan

Will microbreweries finally come to Japan? Bryan Harrell reports on changes in the law, gives an update on the newest brands, and provides a few select beer-drinking terms.

DEPARTMENTS 連載/コラム rensai/koramu

- 4 Letters & Bloopers
- 9 Brand News (Innovative uses of the Japanese language) At one time one of the best-known consumer brands in Japan, this hair restoring tonic uses a kanji "pun" in its name.
- 22 Book Review

James Melville's mystery novels: light reading, set in Japan, with an authentic touch.

24 Computer Corner

Review of the Canon WordTank, plus info on how to handle Japanese e-mail.

28 Frederik Schodt Interviews Fujiko Fujio (A)

In Part II of our bilingual interview, the creator of The Laughing Salesman touches on his Buddhist background, and talks about how he gets his ideas for the stories.

38 Basic Japanese: Slang & Colloquialisms (I)

Slang is probably the most enjoyable part of any language, and sometimes the most useful. Here are a few words you're likely to hear on the street, but may not find in a dictionary.

- 44 Warning & Pronunciation Guide
- 92 Vocabulary Summary
- 94 Classifieds

page 14

page 57

MANGA 漫画 manga

- 34 Calvin and Hobbes, by Bill Watterson
- 36 The Far Side, by Gary Larson
- 44 Beranmei Tōchan べらんめい父ちゃん. by Tachibanaya Kikutarō
- 46 O-jama Shimasu・オジャマします、by Imazeki Shin
- 48 OL Shinkaron OL進化論, by Akizuki Risu
- 50 Furiten-kun フリテンくん, by Ueda Masashi
- 52 OL Reiko-san OLれい子さん, by Yamada Sanpei
- 57 Maboroshi no Futsū Shōjo 幻想の普通少女, by Uchida Shungiku
- 74 Warau Sērusuman (Part II) 笑ウせえるすまん, by Fujiko Fujio (A)
- 83 Naniwa Kin'yūdō (Part IV)・ナニワ金融道, by Aoki Yūji

Mangajin is a made-up word combining manga ("comics/cartoons") and jin ("person/people"). It sounds almost like the English word "magazine" as rendered in Japanese—magajin. All of the Japanese manga in Mangajin were created in Japan, by Japanese cartoonists, for Japanese readers.

Editor & Publisher Vaughan P. Simmons

Japan Representative Moteki Hiromichi

Translation Editor Wayne Lammers

Advising & Contributing Editors Peter Goodman, Karen Sandness Frederik L. Schodt, Jack Seward

Contributing Writars/Editors

Bryan Harrell, Douglas Hom, Ito Hiroko,

Al Marks, Okuyama Ikuko, Shinoda Tomohito

Associata Editors
Ben Beishline, Virginia Murray,
Laura Silverman

Art & Graphics Ashizawa Kazuko

Advertising Director Greg Tenhover Tel. 404-590-0270

Marketing Manager Kathy Saitas Tel. 404-590-0092 Fax 404-590-0890

> Subscription/Office Manager Mary Ann Beech Tel, 404-590-0091

Advisory Board

Elizabeth Baldwin, Steve Leeper, Doug

Reynolds, John Steed, William Yamaguchi

Cover by Kazuko

Printed in U.S.A.

Mangajin (ISSN 1051-8177) is published 10 times a year, monthly except January and July, by: Mangajin, Inc., 200 N. Cobb Pkwy., Suite 421, Marietta, GA 30062.

Second class postage peid at Marietta, GA 30060 and additional offices. Postmastsr: Send address changes to: Mangauin, P.O. Box 7119, Marietta, GA 30065. USPS # 006137.

Subscription prices:

$35/year in US, US$50/year in Canada. Overseas (except Japan) subscriptions: US$80/year

Exclusive agent in Japan:

Sekai Shuppan Kenkyu Centsr,

Minami Aoyama 2-18-9, Minato-ku, Tokyo

Tel. 03-3479-4434, Fax 03-3479-5047.

Subscriptions in Japan: ¥9,250 and ¥8,300/year

Publisher's Note

Back in Mangajin No. 8 we did a summary of all the computer assisted instruction products for learning Japanese. Even at that time (1991) there were 25 or so products available in the US. We're planning to do an update in issue No. 39, and it's frightening to think how many we'll find this time.

As I have mentioned before in this space, I was a reluctant participant in the computer revolution. I learned Japanese "the hard way," and I have to agree with Douglas Horn, who points out in his review of the Canon Wordtank (page 24 of this issue) that there is a lot of value in writing kanji, for example, out by hand. If nothing else, being able to write out a complicated looking kanji smoothly gives a certain sense of satisfaction.

On the other hand, computers seem very well-suited to some aspects of language learning such as pronunciation and readings of kanji. Repeating a word 20 or 30 times would be physically tiring, not to mention boring, for a live teacher, but the computer has nothing better to do—it will repeat as many times as you press the key or click the mouse. Sound quality on computers has been improved to the point that they represent a viable alternative to simple tape recordings, and CD-ROM technology opens a completely new dimension.

Along with our listing of available products, we would like to include some reactions from actual users. If you are using, or have used, a learning software product, please write or fax and tell us about your experiences.

Vayhan P. Simman

The name Mangajin is registered in the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office.

Copyright @ 1994 by Mangajin, Inc. All rights reserved. Calvin and Hobbes, by Bill Watterson, from The Authoritative Calvin and Hobbes, copyright @1990 Universal Press Syndicate, and from The Essential Calvin and Hobbes, copyright @1988 Universal Press Syndicate. All rights reserved. Reprinted/translated by permission of Editors Press Service, NY. • The Far Side, by Gary Larson, from The Far Side Gallery 2, copyright @1986 Universal Press Syndicats. All rights reserved. Reprinted/ translated by permission of Editors Press Service, NY. • Beranmei Töchan, by Tachibanaya Kikutarō, first published in Japan in 1991 by Take Shobo, Tokyo. Publication in Mangaun arranged through Take Shobo. • O-jama Shimasu, by Imazeki Shin, first published in Japan in 1987 by Take Shobo, Tokyo. Publication in Mangajin arranged through Take Shobo. • OL Shinkaron, by Akizuki Risu, first published in Japan in 1991 by Kodansha Ltd., Tokyo. Publication in MangaJin arranged through Kodansha. • Furitenkun, by Ueda Masashi, first published in Japan in 1992 by Take Shobo. Tokyo. Publication in Mangalin arranged through Take Shobo. • OL Reikosan, by Yamada Sanpei, first published in Japan in 1994 by Futabasha, Tokyo. Publication in Mangajin arranged through Futabasha. • Naniwa Kin'yūdō by Aoki Yūji, first published in Japan in 1990 by Kodansha, Tokyo. Publication in Mangalin arranged through Kodansha. • Maboroshi no Futsū Shōjo, by Uchida Shungiku, first published in Japan in 1992 by Futabasha, Tokyo. Publication in Mangalin arranged through Futabasha. • Warau Sērusuman, by Fujiko Fujio (A), first published in Japan in 1993 by Chuo Koronsha, Tokyo, Publication in Mangajin arranged through Chuo Koronsha.

Japan And The Art Of Landing Feet First.

The Denoma Dolling Japanese and Lick sychol, historiew behind the diverse lend for the st. To nother with your point in one of the great When the oviole of the great for y paint the other eye. This is the non-hasing a side of Japanese and I to know he other translations and I to know he other translations as its.

All the tooks your matter for the wife of the colling the wife of the lend of the parameter with Note 1. MA (Been all and eye —in both Fordich at Japanese.

KINOKUNIYA BOOKSTORES

The Lancest Japanese to Let re Chake ke The L.S. and Japane

San Franciso (415)567-7625 San J. se (495)252-13(9) (213)687-44% Tarrance (310)327-6577 Costa Mesa (714)434-9965 Seattle (205)587-2477 New York (212)765-1461 New Jersey (2):1)941-75(0)

BUSINESS CARDS

- AGFA Accuset 1000 with Kanji RIP
- Output: Film/RC Paper
- 500/Two-sided Cards $120
- 500/Second Name Card $100
- HANKO (traditional Japanese name stamp) self-inking, in red,blue,black and green, made to order $50.

120 Interstate North Parkway East Building 400, Suite 444 Atlanta, GA 30339

Tel: (404) 988-9551

Fax: (404)988-9539

LEX Homestay in Japan October 6-19

For Adults and Families 2 week program includes Kyoto finale

Qualified Englishspeaking support staff and leaders. Since 1981. Singles, couples, retirees, and parents with young children are encouraged to apply.

Inquire about this and other homestay programs year-round at:

LEX America 68 Leonard St., Belmont, MA 02178 617-489-5800

Letters to the Editor

Mangajin welcomes comments by letter or fax, although we reserve the right to edit for clarity or length. Please address correspondence to: Editor, P.O. Box 7119, Marietta, GA 30065-1119. Fax: 404-590-0890 日本語の投書も大歓迎です。 日本在住の方は世界出版研究セン ターへ送っていただいて結構です: 〒107東京都港区南青山2-18-9, Fax: 03-3479-4436

Basic Japanese

While I always read Mangajin cover to cover-because it's all worth reading—I'm especially pleased with your selection of the word mono in Basic Japanese. In the future please feature some difficult words, like yo and saseru, and the trio morau, kureru and

IVER TORIKIAN Osaka

We always welcome suggestions for Basic Japanese topics.

Hiragana Times

I am a regular subscriber to Mangajin, and I also receive the Nihongo Journal through your office. I'm wondering if you might be aware of another similar publication called Hiragana Times, published by Y.A.C. Planning Inc. in Shinjuku, It would be terrific if you could start handling subscriptions for it as you do for the Nihongo Journal, because I often have trouble finding it in local stores.

RAY KANEYAMA Honolulu, HI

We have contacted the publishers of Hiragana Times in Japan and have made arrangements to offer single copies. Check our catalog section (US edition only) in the next issue.

Tastefully done

Recently I purchased an issue of Mangajin at the Village Green Bookstore in Buffalo, Reading an issue after having moved back to the US after 17 years of life in Japan, I was struck with the obvious diligence and good taste that went into Mangajin's editing. The contents were such that I had no second thoughts about recommending the magazine to my teenage daughters, whom I am very careful to protect from society's negative attitudes. With such care, Mangajin will certainly gain a readership among those who have a genuine interest in Japanese culture and society, and will play an important role in introducing North Americans to "the real Japan" by carefully explaining the "honne" that is expressed in such a popular Japanese medium.

FREDERICK S. HARRIMAN Buffalo, NY

We like to say that Mangajin provides a peek behind the cultural curtain that obscures so much of the Westerner's view of Japan. It shows how the Japanese portray themselves in their own pop media.

In the first few issues of Mangajin we were especially cautious in our selection of material, partly in an attempt to overcome the negative image of manga as nothing but sex and violence. Now, after more than thirty issues, we try to keep in mind both the average age of our readers (36) and the fact that Mangajin is used in many schools around the country. The challenge is to widen our horizons somewhat while still maintaining a balance between the needs of various readers.

The negi issue

Please permit me to further belabor the complex negi issue that you obviously spent a considerable amount of time belaboring for Mangajin No. 34.

Let me point out that my Random House Dictionary defines scallion as: "any onion that does not form a large bulb; green onion."

This tells me that the Japanese negi can indeed be considered a type of scallion or green onion, even though the varieties of onions and other vegetables that appear on the grocer's shelves are obviously different. Even though the Japanese varieties of pear and eggplant are considerably different from their European cousins, we do still use the words pear and eggplant to describe them.

ALAN SIEGRIST Pleasant Hill, CA

BLOOPERS

Department store slip-up

I was shopping for some slips and camisoles at a department store in Nagoya. A salesperson asked if she could help me, and I told her I couldn't find my size. She asked "Basuto ikutsu desu ka." I was baffled—why should she ask that? I thought my chest must have looked funny with the frumpy shirt I was wearing.

"Futatsu" ("two"), I answered a little hesitantly. "Eh . . . ano basuto wa nan senchi desu ka." ("What is your bust measurement?") I was terribly embarrassed—she wanted to know my bust measurement, not how many breasts I have.

CATHY T. TANAKA Los Angeles

The hazards of tea

I have been studying tea ceremony in Japan. During a tea ceremony, before entering the tearoom, the host may bow and say "Ippuku sashiagemasu," meaning "Allow me to offer you a cup of tea." One day in practice a struggling student bowed politely at the door and with a big smile greeted his guests with "Seppuku sashiagemasu," which sounds like "Allow me to offer you my ritual suicide." Needless to say the teacher was in hysterics.

KIRSTIN HYSLIN Kyoto

We'll send you a Mangajin T-shirt if we publish your language (Japanese or English) blooper. Send to: Bloopers, PO Box 7119, Marietta, GA 30065

Japanese Computer Software Vitronics... helping you learn Japanese faster and better with the best and most affordable computer software. Japanese Prelector - a superb new user extensible interactive vocabulary and Kanji study system for the Macintosh which does not require KanjiTalk ($38.00 plus $9.00 p&h). Also, wordprocessors, online dictionaries, Japanese fonts, Hypercard stecks, and more ... Fax for a detailed fax brochure now! 24 Hour International Fax Hotline: (Australia) 61-8-235-0003 Same day despatch via air mail for the fastest international delivery Vitronics, GPO Box 215, Adelaide, Australia, 5001 Telephone: (Australia) 61-8-235-0003

Internet email. mwildoer@economics.adelaide.edu.au

Ergosoft EGWORD

The Premiere Japanese Word Processor

Features:

- EGBridge 5.2, a powerful front-end processor (FEP) with a 60,000 word Japanese dictionary and a 8,000 word custom user dictionary. Name and medical dictionaries are also included.
- 100,000 word English spellchecker. Automated tablecreation with cell formatting.
- Style sheets for formatting text automatically.
- Support for importing and editing graphic files, including MacPaint, PICT, PICT2 and EPSF.
- ·Vertical text printing and document preview.
- Color support. View and print your documents in brilliant colors with color printers.
- Flexible find/replace in English and Japanese.
- ·Footnotes. A must for scholars!
- Rubi text (furigana) support.
- Support for KanjiTalk 6.0.4 and above. Also runs under the Apple Japanese Language Kit.

Microsoft Word J for Windows

The Japanese Word Processor Of Choice For Windows

Features:

- Complex commands such as table creation, outline mode, and columns are all accessible by the Toolbar.
- Comes with Kanji Truetype fonts.
- Enlarge or reduce window views.
- Preview files before opening.
- Outlining documents is just a one step process.
- Supports Ichitaro version 4/dash files.
- English word wrapping, English spellchecker, English grammer checker, hyphenation, Thesauraus.
- •Rubi text (furigana) support.
- Vertical text printing and document preview.

In addition, CCIC carries products from Adobe, Aldus, Claris, Nisus, and Dynaware. Our technical staff is standing by to help you with any questions! Complete Macintosh or IBM Japanese systems are also available.

HELLO, LANGUAGES!

New Gen printers meet your communication needs.

Quality Solutions for International Communications

Pacific Rim Connections

1838 El Camino Real, Suite 109, Burlingame, CA 94010-3105 Phone (415) 697 0911 Fax (415) 697 9439

Conquer The Kanji Jungle With The Click Of A Mouse!

Kanji Works displays the stroke-order for each kanji. Click on any contained element in the diagram for animated brush strokes.

Search for Kanji by selecting any contained element or the stroke count.

Orders: 800 - SYS - ASIA Inquiries: 718 - 636 - 6726 Fax: 718 - 636 - 6723

Introducing

KW Advanced $149 (2,229 kanji, 7.500 compounds)

KW Intermediate $115 (2,229 kanji, 4,000 compounds)

KanjiWorks is a new language learning aid and kanji dictionary for Macintosh designed to make mastering kanji faster and easier than ever before.

KanjiWorks features over 2,200 characters, 7,500 compounds, 3,000 example sentences, animation, kanji quizzes, and much more, making KanjiWorks is the most complete kanji learning aid available for Macintosh.

Custom lists permit you to concentrate only on the kanji you want to study. Kanji quizzes drill you on the characters you want to master.

Easy reference by reading, meaning, stroke count, radical, or contained element make refcrencing kanji quick and easy. Floating windows and search palettes make Kanji Works fun and easy to use. One click of the mouse brings up all the kanji with a given radical, element, reading, meaning, or stroke count. Or type in a Japanese character, and put the power of a computer dictionary to work for you.

KanjiWorks contains enough kanji, compounds, and example sentences to satisfy the needs of most college-level students of Japanese. And future upgrades to larger dictionaries will help your KanjiWorks grow into a complete desk-top reference set and tutor.

KanjiWorks does not require Kanji-Talk, The Japanese Language Kit (although they are recommended for superior performance), or any other software.

ASIAWEST SOFTWARE

225 Park Place, No. 1A Brooklyn, NY 11238 - Orders: 1-800-SYS-A5IA Inquiries: 718 - 636 - 6726 - Fax: 718 - 636 - 6723

BRAND NEWS

Innovative uses of the Japanese language

加美乃素 Kaminomoto

Everyone knows that Ajinomoto (a brand of MSG, sold in the US under the same name) is for enhancing flavors, so Kaminomoto must be for — that's right — enhancing hair (growth). The name, which used to be one of the best-known brand names in Japan, is a kind of pun based on the fact that the kanji 加美 (kami), which mean "add-beauty," can be read like 裳 (kami), the kanji meaning "hair/head." Moto (素) is written with a kanji that means "base/stock/origin." For example,  $\tau - \pm \mathcal{O}$ 素 ( $k\bar{e}ki$  no moto) is a generic term for instant cake mixes.

The new Kaminomoto

Like Ajinomoto, Kaminomoto is the name of a single product that became the name of the entire company. There is now a variety of Kaminomoto products, including shampoos and tonics, most with indications such as 養毛劑 (yōmōzai, "hair nourishing tonic"), or 育毛劑 (ikumōzai, "hair 'cultivating' tonic").

The old Kaminomoto

The flagship product, Kaminomoto A (発毛促進剂, "hair growth promotion tonic"), recently underwent a packaging facelift. The name, written in brushstroke-style kanji on the old label, is written in English on the new label, perhaps an attempt to keep up with the newer brands of men's haircare products, many of which use English and/or katakana on the label.

Thanx to: SSKC

Send us your examples of creative product names or slogans (with some kind of documentation). If we publish your example, we'll send you a Mangaun T-shirt to wear on your next shopping trip. In case of duplicate entries, earliest postmark gets the shirt. BRAND NEWS, P.O. Box 7119, Marietta, GA 30065

SIMPLY SEAFOODIS A GREAT CATCH!

Looking for good food and good health?

With Simply Seafood magazine at your side, you can prepare restaurant-quality seafood in your own kitchen.

Mail to: SIMPLY SEAFOOD 1115 NW 46th Street Seattle, WA 98107 1-800-835-2722*

*please mention Mangaun if you call to order

SEAFOOD MAGAZINE

Ourawardwinningeditorial, exciting recipes, helpfulinformation, and handling and preparation tips take the fear out of fish.

And only $8.95 for 4 issues a year.

YES, please start m	y subscription to Simply Seafood
1 year (4 issues) for $8.95*.	☐ 2 years (8 Issues) for <15.95
I Name	- A S 7
Address	The second secon
City/State/Zip
Country
☐ Payment enclosed $ ☐ Charge $to my: ☐ Visc
Card #:	Exp
Signature
*1 year in Canada and Mexico, $11	(Can.) All other $30 (USD only) Mjin 1

UNLOCKING THE JAPANESE BUSINESS MIND

300 pages. Seftcever. $17.05 plus pestage and handling in the US. ¥2700 pins pestage and handling in Japan.

ulture may indeed be the single greatest barrier to successful business relations between Japanese and Americans.

Based on the assumption that developing "cultural fluency" is the key to success, Unlocking the Japanese Business Mind first provides a solid framework with which to understand, analyze and interpret differences in culture, then covers practical aspects of Japanese-American business relations—communication, presentation and logic, persuasion, conflict resolution, meeting management, and negotiation.

Going far beyond the typical "how to bow" and "how to exchange business cards" approach, Unlocking the Japanese Business Mind provides indepth analysis of the complex cultural dynamics Japanese and Americans must confront when they come together to work and do business.

JAPAN-AMERICA BUSINESS ACADEMY

a division of

You Can Judge A Book By Its Testimonials...

"Tenhover makes the case that cultural literacy matters, that to remain ignorant of the historical, political, linguistic, geographic, and other cultural parameters of the Japanese psyche is sure to spell failure for the novice business person approaching Japan. Unlocking the Japanese Business Mind is a tremendous advance over virtually all the 'how to approach Japan' material on the market today."

 Chalmers Johnson, President, Japan Policy Research Institute; author of MITI and the Japanese Miracle

"Unlocking the Japanese Business Mind avoids the typical approach of giving simplistic recipes of 'dos and don'ts.' Tenhover provides practical insights into the very different ways Japanese and Americans behave, think and see the world, and the problems that can arise when Japanese and Americans interact."

 Dr. Gary R. Weaver, Professor of International Communication, The American University, Washington, D.C.

"Adeptly combining cross-cultural theory with practical business experience, Tenhover writes insightfully from the perspective of an American who has indeed been in the corporate trenches training Japanese and Americans to more effectively work and conduct business together."

 Dr. George Graen, President, Association of Japanese Business Studies; Professor of Management, University of Cincinnati "Tenhover's book, a broad compilation of expert observations about Japan, is unique in combining the general problems of culture and communication Americans are likely to face by moving to any foreign country, with the specifics of the trouble to be faced in Japan. As such, it amounts to a textbook for Americans about to toke up assignment in Japan."

Sam Jameson, Los Angeles Times Tokyo Bureau Chief

"Unlocking the Japanese Business Mind sets a new standard for cultural literacy. Tenhover's coreful analysis and explanation of the building blocks of Japanese culture give the reader not just a grab-bag of tricks and secret handshake-type gimmicks for operating in Japan, but provide an understanding of how the entire system works... This book will become a major force in more effective and substantial cross-cultural communication and awareness. Worry less about how to hold your chopsticks and read this book!"

 Steve Clemons, Director, Japan Policy Research Institute; former Director, Japan-America Society of Southern California

"...an invaluable asset far anyone involved in cross-cultural training. Cultural differences are real. Tenhover spells out the reasons for these differences, and provides a strong conceptual faundation which can be used to build highly effective training programs."

 Dr. Toshi Kii, Professor of Sociology, Georgia State University; former consultant, Clarke Consulting Group at Dupont Japan, K.K.

POLITICAL CARTOON

From the Asahi Shinbun (朝日新聞)

Keeping track of who's getting along with whom in the world of Japanese politics is like keeping track of lovers in a soap opera. Lacking a majority in the Diet, the coalition led by Prime Minister Hata of the Japan Renewal Party (Shinseitō) is in trouble, but is split over whether or not to make amends with the Socialist party in order to regain the support it needs. Ozawa Ichirō, the powerful and outspoken LDP-turned-Shinseitö-man, has another idea: break up the LDP by recruiting Watanabe Michio, an influential LDP politician who has become increasingly disenchanted with his party, to the ruling coalition. Watanabe is tempted, which has infuriated Kono Yohei, the LDP president. Kono recently called for a vote of no confidence in Hata's Cabinet.

This June 15 cartoon plays on the expression ho-ho rengō ( 保 · 保連合) being used to describe the conservative coalition that Ozawa (seated on the left) and Watanabe (on the right) would form if they were to join forces. Ho (保) stands for hoshu (保守, "conservatism"). Here, the two

「なにっ 保・保連合? 許さ~~ん!」 針 すなお > conservatives (保·保, ho-ho) are sitting check to cheek, or hoppe ("cheek") to hoppe, while Kono stands waving his fists like a cuckolded busband behind them.

連合? 許さーーん! rengō? Yurusa ー u! Caption: なにっ ho - ho Nami! What conservative-conservative coalition Won't allow (it) What?! A conservative coalition? I won't allow it!

くっつけて Bubble: 保っぺ と 保っぺ > to hoppe kuttsukete Hoppe and cheek join/attach/put together Cheek

Cheek to cheek.

Ozawa's Tie: Fr.

Shinsei New life

(Japan) Renewal (Party)

Kono's Tie and Watanabe's

Dress:

Ji

Free

Liberal (Democratic Party)

(Artist)

Hari Sunao (Name of the artist)—a "pen" name

- the small tsu (>) after Nami shows that the word is cut off sharply.
- vurusan, extended to vurusa = = n in this case for emphasis, is a contraction of yurusanai, the negative form of vurusu ("forgive/allow").
- Inoppe ((t → べ) is a colloquial word for "check" (hō, written ¼l, is the standard term). While hoppe is generally written in kana, the ho part here is written with the kanji for "conservative" (保) in order to make the pun.
- · kuttsukete is a continuing form of the verb kuttsukeru ("join/put together"), an emphatic, colloquial version of the verb tsukern.
- shinset (新生) stands for Shinseitā (新生党), the Japan Renewal Party. Ji (11) stands for Jinintō (自民党), the Liberal Democratic Party (LDP).

Hari Sunao. All rights reserved. First published in Japan in 1994 by Asahi Shinbun, Tokyo. English translation rights arranged through SSKC.

Weatherhill

PUBLISHERS OF FINE BOOKS ON ASIA AND THE PACIFIC

A NEW WEATHERHILL IMPRINT

BUTTERFLIES OF THE NIGHT MAMA-SANS, GEISHA, STRIPPERS, AND THE JAPANESE MEN THEY SERVE by Lisa Louis

A fascinating tour of Japan's infamous mixin showi—the nightlife industry that caters to the sensual needs of Japanese men. From cabarets to the most refined geisha houses, Lisa Louis exposes a complete portrait of Japanese nightlife. Wide-ranging interviews paint a surprising picture of the women of this world, the men they serve, the mob connections, and the mixin shobal's crucial role in Japanese life and business.

224 pp. 61/4 x 91/4, ISBN 0-8348-0249-X $19.95 (HARD)

JAPANESE STREET SLANG

by Peter Constantine

The only comprehensive compendium of Japanese slang as it is used on the streets of Japane today. A useful tool to help non-native speakers of Japanese understand the forceful and colorful twists and turns of "street" Japanese, which also offer the general reader amusing and informative insights into Japanese thought and speech.

216 pp. 5 % x 8. ISBN 0-8348-0250-3 $9.95 (SOFT)

P.G.O'Nefilf ESSENTIAL KANJI 2.0/fill Blass Japanes o Characters Selected and Arrange of fire Lotering artificiences

漢字をどれくらい覚, the practical jitsuys [na] 実用的 [な] jis English-I (languag Eigo 英語 2(person Japanese I (langua-Nihon-go日本語 2( dictionary ji sho 詩 jiten 経典: jibiki 字 Noah S. Brannen(a Noa Esu Buranen ノア・S・フラネー

P.G. O'Neille JAPANESE NAMES A Lumprelimmate index list Characters and fluadings

ESSENTIAL KANJI by P.G. O'Neil

The classic guide to learning kanji, rigorously tested and refined by years of use in university classes. An integrated course for learning to read and write the 2000 basic Japanese characters now in everyday use, a mastery of which makes it possible to read most modern Japanese. 328 pp. 5 x 7k. ISBN 0-8348-0222-8 $16.95 (SOFT)

THE PRACTICAL ENGLISH-JAPANESE DICTIONARY by Visib V Bramon

A pocket-sized dictionary containing nearly 8000 entries both in romanization and Japanese characters. Introduces up-to-date, colloquial, and natural-sounding expressions to meet the needs of students, residents of Japan, and visitors. Includes a guide to Japanese grammar and pronunciation, a date conversion table, a listing of suffixes used in counting, and verb conjugation tables, 216 pp. 6% x 9%. ISBN 0-8348-0249-X $19.95 (SOFT)

JAPANESE NAMES by P.G. O'Neil

The problems of reading Japanese names sometimes confound even the Japanese themselves. Japanese Names is a comprehensive dictionary of some 36,000 Japanese names by character and reading. "Indispensable. Easy to read and commendably exhaustive."—Times Literary Supplement. 412 pp. 3½ x 6. ISBN 0-8348-0187-6. Appendices. $22.50 (SOFT)

FINGERTIP JAPANESE edited by Lexus, 1,1d.

Don't let the language barner keep you from having fun! The right word or expression to get you what you want or to where you want to go is now at your fingertips. Easy-to-follow, situation-based chapters will help you to: find inexpensive accommodations; eat at tasty local restaurants; see famous sights and official attractions, shop for local crafts; enjoy Japan as the Japanese do; and much more.

192 pp. 3¼ x 6. ISBN 0-8348-0270-8 $9.95 (SOFT)

420 Madison Avenue, 15th Floor, New York, New York 10017-1107 Tel: 212-223-3008 Fax: 212-223-2584 To receive a catalogue or place an order: 41 Monroe Turnpike, Trumbull, CT 06611 1 800 437 7840

Weatherhill

PUBLISHERS OF FINE BOOKS ON ASIA AND THE PACIFIC

A NEW WEATHERHILL IMPRINT

SECRETS OF JAPANESE ASTROLOGY

The Science of Kigaku

by Takei Mori and Dragen Mitenkovic

Before making any decision, the Japanese consult horoscopes, determined by Kigaku, the "science of the spirit." This is the first book in English to explain the fascinating, ancient science of Japanese astrology. With a wealth of charts, diagrams, and clear explanations to help you understand your number, color, element, and animal sign, you'll be able to discover—and outwit—your destiny. 144 pp. 5 x 7%. ISBN 0-8348-0290-2. $9.95

JAPANESE JIVE WACKY AND WONDERFUL PRODUCTS FROM JAPAN

by Caroline McKeldin

English is widely used in Japanese product names and packaging, often with hilarious results. Is this simply more copying from the West? Or is it a genuine but misguided bid for scrutability? Regardless, if any truth about Japan can be gleaned from its advertising, Japanese Jive will provide abundant grist for the analysis milts of Japan watchers, linguists, and pop psychologists.

80 pp. 8 ½ x 5 ½. ISBN 0-834840248-3 $9.95 (SOFT)

SUSHI MADE EASY SADRE FOO IN THE

STONECATS

SUSHI MADE EASY by Nobuko Tsuda

Sushi can now, with this book, be made easily at home by anyone, anywhere. Here are easy-to-follow instructions for cleaning and filleting fish. Includes 42 recipes with full-color illustrations demonstrating attractive serving suggestions. "A useful primer for sushi lovers interested in preparing it at home."—Publishers Weekly

216pp. 6 ½ x 9 ¼ . ISBN 0-8348-0249-X $19.95 (SOFT)

ZEN FOR CATS by Alfred Birnhaum and Rika Kanmel

"Does a cat have a Buddha-nature?" "Mew!" "Door open—stay in! Door closed—go out!" These are just a few of the Zen riddles that any cat solves with an insouciant flick of the tale, as he pads down the path to enlightenment. Zen for Cats will delight all those who've survived the strict master-disciple relationship that cats use to lead us humans to the truth. Deft ink-wash paintings capture the Zen essence of cats.

96 pp. 5% x 6%. 70 ink paintings. ISBN 0-8348-075-9 $9.95 (SOFT) $12.95 (HARD)

STONE CATS by Vochind Nugata

Yoshimi Nagata's stone cats are every bit as bewitching and entertaining as the furry felines who share our homes and lives. Choosing stones with accommodating shapes, he draws, paints, and varnishes, to concoct a collection of cats droll and daffy, mysterious and majestic. Easy-to-follow instructions help you to create your own family of fossil felines.

48 pp. 9 x 8. 60 photos in full color. ISBN 0-8348-0279-1 $14.95 (HARD)

THE KOBE HOTEL by Sanki Saitoh, translated by Masapa Saito

Sanki Sartoh, one of the leading hasku poets of the twentieth century, was also a writer of offbeat short stories. The stories in Kobe Hotel are based on the author's experiences during WWII, when he lived in a run-down hotel in the city of Kobe. Wartime Japan is recreated in the adventures of colorful group of Japanese expatriates stranded in the hotel during the war. The final stories are set in the postwar days: a visit to Hiroshima, and to a brothel built for occupation soldiers. 224 pp. 5 1/4 x 8. ISBN 0-8348-0274-0 $12.95 (SOFT)

420 Madison Avenue, 15th Floor, New York, New York 10017-1107 Tel: 212-223-3008 Fax: 212-223-2584 To receive a catalogue or place an order: 41 Monroe Turnpike, Trumbull, CT 06611 1 • 800 • 437 • 7840

BEER Update

What's Brewing In Japan

by Bryan Harrell

The four major Japanese breweries—Kirin, Asahi, Sapporo and Suntory—produce an impressive array of beers, brewing up regional and seasonal varieties and coming out with annual new releases in addition to their regular product lines. Yet this assortment of brands belies a disappointing uniformity of taste. Due in part to the fact that the four companies form an oligopoly, not only are packaging and pricing surprisingly uniform, the beer itself is pretty much the same: brisk medium-bodied lager with moderate bitterness.

Recent developments, however, indicate that a revolution may be brewing in the Japanese beer industry. First, lower-priced imported beer has been making its way into the country and onto the shelves of a newly emerging breed of discount sakaya (酒屋, shops selling the entire range of alcoholic beverages, including sake and whiskey as well as beer). Major brewers, sensing the tide of change, have joined in, and are now bringing in imports under both the original brands and their own labels.

Second, Japanese consumers are beginning to show interest in different kinds of beer, in addition to those that the major domestic brewers have been offering. This increased sophistication can be detected not only in the strong response to "trend" beers such as Corona in bottles and Cave Creek Chili Beer, but also in the increasing appearance of more esoteric brews such as traditional style Belgian ales, which are still hard to find outside of Belgium.

Third, and perhaps most significant, is the foreseeable advent of microbrewing in Japan. While microbreweries have been popping up all over the U.S., they have been conspicuously absent in Japan, for one very good reason: a liquor tax reform law enacted in 1940 which stipulated that a brewery could be granted a license to operate only if yearly production quantity was at least 10,000 koku (11), equivalent to 1.8 million liters. After World War II, the metric system was adopted, and a revision of the law rounded this out to an even two million liters.

There are a few different theories as to why this law was enacted; however, there is no doubt that it benefited both the government, by simplifying tax collection, and the brewers (which at the time numbered all of two), by keeping out competition. Obviously, neither Kirin nor Dai Nihon Biiru (which split after the war to eventually become Asahi and Sapporo) had any difficulty meeting this limit. Even today, a yearly production capacity of two million liters is very small for a Japanese brewing operation. There are thirty-seven breweries now operating in Japan, and not including the rather small Orion brewery on the island of Okinawa, they have an average yearly production of 200 million liters each. Thus it is not surprising that the two million liter limit went unquestioned for over fifty years.

Indeed, the term ji-biiru seems to be on practically everyone's lips in Japan these days. Long familiar with ji-zake (地酒), the sometimes rare and elusive varieties of nihonshu (日本酒) made by small, rural producers using traditional ingredients and methods, Japanese are now looking forward to similar hand-crafted treats from the world of barley and hops.

Due to a number of factors, however, drinkers shouldn't hold their breath for their first taste of locally produced amber ale or stout. First of all, while the 60,000 liter/year limit does make it possible for the microbrewery entrepreneur to take a shot at success, it will be challenging for all but the largest brewpub operations to turn a profit. More significantly, even if an applicant "qualifies" for a brewery license by meeting the new lower limit, there is still no guarantee that the license will be granted. That, of course, will be up to the bureaucrats, and if those in brewery licensing are like those in any other

(continued on page 18)

• impressive array = ずらりと揃った zurari to sorotta • belie = 隠す kakusu • oligopoly = 寡旨 kasen • brisk = 発泡性の happōsei no • can be detected = 認められる mitomerareru • advent = 出現/到来 shutsugen/tōrai • microbrewing = 極小規模の醸造 gokushōkibo no jōzō • pop up = 急に起こる/現われる kyā ni okoru/orawareru • round out = 概数化する gaisūka suru • clusive = 見つけにくい/仲々手に入らない mitsukenikui /naka naka te ni hairanai • ingredjent = 原材料 genzairyō • take a shot = 試みる kokoromiru

Recent Developments

Asahi

Nama Itchō (生一丁) is a new beer from Asahi sold only in the Kansai region. When ordering a mug of draft beer at a beer hall, the waiter or waitress invariably calls out "nama itcho!" to the person at the tap to indicate "one (portion/serving) of draft." The beer hall image of this product is further bolstered by the expression biya hōru shitate ( 🗵 ヤホール仕立て、"beer hall preparation/beer hall style") on the label. ピヤ (biya) is an old-style (more Germansounding) pronunciation of "beer," now used only occasionally in compounds such as this one.

Sapporo

Fuyumonogatari (冬物語) is a long-selling Sapporo product named after the title of the Japanese translation of "A Winter's Tale" by Shakespeare. Tōki gentei jōzō (冬季限定醸造) means

"winter season limited brewing." However, don't expect a heavy beer in the style of the European Christmas beers; the winter imagery here is mostly just that.

New this year is Calorie Half (カロリーハーフ), which is actually a much tastier beer than it sounds. This all-malt beer is lightly brewed with a strongly flavored malt, allowing maximum flavor with a minimum of calories. The part of the label that reads "CALORIE 約 50% OFF [当社比]" means that this beer has "about" (約, yaku) 50% fewer calories "in comparison with" (比, hi) other beers put out by "the same company" (当社, tōsha).

Kirin

Kirin Ice Beer (キリンアイス ビール) is, obviously, an "ice beer," like those now so popular throughout North America. Yet this beer is no copy of an American ice beer; it's actually brewed in the U.S. by Anheuser-Busch (makers of Budweiser) especially for Kirin. The expression aisu seihō (アイス製法) on the can means "ice production [brewing] method."

Kirin Shout (キリンシャウト) was introduced this spring as a beer that really slakes a thirst. Featuring a higher level of carbonation, this beer give your throat a good, strong spritzing on the way down. Perhaps the effect is strong enough to make you shout?
Tansan takame [nama] biiru (炭酸 高め[生]ビール) means "high carbonation [unpasteurized] beer."

Ginjikomi (吟仕込), the name of a beer Sapporo introduced some years ago, is actually an expression adapted from sake brewing, Ginjōshu (吟醸酒) is a style of sake made from rice in which much of the outer portion has been milled away to leave just the pure starchy center. This beer is made in a similar way in that the outer husk of the malted barley is removed, and only the starchy center used to achieve a clean, smooth taste. Gin conveys the meaning of "thorough/meticulous," and shikomi (which changes to jikomi in the compound) means "preparation" or "method of production."

* mug = ジョッキ jokks * tap = (権の) 栓 (taru no) sen * bolster = 強める tsuyomeru * slake thirst = のどを潤す nodo o uruosu * featuring = 特色を持つ
tokushoku o motsu * carbonation = 炭酸飽和 tansan hōwa * spritzing = (喉越しの) 泡立つ燃酸 (nodogoshi no) awadatsu kanshoku * allowing = 可能に
する kannō ni suru * milled = 補白された seihaku sareta * starchy center = 澱粉質の多い中心部 denpunshitsu no ōi chūrhinbu * busk = 熨 kara

More Sapporo

Two recent additions to the Sapporo line are Kuradashi Nama Biiru (歳出し生ビール) and Baisen Nama Biiru (焙煎生ビール). Kuradashi means "taken out from the storehouse," giving the impression that this beer is taken straight from the aging barrels.

Baisen (焙煎) is a word coined specifically for this product, but its meaning is clear enough. The character 培 (bai) means "heat" and 煎 (sen) means "roasted"; hence, 培 煎 means something along the lines of "specially deep roasted,"

Suntory

Hyōten Chozō (水 点质流) was introduced some time before the "ice beer" craze heated up in the U.S. and subsequently spread to Japan. Although it's produced in a similar manner to the newer crop of ice beers, its taste is closer to a conventional lager beer, i.e., richer and more bitter. Hyōten means "freezing point," while chozō means "storage" or "preservation," although in this case, chozō should be thought of as "aging" or "cellaring." The explanation 氷点下(-4°C)でつくった生ビール (hyōtenka (-4°C) de tsukutta nama hiiru) under the product name means "unpasteurized beer made below the freezing point [at] -4 degrees Celsius."

Local Beer?

In response to increasing consumer demand for more variety in beer, the four major breweries have introduced a number of regional beers with limited distribution. Most of these so-called regional beers are the same medium-bodied lager—with regionally-specific names and labels.

Asahi

In general, the Japanese don't refer nostalgically to Tokyo as a special region or furusato (故鄉, "hometown") the way they do other cities and towns, but Asahi has made sure that the city has its own beer. Edomae (江戸前). Edo is the former name of Tokyo, and edomae, literally "in front of Edo," means "Tokyo style." (The word was first used in reference to sushi made from fish caught right in front of Edo, that was therefore extremely fresh.) The explanation Tokyo kōjō gentei jözō (東京工場限定釀造、
"Tokyo brewery limited brewing") refers to the fact that the beer is made only in Asahi's Tokyo brewery.

An interesting variation of this product is Edomae Natsu Matsuri (江戸前夏 祭, "Tokyo-style summer festival"). The same beer in a smaller can with a different label, it is to be sold only at festivals in Tokyo this summer.

• coined = (語句が) 新造された (goku ga) shinzō sarcta • craze = 熱狂/大流行 nekkyō/dairytikō • heated up = 激する gekisuru • "ice beer" craze heated up = アイスビール熱に火がつく/アイスビールが大流行するaisubiiru-netsu ni hi ga tsuku/aisubiiru ga dairytikō suru • crop = (lit, 収穫) 製品群 (lit. shīīkaku) seihingun • rich = 味が濃い aji ga kot • regionally-specific = 地域側の/地域に合わせた chīīki betsu no/chiiki ni owaseta

Suntory

From Suntory comes a beer called Sento Bakushu (千都 麦酒). Sento, literally "thousand capitals," refers to Kyoto, the former capital. Bakushu, written with kanji that literally mean "barley liquor/wine" (麦酒) is an old term for "beer" that still appears frequently on labels. Sold only in Kyoto, this beer is being produced to commemorate the 1,200th anniversary of the founding of the ancient capital.

Sapporo

Sapporo Breweries, based in Sapporo, the capital of Hokkaido, has long > been brewing

limited edition Hokkaido beers. Recently, the company launched Nagoya-jikomi (名古屋仕込み, "Nagoya preparation/style") in the Chūbu region surrounding Nagoya. The label proudly proclaims Nagoya kōjō kinsei (名古屋工場謹製), meaning "carefully produced in the Nagoya factory" Indeed, this beer is Nagoya factory." Indeed, this beer is said to be specially brewed to suit the regional foods and style of cooking.

There is no Sapporo brewery in the Hokuriku region, comprising Fukui, Ishikawa, and Toyama prefectures on the Japan Sea, but that doesn't mean the region can't have its own beer. Hokuriku Gentei Shukka (北陸限定出荷, "Hokuriku Limited Shipment") is made in Sapporo's Nagoya factory for sole distribution in the tri-prefectural area.

公方是 社主》 中央中央中央

5 PPORO

・literally = 字義とおり (に) jigidōri (ni) ・commemorate = 記念する kinen suru ・launch = (世に) 送り出す (yo ni) okuridasu

はまがつこうこうひょうはつばいきゅう 8月号好評発売中

資格を生かす!

- ●新米が設とした。 ・新米が資格を目指した理由
- ●通信教育を生かす ・通常教育を生かす ・音がない。またうしまん ・運難・予防指南
- ●キャリアを広げる 資格 ほか

9月号学告

ほんやくがくしゅう 翻訳学習はこうやる

陥りやすい罠に注意!! ほか

7月21日末曜日発売予定。 翻訳家を自指す人のため に第一歩から応援します!

Published by BABEL PRESS

in Japan ¥700

BABEL INC.

1-3-6 Nishikanda, Chiyoda-ku Tokyo 101 Japan Tel.03-3295-2304 (continued from page 14)

Japanese bureaucracy . . . well, you know the story.

So far, the only developments on the local brewery scene are proposals by a number of rural town councils for quasi-public funded breweries intended to draw tourists, with the ultimate hope of luring new investment into the area, Reportedly, a few small sake producers, faced with declining interest in their products among the postwar generation, are looking into brewing with barley and hops instead of rice and kōji.

In either case, any small independent brewers starting up are likely to play it safe and brew light lagers closely resembling the mass-produced suds, relying on the appeal of the location, a clever name and label, and perhaps a trumped-up reputation of the local water, although most of it in Japan is too soft for anything but light lager.

In the meantime, a couple of enterprising Americans, gambling that Japanese drinkers will turn on to small-production craft beers in a big way, have already planned products designed specifically for marketing in Japan.

Young entrepreneur Scott
Moskowitz is a Miami native who last year was responsible for introducing Cave Creek Chili Beer to Japan. This year, he's decided to produce a beer especially for the Japanese market, one that is bound to win the favor of Japanese drinkers since it has been brewed to taste like a cross between Kirin Lager and Sapporo Black Label, two of the most popular beers in Japan.

Intending the beer's name and advertising imagery to celebrate the spirit of friendship between the U.S. and Japan, Moskowitz had chosen to call his beer "John Manjiro" after the famous 19th century castaway who was rescued at sea by a U.S. ship and taken to America. However, it turns out that a Japanese company already has claim to the John Manjiro name, and as of this writing, Moskowitz hasn't come up with a new one.

While Moskowitz has slated his beer for national release, Phred Kaufman of Sapporo will be limiting sales of his three new beers to the island of Hokkaido. The beers are intended to celebrate the sister city relationships between Portland and Sapporo, and Newport, Oregon and Monbetsu, Hokkaido.

All three beers are named after fabled Hokkaido wildlife, and feature both Japanese and English names. Tanchōzuru Bakushu (丹頂鶴麦酒)、 White Crane Bitter Beer, is an Englishstyle bitter. Kita Kitsune Reddo Bakushu (北狐レッド麦酒), North Fox Red Beer, is an English-style amber ale with a bewitching reddish tinge. Higuma Koi Bakushu (ひぐま濃い麦 酒), Brown Bear Black Beer, is a koi (濃い, "strong/rich") English-style oatmeal stout. All come in beautifully painted bottles, and are labeled as Ezo bakushu, with Ezo (蝦夷) the old name for Hokkaido, and bakushu (麦酒) an old expression for beer that still appears on labels.

Kaufman's beers are brewed by Rogue Ales, a leading West Coast microbrewer based in Newport, Oregon with a reputation for producing some of the finest beers in America. In Sapporo, Kaufman is the proprietor of Mugishutei (麦酒亭), one of the best specialty beer bars in Japan.

Another source of American-made ji-biiru is restaurateur Iwamoto Mitsuo, the owner of a chain of Chinese restaurants in the Tokyo/Yokohama area as well as the Cafe Pacifico in San Francisco, which features a small brewing operation on the premises. The first Japanese person to operate a microbrewery in the U.S., Iwamoto directly imports the beer he produces there for sale at his restaurants in Japan. Current offerings include a Pale Ale and an Amber Ale, with Stout and other types planned for the future.

Iwamoto has already begun operating a small-scale brewing setup in one

(continued on page 44)

・quasi-public funded = 準公共的な junkökvöteki-na ・ultimate hope = 最終目的 saishü mokuteki
・lure = 誘い寄せる sasoi voseru ・lager = ラガービール ragā būru ・suds = (俗語) ビール (zokugo) būru ・trumped-up = でっち上げた/おおげさに宣伝された detchi-ageta/ögesa mi senden sareta ・castaway = 漂流者 hvöryūsha ・slate = 予定する yotei saru ・fabled = 伝説的な densetsuteki-na ・bewitching = うっとりさせる/魅了する uttori saseru/miryō suru ・proprietor =
経営者 keieisha ・restaurateur = レストランの居上 resutoran no tenshu ・setup = 施設 shūsetsu

Beer Terminology

Mangajin is, after all, a journal of Japanese language learning and we would be doing our readers a disservice if we didn't introduce at least a little beer terminology. We'll start with the basics and move on to include some more advanced vocabulary as well.

Beer Ordering Terms

biiru kudasai (ピールドさい) "Beer, please" ™ This is the standard way to order beer. It is usually not necessary to specify which brand, since most establishments will carry only one. Onegai shimasu (more formal/polite) or chōdai (more informal) can be substituted for kudasai.

ōbin/chūbin/kobin (大瓶/中瓶/小瓶)
"Large/medium/small bottle" 脚 Japanese beer bottles come in three sizes. all of which are larger than the average

American beer bottle. This is because, unlike in the U.S.. where each person gets his or her own bottle, the bottles are shared by the entire drinking party. So to order for a party of six, one might say, Obin futatsu kudasai ("Two large bottles, please").

Nama vs. "draft"

Perhaps the most commonly mistaken translation of a Japanese beer expression is the use of "draft beer" for nama biiru (' \( \mathbb{L} - \mathbb{N} \)). Nama basically means "raw and uncooked," and nama biiru is just that. This means the beer is not pasteurized, a common practice for bottled beer to achieve a longer shelf life. Beer shipped in barrels to be served in drinking establishments is left fresh—i.e., nama—and not pasteurized, since turnover is rapid. Thus, the fresher-tasting beer served in large beer halls and other places won the distinction of being nama.

In the 1960s, however, new microfiltration techniques supplanted pasteurization as a means of preserving the flavor of beer by removing bacteria and such that would cause the beer to lose its flavor sooner. Beer bottled after microfiltration had the same long shelf life as pasteurized "lager" beer, but since no heat was applied, it was called nama like its barreled brethren. Among bottled beers, which in Japan are virtually all lagers, the traditional pasteurized products retained the "lager" appelation, while the new microfiltered lagers earned the nama distinction.

Even today, brewers refer to their pasteurized beers (which are still pro-

(continued on page 44)

* pasteurized = 低温教商した teion sakkin shita * microfiltration = 微生物 (微小物) ろ過 biseibutsu (bishōbutsu) roka * supplant = 取って代わる totte kawaru * brethren = 同胞 dōhō

for the japanesebased macintosh

Learning Japanese must be dull — not! With GITCO's exclusive line of CD-

ROMbased games

for the Mac, learning

Japanese has never been more thrilling.
You'll love Cosmology of KYOTO, an interactive adventure in Japanese history. And Gadget, a visually-stunning travel mystery. Call for more info.

1-800-JAPAN-07

man in the Machine translator

The TranslatorMini for the Macintosh. Sophisticated machine translation at a price that won't leave you speechless.

GITCO your link to japan

Translate English into Japanese quickly & accurately. For just $549. Call us toll-free at 1-800-527-2607 (212-787-1731 outside the U.S. and Canada) for a free brochure on this & our entire line of Japanese software for Mac & PC.

1-800-JAPAN-07

the sharp zaurus

The Sharp Zaurus is Japan's premier personal digital assistant. Take notes in English or Japanese, draw kanji right on screen, interface with other computers.

Massive dictionaries (Japanese-English, English-Japanese, kanji). Many other features standard. Call for more info.

1-800-JAPAN-07

やっとでまむた! Yatto Demashita!

It's Finally Here!

"...a delightful volume that both educates and entertains. This is 'real' Japanese as spoken by the natives...I highly recommend this book to those who wish to study real 'live' Japanese in its genuine socio-linguistic context."

Glen Fukushima,
 Director, AT&T Japan, and former U.S. trade negotiator

"Basic Japanese through comics presents the reader with enjoyable material as well as valuable information on Japanese language and culture. I recommend it highly as a reference book for learners of Japanese."

Professor Akira Miura

 Professor Akira Miura,
 U. of Wisconsin, and author of Japanese Words and Their Uses

The first 24 'Basic Japanese Lessons' from Mangajin, compiled in book form.

Basic Japanese Through Comics is the ideal supplement to learning Japanese from textbooks. The book uses lifelike situations from real manga to explain linguistic and cultural points quickly and memorably. Each chapter one specific concept of basic Japanese—a phrase, word, or hard-to-grasp idiom—is carefully examined and explained. The lessons cover a wide array of Japanese expression and illustrate usage and cultural context, providing insights into not only the language, but the way the Japanese behave, think and see the world as well.

Learn essential expressions and get a slice-of-life look into Japanese society at the same time!

Each chapter gives you an average of six pages of illustrations from manga covering:

- 1. Yoroshiku o-negai shimasu
- 2. Sumimasen
- 3. Feminine Speech
- Gaijin Bloopers
- Hiragana, Katakana and Manga
- 6. Ohayō & Omedeto Gozaimasu
- 7. Creative Kanji Readings
- Domō, The All-Purpose Word

- 9. Dōzo
- 10. Baka, The Basic Insult
- 11. Shitsurei
- 12. Ii, The "Good Word"
- 13. Yatta! The Exclamation
- 14. Saying Goodbye
- 15. The Concept of Komaru
- 16. Counters and Classifiers

- 17. Baby Talk
- 18. Informal Politeness
- 19. Introductions
- 20. "-sama" Words
- 21. Hesitating with Ano
- 22. The Wide World of Desu
- 23. Hai (Part 1)
- 24. Hai (Part 2)

Order Yours Today!

Only $14.95/¥2500 in Japan

In the US, order through Mangajin ..... Tel: 800-552-3206/Fax: 404-590-0890 In Japan, order through SSKC ...... Tel: 03-3479-4434/Fax: 03-3479-5047

You don't have to sacrifice great service for a low price when you travel

- Need an expert to handle all your business travel needs?
- Want to know who has the lowest airfare this week?
- Confused by the hotel's minimum night stay restrictions?
- Puzzled by the airline's long list of purchase restrictions?
- Need advice on where to take your family for vacation?
- Want to get information on that perfect get-away?

NTA PACIFIC is the one-stop agency for all your travel needs.

Fast, expert service. Over 25 years experience in business, leisure, and group travel. And the lowest fares around.

Call us toll free at 1-800-USA-NTA1 (872-6821) from anywhere in the United States for all of your travel needs

— NTA PACIFIC's highly-trained agents are waiting to serve you —

- CORPORATE HEAD OFFICE
   Tel: 213-896-0341 / Fax: 213-624-8289
- ATLANTA
   Tel: 404-640-9292 / Fax: 404-640-9627
- Tel: 708-228-5655 / Fax: 708-228-5677
- DALLAS
   Tel: 214-702-0517 / Fax: 214-702-8156
- HONOLULU, ALA MOANA
   Tel: 808-951-4000 / Fax; 808-955-1181
- HONOLULU, BISHOP SQUARE
   Tel: 808-545-1122 / Fax: 808-528-0533
- LOS ANGELES-DOWNTOWN
   Tel: 213-683-1613 / Fax: 213-624-8289
- LOS ANGELES-SOUTH BAY
   Tel: 310-329-1130 / Fax: 310-329-7383
- LOS ANGELES, ORANGE COUNTY
   Tel: 714-757-0230 / Fax: 714-757-0237
- MANHATTAN
   Tel: 212-944-8660 / Fax: 212-944-8973
- NEW JERSEY
   Tel; 201-420-6000 / Fax: 201-420-1515
- SAN FRANCISCO BAY
   Tel: 415-591-9402 / Fax: 415-591-7634

THE RESERVE TO SERVE TO SERVE

In the series: The Wages of Zen (1979); A Sort of Samurai (1981); The Chrysanthemum Chain (1982); Death of a Daimyo (1984); Sayonara, Sweet Amaryllis (1985); The Death Ceremony (1985); Go Gently, Gaijin (1986); The Ninth Netsuke (1987); The Reluctant Ronin (1988); Kimono for a Corpse (1989); A Haiku for Hanae (1989); The Bogus Buddha (1990); and The Body Wore Brocade (1992). All published in the United States by Fawcett Crest, New York.

Mysteries set in Japan

Light reading from James Melville

reviewed by Karen Sandness

It's not just Agatha Christie anymore. The field of mystery writing has expanded so rapidly that authors are now specializing in novels set in ancient Rome, T'ang Dynasty China, medieval England, the Orthodox Jewish communities of Los Angeles and New York, the Navaho country of the American Southwest, and the African-American neighborhoods of Los Angeles in the 1950s, to name just a few. Mangajin readers who happen to be mystery fans but lack the linguistic skills to read Japanese detective novels in the original may wish to indulge their twin addictions to whodunits and Japanese culture by reading the works of James Melville, who lived in Japan for eleven years as an employee of the British Council.

His main sleuth is Superintendent Tetsuo Otani of the Hyogo Prefectural Police, headquartered in Kobe. Otani is not especially comfortable with the many gaijin ("foreigners") who live in and pass through the city, so when he has to interact with them, he turns to Senior Investigating Officer Jiro Kimura, who has lived abroad, speaks English and French, and spends his off hours pursuing foreign women. When dealing with the yaku; a (Japanese gangsters). Otani calls upon Hachiro "Ninja" Noguchi, who has spent much of his career undercover and is actually more at ease among the lowlifes than among his colleagues. The other characters who appear in all thirteen books are Otani's wife Hanae and their married daughter Akiko.

Aside from the most recent book, The Body Wore Brocade, the plots all involve gaijin in some way. The first book, The Wages of Zen, centers on the murder of a less-than-reputable Buddhist priest who runs a retreat center for foreigners. The events of *The Chrysanthemum*Chain get going when a murdered Englishman is discovered to have kept a most interesting collection of business cards. In The Reluctant Ronin, Otani's son-in-law has an affair with a Dutch woman, who later turns up dead in the burned-out ruins of a yakuza office.

Otani writes A Haiku for Hanae while on assignment investigating the death of a Mormon missionary.

The plots are interesting in themselves, and Melville keeps them moving. The biggest attraction for the old Japan hand, however, is the chance to revisit Japan vicariously, because Melville is especially good at weaving descriptions of everyday life seamlessly into his narratives. In the various books, we get taken for rides on the subway, the Shinkansen bullet train, and the Inland Sea ferry; and on strolls through underground shopping arcades, to a tea ceremony demonstration, to a shrine festival, to a burakumin neighborhood, to a geisha house, to a yakuza funeral, and to watch cormorant fishing in Gifu. Readers not so familiar with Japanese culture can learn about arranged marriages, the custom of adopting sons-in-law, how to take a proper bath, how to spread out a futon, how to use an orenjii kādo to buy train tickets, and countless other minor details of Japanese life.

Readers who have lived in Japan can take smug pleasure in recognizing the thinly disguised real people to whom Melville refers. The murder victim in Death of a Daimyo is a former war criminal who has become rich off the proceeds of gambling and recast himself as a world-famous philanthropist. (Any guesses?) In Kimono for a Corpse, the murder takes place at a fashion show given by a designer well known in the West for her towels and sheets, while one of the suspects is a chatty talk show hostess who wears her hair piled on top of her head. (Hmmm. . .) And former residents of Japan surely know the real name of the yakuza organization that Melville calls the "Yamamoto-gumi."

・whodunits = 推理小説 suiri shōvetsu ・sleuth = 探偵 tantei ・Superintendent = 警察名長 keivatsu shochō ・Chrysanthemum Chain = 第の領 kiku no kusari ・Reluctant = 気の進まない不永不永の ki no vusumanau/fushō hushō no ・connorant fishing = 衛飼 ukai ・disguised = 偽装させた gisō saseta

This is not to say that Melville gets it right all the time. He describes Buddhist settings, but seems unsure of what all those statues are supposed to represent. In The Chrysanthemum Chain, a character pays for a small purchase with a 100-yen note—he must have found it in the pocket of a suit he doesn't wear very often. In Go Gently, Gaijin, a woman police officer is taking birth control pills, illegal at the time. At one point in the same book, Otani tells a subordinate to enter his office by saying O- haeri nasai instead of O-hairi nasai, although this could be just another of the surprising number of typographical errors found in all the books.

Then there is the problem of consistency from book to book. How did Kimura learn his foreign languages, as a young man studying in Europe or as the son of a diplomat posted abroad? Shouldn't Otani, a World War II veteran, have retired in the early 1980s? How old are Hanae and Akiko? Taken together, the details from several books suggest either that Hanae was fifteen when Akiko was born or that Akiko was twelve when she took part in the student riots of 1968.

North American readers may have problems with Melville's writing style, because his diction is very British, even when he is directly quoting the supposedly Japanese main characters. It is just as startling to have a Japanese describe a suspect with the markedly British term "barmy" as it would be to have him describe the suspect with the markedly American term "looneytunes." Furthermore, readers with strong feminist sensibilities may be annoyed with some of the descriptions and attitudes in the narrative portions of the story.

Despite the mistakes, inconsistencies, and infelicities, these are enjoyable books, kakigōri (a shaved ice dessert) for the brain. You will not be haunted or deeply moved by anything in them, but you can spend a few summer hours in Japan without having to worry about the exchange rate, the rainy season, or Narita Airport.

Karen Sandness is a freelance writer, translator and advising editor to Mangajin.

• typographical = 印刷の insatsu no • barmy = 気狂いパばか kichigai/baka • looneytunes = (アメリカのアニメシリーズ名より)気狂いパばか (Amerika no anime shiriizu-mei yori) kichigai/baka • infelicities = 不適当な表現 futekitō-na hyōgen • be haunted = 取り憑かれる toritsukareru

Canon Wordtank Super

A doubleedged katana

by Douglas Horn

The Canon Wordtank Super is an electronic dictionary about the size of a large wallet or small appointment book. Closed, it looks like an industrial-strength eye makeup compact. Opened, it reveals 65 keys and a large LCD display. It contains four dictionaries—Japanese, English-Japanese, Japanese-English, and a kanji dictionary—plus a few additional tools such as a calculator, memo pad, and user-definable kanji quiz feature.

The 1DX-9500 model stores eight megabytes (64 megabits) of data, which translates into well over 600,000 entries, plus descriptions and other data. Looking up a word is fast and easy, and the Wordtank even allows wildcard characters to be used, so words can be looked up by just their first few hiragana or katakana characters.

Once a word has been found in the kokugo-jiten (国語辞典), waei-jiten (和 英辞典), or eiwa-jiten (英和辞典) (Japanese, Japanese-English, and English-Japanese dictionaries, respectively), the Wordtank provides many options; one can view related words, idioms beginning with that word, English and Japanese definitions, or usage examples. A kanji character found in the kanwajiten (漢和辞典) (kanji dictionary) is displayed with the character's total number of strokes, lookup radical, words that begin with that character and even JIS, Shift-JIS, and kuten (区点) addresses of that character for computer software. Additionally, any of the above information may be used to look up a kanji character.

The Wordtank may be 'thumbed through' entry by entry, just like a traditional dictionary. But unlike any bound dictionary, the user can jump to the definition of any displayed word. This means that when users encounter an unfamiliar word in a definition, they can move instantly to that word's definition, read it.

and then return just as quickly to the original word. Also, the user can move directly to any unknown kanji and access any of its information. This may be the Wordtank's most useful feature. Similar to this feature is the ability to store the last several words in a 'history' file, to be returned to at any time.

The calculator and memo fields are not particularly noteworthy, though the built in currency and tax conversion functions may be useful to international travelers. The ability to use the memo files as kanji flashcards could certainly be useful to students of Japanese. Users can save kanji characters to memo fields, then display only the writing or pronunciation of the character. The user can then press the 'change' button to display the kanji character's complete information for reference.

Probably the first characters that many new Wordtank users will look up

Send your questions about Japanese on the computer to: Mangajin Computer Corner, P.O. Box 7119, Marietta, GA, 30065

Now that electronic mail is available to Japan via Internet, how does one send something from an American computer to a Japanese computer in nihongo? I have tried to write letters on my Mac using the Japanese Language Kit and WordPerfect and translate them into ASCII for Internet transmission. They arrive in Japan unreadable. Similarly, transmissions from Japan in nihongo arrive here as a garble of characters that the Mac cannot interpret. What is the trick to sending and receiving e-mail nihongo-de?

Michael J. Marcus Maryland

Electronic mail over the Internet is truly a blessing to those who have access and who need to communicate across the Pacific. It is quick and inexpensive, but it can also be puzzling at first. There is a conflict between the way personal computers and the Internet handle Japanese text, which is probably responsible for most your difficulties.

Japanese characters cannot be encoded as ASCII text, because Japanese contains more than the 128 characters allowed by the ASCII encoding scheme. Other methods have been devised to represent the thousands of characters required for Japanese. The Macintosh, like DOS and Windows machines, uses a method of character encoding known as Shift-JIS, whereas the Internet handles Japanese best in a different encoding scheme, known as JIS (Japanese Industrial Standard). Without going into too much detail on this topic, each character address in JIS is seven bits long, while Shift-JIS codes are eight. Like furniture in a mover's truck, that eighth bit just seems to get lost in transit.

Since that bit is one that Shift-JIS software uses to help signify whether a character is romaji or kanji, when it is lost, the program assumes it is not kanji or kana, and, voilà, your are those appearing on the device's keypad, as all button labels are in Japanese. The English documentation included with the Wordtank explains the functions of each key, but until the labels become familiar, many users may have to keep the manual handy. Though not very intuitive, the on-screen interface does become easier to understand with practice. Sometimes the user must use trial and error to distinguish which of the two sets of arrow keys control each function. Fortunately, the Wordtank gives the user a choice between English and Japanese messages.

(continued on page 56)

On the Other Hand

Most users will utilize the Wordtank to help them look up words faster and improve their Japanese. While there is no question that it accomplishes the former, I have some reservations about its use for the latter.

At the risk of sounding like a curmudgeon, I feel that there are some definite advantages to learning Japanese 'the hard way.' Writing kanji over and over again by hand uses several forms of memory—including muscle memory—to associate a character with its meaning. Painfully sounding out a word and looking it up in a traditional dictionary is slower than using an electronic dictionary, but it forces the student to understand the difference between long and short vowel and consonant sounds, and to understand the gojuuon (土土音) (the fifty sounds of the Japanese syllabary). Part of the impetus to learn and remember the word or character is that doing so is easier than repeatedly looking it up in the dictionary. The motivation to remember is lost if the task of looking up is effortless.

Language understanding is not static; it improves or declines based on the effort that the speaker puts into it. By making word lookup easy, tools like the Wordtank can rob Japanese speakers of their hard-won ability a bit at a time. This phenomenon is not limited to new students of the language. Native speakers of Japanese often complain that they are slowly forgetting how to write many kanji characters as they become used to the ease of word processors.

The Wordtank is immensely valuable for its rapid lookup of Japanese words and characters. It can be used to increase productivity, to promote understanding, and as an aid to learning Japanese. But when you get right down to it, the best way to learn a new word is to look it up and write it down—by hand.

Where to find the Wordtank:

- Sasuga Bookstore, 617-497-5460
- Kinokuniya Bookstore, 212-765-1461
- GITCO, 1-800-JAPAN-07

(Shop around, since prices may vary!)

Douglas Horn is a free-lance writer and computer consultant in Seattle.

Washington.

The Japanese-language word processor for Microsoft Windows

"KanjiWORD is perfect for my needs. A winner!"
-CTRCM Peter J. Karshis III, U.S. Navy

"KanjiWORD allows US users easy access to a fully implemented Japanese word-processor at a fraction of the cost of implementing DOS/V and Windows J."

- Dr. Paul Satoh, Upjohn Company Only $249. Competitive upgrades $199. Demos Available.

- Use your current English-language Windows 3.1 system.
- Print to any Windows compatible printer.
- Import and export text files for use with other Japanese word processors.
- Enter Japanese words phonetically and convert to Kanji.
- Bilingual screens and documentation support.

Pacific Software Publishing, Inc.

14405 SE 36th St., Suite 300, Bellevue, WA 98006
Tel; 206-562-1224 Toll Free; 1-800-232-3989 Fax: 206-562-0811
In Japan; Attain K.K. 03-3255-4721

"His dietary habits were one of my main concerns, but he always had a very good appetite."

Our First Foreign Guest

by Shizue, a resident of Kanazawa

The very first homestay guest we accepted was Stephen from Canada. He arrived in Kanazawa in May, the brightest season of the year, in order to participate in the Japanese language program at the Eurocentre Kanazawa. We are a family of five—my husband, myself, and three children—plus Boss, a male dog. At the time, none of us could make ourselves understood in English. After more than two years of discussing signing up as a host family, we at last decided to open the sliding door of our tiny house to the world.

Before Stephen's arrival we prepared a porcelain rice bowl, a wooden bowl for miso soup, a set of chopsticks, and a second-hand bicycle which my husband got from someone else. We figured Stephen might need a bike to go to school from our house in the suburbs of Kanazawa. I pulled my old Japanese-English dictionary from the bookshelf and placed it on the dining table along with a heap of memo pads.

It was the first time for Stephen to live with a Japanese family. However, to our surprise, it was as if he had always been one of our family. While he was sitting on the tatami (straw) mat, stretching his long legs underneath the low dining table in a clumsy way, it seemed as though he had been there from the beginning.

His dietary habits were one of my main concerns, but he always had a very good appetite and could eat almost anything we served. It might be due to his occupation. As a flight attendant, he flew to many different countries and enjoyed local foods wherever he went. When my husband was at home off duty from his job as a long-distance truck driver, he looked forward to seeing Stephen, since he usually had to drink by himself.

It was Stephen's routine to leave for the Eurocentre Kanazawa by bicycle at around eight in the morning and come back home right before dinner time. Boss always barks at strangers, but never at Stephen—he recognized him as a part of the family. Our second daughter is usually very bashful and never showed interest in visitors, but even she herself would go and show her collection of stamps to Stephen. After a while, Stephen asked a friend back in Canada to mail Canadian stamps for my daughter.

I was in charge of taking care of small children in our community. Once we went on a picnic by bus and I invited Stephen to join us. It would be a good chance for the children to be with a foreigner. Before long he became a hero among the children and they all sang "Mary Had a Little Lamb" together on the bus on the way back home. In this way we became closer and felt more comfortable with each other.

At Eurocentre Kanazawa, he was put in the class which aims to teach basic Japanese to beginners, and gradually he improved in communication in Japanese. The four weeks passed so quickly. On the last day, my husband and I saw him off at the airport just as we had welcomed him on the first day. He packed the bowl and chopsticks he was using at home as souvenirs from Japan.

After he left Kanazawa, everybody felt that something was lacking at home. Each time I entered the room he had used, I felt as if he were out only for a while and I was just sneaking in his room. We all found that he had occupied an important part of our home.

We exchanged letters in bits of Japanese and English once in a while for about one year until we received a sudden phone call from him last winter. It was about the good news of his coming back to see us in February on the way from Malaysia. It was more than a year and a half since he had left Japan. During his three days in Kanazawa, he visited his former Japanese teachers, Eurocentre staff and even his classmate of '92.

April 8th was his birthday. I was unable to send him a card or present before that. So after 11:00 that night, I dared to make a phone call to him to sing "Happy Birthday" in English. A letter from him afterwards said that he was in a good mood all day after hearing my song. I felt so relieved to hear that as I had practiced hard to sing the English song.

Recently, I heard some incredible news from him. He offered us two free tickets to fly anywhere in the world. They are a bonus from his company and he saved this premium for us to visit him in Vancouver. He even suggested that he come to Osaka to pick us up as soon as we make a flight reservation. It has been merely a dream for us to fly to Canada for a long time, but the dream will come true next summer. We will visit Canada for the first time to meet my son there.

Eurocentres courses receive the generous support and close cooperation of the Ishikawa Prefectural Education Board.

The programme provides opportunities to experience Japanese culture, history, and tradition along with intensive language instruction.

Optional programmes include calligraphy, zen practice, industrial/ cultural visits, and weekend excursions—to name a few.

Learn Japanese ways of life while staying with a Japanese family.

Eurocentre Kanazawa is a small cosmopolitan world with participants from many countries. Together they learn the Japanese language and culture, and also about each other.

A course unit lasts 4 weeks: more than one may be taken at a time.

Eurocentres is a non-profit Foundation devoted to the teaching of languages to adults. We teach English, French, Italian, Spanish, German, Russian and Japanese where they are spoken.

For a brochure please write to:

ユーロセンタージャパン

EUROCENTRES JAPAN

東京都千代田区神田駿河台 2-12 深井ビル4階

Fukai Building 4F, 2-12 Kanda Surugadai Chiyoda-ku, Tokyo 101, Japan Phone: (03)3295-5441

Fax:

EUROCENTRES HEAD OFFICE

(03)3295-5443

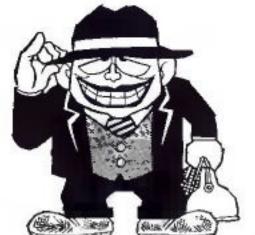

Seestrasse 247, CH-8038 Zurich, Switzerland Phone:01/485.50.40 Fax: 01/481.61.24

EUROCENTRE ALEXANDRIA

101 N. Union Street, Alexandria, VA 22314, USA Phone: (703)684-1494 Fax: (703)684-1495

Frederik Schodt

interviews Fujiko Fujio (A)

creator of

"The Laughing Salesman"

(Part 2)

Manga story featured on p. 74–82

In Mangajin No. 36, we presented Part 1 of Frederik Schodt's interview with Fujiko Fujio (A) (Abiko Motō), creator of 笑ウせえるすまん (Warau Sērusuman, "The Laughing Salesman"). As we mentioned in our introduction to Part 1, we were intrigued by this rather bizarre manga, and especially by the character Moguro Fukuzō, the incessantly grinning "salesman" who seems to take delight in gaining the trust of his unwitting victims only to set them up for disappointment and, oftentimes, humiliation.

Shortly after we made the decision to feature another selection from The Laughing Salesman in Mangajin No. 36 (the first was in Mangajin No. 33–34), we learned that manga authority, author, translator, and regular contributor to Mangajin Frederik Schodt was planning a trip to Japan and would be able to interview the creator of the Salesman to find out the inside scoop on this enigmatic character and manga series.

In the first part of the interview, Schodt and Abiko discussed how Abiko came to create The Laughing Salesman twenty-five years ago, and how this unprecedented venture into "black humor" was received by the public. Schodt questioned Abiko about some of the recurring themes and motifs —in particular, about the materialism of Moguro's "clients," their frustrations and their sense of unfulfilled desires. The discussion touched on how The Laughing Salesman has reflected trends in Japanese society, and how this has affected the popularity of the manga.

In Part 2, Schodt and Abiko delve even more deeply into the thematic content of The Laughing Salesman. Finally, they come to a discussion of who, or what, this bizarrely grinning Salesman represents.

- ① Schodt: アメリカの読者にとって実にユニークなテーマじゃないかと思うんです。人間のだれもが幻想をいだきますよね。で、喪黒がそれに対して一種の警告をしている様な感じがするんです。どうも私から見ればこれはかなり仏教的な感じがします。その辺をぜひ我孫子先生に聞きたかったんですが、以前、確か我孫子先生はずっと精進料理を食べて育った、つまり禅宗のお寺をやっている家に生まれた、と聞いたことがありますけど、もしかしたら自分の育ちと関係がおありなのではないかと?
- ② Abiko: どうでしょうね。そこまでマンガ描く時ってあんまり僕は、そのテーマを考えたり、これはこういうテーマでいこうって事はかんがえないんですね。どっちかっていうと、割とキャラクターの気持ちが、こう、非常に日常的と
- ① Schodt: For American readers, I think "The Laughing Salesman" presents a truly unconventional theme or story line. All people have their fantasies, but it seems that Moguro is issuing a kind of warning against those fantasies. It seems very Buddhistic to me, and I wanted to ask you about that. I believe I heard once before that you grew up eating shōjin ryōri [lit. "ascetic cooking," referring to the vegetarian meals associated with Buddhism]—that is to say, you were born into the family of a Zen priest—and I'm wondering if the theme might have something to do with your upbringing.
- ② Abiko: I wonder. When I draw my manga, I don't really think through the theme—about going with this particular theme in this particular piece—all that far. Comparatively speaking, I'm more concerned about the feelings of the characters, about their most mundane dreams, the dreams that ordinary people always carry with them, or the desires that people have. "Dreams" sounds elegant, and "desires" sounds more gritty or real, but ultimately I think dreams and desires are the same thing. So every day, when I ride the Odakyū train line to my Shinjuku office, I observe the other people on the train and get lots of ideas.

いうか、普通の人がいつも想っている夢とか、あるいは人間の持っている欲望とかね...夢と言うときれいで、欲望というとリアルになっちゃうけど、結局、夢も欲望も同じだと 思うんですよね。だからボクなんか毎日ね、ここへ、新宿の 事務所へ小田急線に乗って通勤してくるんですが、電車の中 でいろんな人を見てると、すごくアイデアが出るんですよ。 例えば何回も乗っていると同じ人がね、いるわけです よ。その人がね、サラリーマンでもうじき、日本の会社とい うのは60になると定年になるわけですが、そういう人が、 電車に乗ると必ずいて、ある車両の何番目の入り口の所にいて、全然知らない人だけど、何回もそのおじさんを見ている と、だんだんおじさんの気持ちを想像、イマジネーション、 がよが考えるわけ。そのおじさんは、恐らく6時か7時に会社を終 わって、そのままお家へ帰る非常に真面目なおじさんなわけ だけど、それが下北沢という駅に止まると、たまたま止まる電車の駅のあっち側にビルがあって、そのビルの所にバーが 見てたりするわけですよ。これはただ僕の想像なんだけど、 そのおじさんを主人公にして、一回は途中下車してね、あの

For example, riding the train so many times, I often come across the same people. This one man—he looks like a salaryman nearing retirement age, which in Japanese companies is sixty—is there every time I get on, in a certain car, by a certain door, and he's a complete stranger to me, but in the course of seeing him so many times I gradually began to imagine or think about what he might be feeling. The man is probably an exceedingly earnest man who goes straight home after work is finished at six or seven o'clock. But when the train stops at Shimokitazawa station, there's a building on the other side of the train station that happens to have a bar in it. Sometimes in the summer, when the bar has its windows open, I see this man staring off at the pretty girls who are entertaining customers inside the bar. Now this is only my imagination, but I think of this man as a character in a story, who wants just once to get off the train half-way home, you

Qualitas is your Japanese Resource!

MAC と PC の日本語はクォリタスにお任せください

MACINTOSH

Japanese Language Kit Aldus PageMaker 4.5J Aldus Freehand 3.1J QuarkXPress 3.11J Claris Works-J

MS-Excel 5.0J EGWord 5.0

ATM-3.5J

Applause E-J

LogoVista E-J MacWORD 2.1J

JapanEase Vol.1

JapanEase Vol.2 FontWorks Fonts

SOLO Writer 1.3.2

Adobe Illustrator 3.2J

Adobe Photoshop 2.5J

Ayumi Software

WordHunter (CD-ROM)

13 dictionaries in one

Applause English - Japanese dictionary Special price! $99.95 $149.00

JapanEase Vol. 1 learning katakana

$499.00

MacKojien (CD-ROM) Japanese reference dictionary

$99.95

JapanEase Vol. 2 learning hiragana & grammar

WINDOWS

KanjiWORD for Windows MS-DOS 6.2/V upgrade IBM Windows 3.1J MS-Windows 3.1J IBM DOS 6.1/V MS-Office 1.0J MS-Word 5.0J Ichitaro 5.0 ATM-3.5J Lotus 1-2-3 4J

MS-Excel 5.0J Power Japanese LogoVista E - J WordPerfect 5.2J Lotus AmiPro JR3

Aldus PageMaker 4.0J Lotus Freelance R 1.1J

New! Q-Club Member のお問い合わせは

Qualitas Trading Company

2029 Durant Ave., Berkeley, CA 94704 Tel: (510) 848-8080 Fax: (510) 848-8009

Ayumi Software のお問い合わせは クォリタスジャパン(株)

〒102千代田区富士見1-5-5第2大新京ビル Tel: (03) 3238-0041 Fax:(03) 3238-0043

きれいな人の居るバーに飲みにいきたいなと思っている。それを喪黒がけしかけて定年でやめる日に一回位、おじさんも決心して駅で降りてバーへ行くと、とんでもない目に会う、と、そういう事を何か想像して面白いのよ。
あまり、深くテーマを考えないで書いているんで、結果としていろんな受取り方をされるけど、自分は割と、僕も含めて、人間の持っている弱い部分とか、そういうのを喪黒に

よってさらけださせて、という風に描いているんですけど。

- ① Schodt: このマンガの一つのテーマは「欲望は不幸の元である」と感じましたが、逆にアメリカだったらむしろ欲望や夢を持ってこそ何でも手に入れられるよ、というテーマが多い
- ように思いますが...

  Abiko: 日本人はかなり仏教的に感じちゃうのね。普通の
  一般的な日本人は、そういうのがあっても、それは心の中に
  かったが、実直な毎日を送っている人のほうが圧倒的に多 い。特にサラリーマンの人達は。
- Schodt: 「笑ウせぇるすまん」が一番最初に連載されたの は、先程おしゃったように約25年前ですが、当時我孫子先生 は、一応藤子F.不二夫とコンビでほとんどの物をいっしょに やっていたと聞いています。昭和44年、1969年の時点で、 *** 一人でお描きになったというのは、特に、このテーマに興味 を持ったからですか?
- ④ Abiko: という事も有りますが、その頃から僕らまったく別々 に書いていたんですよ。合作のマンガ、例えば『オバケのQ 太郎』とか、ああいうのは合作していましたけど、合作のマンガは少なくて、本当に名前は藤子不二夫で共通でしたけど、藤本君も僕もまったく自分の描きたいものを勝手に描く という風な、そういうスタイルでやっていたんで。
- ⑤ Schodt: でも自分の名前で描くというのはこれが始めてのマ ンガだったのですか?
- ® Abiko: そうでもないです。その前も、もう、お互いに自分で 合作じゃなく好きに描いていましたけどね。
- Schodt: ひとつ質問ですけど、喪黒福造という主人公ですけど、彼は基本的にいい人なんですか、それとも悪い人ですか。これは多分アメリカの読者にとっては、ちょっと考え させられる様な所だと思うのですが。
- ⑤ Abiko: うーん、僕はね、喪黒というのは結局モデルがあると すれば、ファウストのメフィストフェレスのつもりで描いて いるんですけどね。
- 1 60° tu 303 ® Schodt: エピソードの中に「アルバイト(秘)情報」というの

know, and have a drink in the bar where those pretty girls are. It somehow amuses me to imagine Moguro egging him on, on his very last day of work before retirement, so that he finally decides to get off at that station this one time and go to the bar, only to have something terrible happen to him.

Because I draw without thinking too deeply about the theme, the result is that the manga can be taken in many different ways. My method is basically to portray the weaknesses that people have, myself included, and use Moguro to expose them.

- Schodt: It seems to me that one of the themes of this comic is that "desire is the root of unhappiness," whereas in America it is much more common to have a theme emphasizing that as long as you have the desire or the dream, you can get anything you want . . .
- Abiko: Japanese take more of a Buddhist approach. Such notions [as you ascribe to Americans] may exist among average, ordinary Japanese, but the vast majority hold them tightly in check within their hearts as they go about their daily lives on the straight and narrow—especially the vast majority of salarymen.
- Schodt: As you mentioned before, "The Laughing Salesman" was first serialized about twenty-five years ago, but I believe that at that time you were drawing most of your manga jointly with Fujiko F. Fujio. Was it because you had a particularly strong interest in this kind of theme or story that you broke away to draw this manga by yourself back in 1969?
- Abiko: In part, yes, but actually, even then we were drawing independently. Our jointly-produced manga, "Q-tarō the Ghost," for example, we certainly did work on together, but those were relatively few; and though we used the same Fujiko Fujio name, in fact both Fujimoto [Hiroshi] and I were drawing what we wanted on an entirely independent basis—that was how we worked.
- Schodt: But was this the first manga you drew under your own name?
- Abiko: Not really. Even before this, we were both drawing what we liked on our own, apart from the joint productions.
- Schodt: One question I have about the Moguro Fukuzō character is whether he is fundamentally a good person or a bad person. I think this may be something our American readers will wonder about.
- Abiko: Well, in my own mind, if I were to name a model for Moguro, I think it would have to be Mephistopheles in Faust.
- Schodt: In the series, you have an episode called

POWER JAPANESE Award-WinningInteractive Multimedia Learning System

"If this isn't the very best way of learning basic Japanese, I'd like to know what is." —Computer Shopper → Berlitz, watch out!

→ PC/Computing

"A godsend."

—CD ROM Today

WHAT IS POWER JAPANESE?

Power Japanese is a comprehensive interactive multimedialearning system for the Japanese language.

The main goal of Power Japanese is to enable you to start expressing your own thoughts in Japanese with minimum fuss. Power Japanese uses a number of techniques including sounds, interactive drills, innovative screen designs and careful selection of materials to provide a vibrant learning environment that maintains your interest in the information at hand, while helping you to retain what you have learned.

Sounds. Thousands of spoken words and sentences are instantly accessible.

Interactive Drills and Games. Active learning at its best! Fully interactive presentation of material is reinforced by challenging and fun drills which help to anchor all the central concepts in your mind. Selection of Materials. Key basic patterns of the language which are systematically presented, enable you to grasp the fundamentals of Japanese quickly.

Voice record/compare. Record and playback your own pronunciations and compare them to those of narive speakers.

Japanese word processor. Using your PC keyboard to enter phonetic Kana characters, you can write, format and print letter-quality documents in Japanese.

Voicetracks. Implemented as a separate learning aid, Voicetracks lets you group and play different phrases to meet your specific travel or business needs.

Massive on-line dictionary (sent to you free when you register). The new dictionary lets you look up meanings both ways—from Japanese to English or vice-versa

Call: 800-538-8867

Bayware, Inc.

PO Box 5554, San Mateo, CA 94402 • Tel: 415-312-0980 • Fax: 415-578-1884

Animated writing with sound make learning Japanese syllables a cinch.

Power Japanese Highlights:

- √ Self-directed, exploratory learning
- ✓ Builds lasting foundation
- ✓ Point and click translation and pronunciation of hundreds of recorded Japanese phrases
- ✓ Substantial supplementary support materials
- √ No special hardware requirements
- ✓ Acclaimed by users such as American Express, Ford Motor, Microsoft, and Procter & Gamble
- √ PC/Computing's Most Valuable Product award
- ✓ Multimedia World Reader's Choice Award
- √ 60-day unconditional money-back guarantee

System requirements: 386-based, Windows 3.1 compatible computer, 4 MB RAM; 16 MB bard disk space, VGA display adapter. (CD ROM version available.) Audio Requirements: Multimedia compatible computer or SoundGear portables ound adapter available separately from Bayware, Inc.

JAPANTESE

Software - Hardware - Systems

OVER 80 LANGUAGES

Dictionaries - Word Processors - Tutorials - Fonts Translators - Spell Checkers - Keyboards Japanese Windows 3.1 & Dos V

Use JAPANESE in all English Window
Applications only $29
Six Language Translator $29

$14.4 Fax/Modem $89 !!! $

486 DLC-40 LOADED $645

World's Best Source for PC Translation Software

NEW Windows JAPANESE PC Translator

CALL Bi-directional English-Japanese CALL

Bi-directional English-Chinese or Korean translators

English-Japanese Dictionary $29 English-German Translator $69 English-Chinese Dictionary $29 English-Spanish Translator $69

CALL US FOR ALL YOUR FOREIGN LANGUAGE NEEDS

Pentony direct intercapers & Developer street Software

Free 800-308-8883 Free catalog

Best Frigos-Best Source-Best Service

TransLanguage Inc. Fox 714-999-1296

SASUGA

JAPANESE BOOKSTORE

MAKE STUDYING JAPANESE EASIER.

ORDER YOUR LANGUAGE TEXTS,

TAPES, DICTIONARIES AND MORE

FROM SASUGA.

Sasuga now carries the Canon Wordtank:

IDX-7500.....$325 IDX-9500......$460

Call for a free copy of the Sasuga catalog!

Sasuga Japanese Book Store
7 Upland Road • Cambridge, MA 02140
Tel: 617-497-5460 • Fax: 617-497-5362

が入ってますけれど、喪黒の影の所に、その影が鬼といい ますか、怪物みたいな形になってますが、それでもしかしたら、アメリカ人は喪黒が悪い人だと、悪魔だと解釈する かもしれないですね。

- かもしれないですね。① Abiko: そういう解釈の方があたっているかもしれない。(笑) 日本人はあんまり悪魔とかサタンという意識はほとんど無いですね。だから、わざとそういうサタン的な様子 を喪黒に取り入れたんですけどね、時々良い事もするんで すよ。あんまりめったに無いことですが、時々人を幸せに も。気が向くと。
- ② Schodt: 喪黒のキャラクターは、友達の大橋巨泉からイン スピレーションを得たという話を読んだ事がありますが、 テレビを見ていると大橋巨泉さんはいつもニコニコして たいへん 大変フレンドリーな人に見えますが。
- ③ Abiko: うん、そうね。ところがね、巨泉さんというタレン トはあんまりそういう風に見られない人なの。
- Schodt: そうですか。Abiko: ほとんどね。普通の人は巨泉さんという人はすごく 辛辣な皮肉を言ったり、そういうタイプの、日本では貴重

- "Part Time Jobs: The Inside Line" (Top Secret Information on Part Time Jobs), in which Moguro has a shadow that's shaped like an ogre, or like a monster of some kind, and I'm wondering if perhaps that might make Americans see Moguro as an evil man, as the devil.
- Abiko: That interpretation may well be on the mark (laughs). Japanese have very little consciousness of the devil or Satan, and that's why I purposely incorporated that kind of satanic aspect in Moguro's character, but he sometimes does good deeds, too. It's rare, but occasionally he makes people happy when he takes a mind to.
- Schodt: I once read that you got your inspiration for the Moguro character from your friend Ohashi Kyosen, but on TV, Mr. Ohashi is always smiling cheerfully and seems like such a friendly man.
- Abiko: Mmm, that's true. But actually Kyosen, the television personality, tends not to be seen that way.
- Schodt: Really?
- Abiko: Mostly not. For the average person [what stands out about | Kyosen is his biting sarcasm. This actually makes him a rare and precious personality,

(Continued on page 56)

DesgonLord's Galde to NARA, Japan 116 -- A multimedia CD-ROM tour for Windows™ or Macintosh® computers

Personal Guided Tour on CD-ROM

HI, I'M KAZUKO! Join me in a personally guided multimedia tour of beautiful Nara, Japan! Explore this ancient city yourself as you choose where to go interactively! Easy to understand because you hear me explain what you see in this carefully crafted, omprehens ve survey. More than 200 views! Capture the flavor of Japan by listening to exole to to We think it's better than an edventue gam because it's REAL!

Lots to Learn

Ever wonder what Japan is really like? What kind of clothes do the people wear? What do they eat? What's their history like? You can read about Japan all day long and never get the real feel for the culture that comes from this multimedia tour. See ordinary people on the street. Visit a restanrant serving okonomiyaki and learn how to eat it. And check out Kofukuji's pagoda, rebuilt in 1426.

Why is Nara a "Must"?

World travelors think beautiful Nara is an undiscovered secret, with its gorgeous shrines, breathtaking temples, and peaceful "Deer Park" with its enchanting forest (all on our tour). But the smart ones also know important Nara's a perfect place

Plus $5.95 S/H in U.S.;

All U.S. deliveries sent Airborne Express™. Foreign orders call 1+1619 793-3888 for delivery details.

24 HRS/DAY CALL

or send check or money order for Dragon Lord Software Mall Orders Dept. M-1000 204 N. El Camino Real, Bldg. E-123, Encluitas, CA 92024 to start because it was the first main capitalbefore Tokyo or even Kyoto. In fact, the years 710-794 are called Nara Jidai -- the"Nara Period"! It was during this time that the awe-inspiring 50' tall Daibutsu Great Buddha statue was cast-still the world's largest bronze statue-housed in the world's largest wooden building, the magnificent Daibutsu-den. Which you can see too!

Bonus! Japanese Lessons!

But there's more! You can also hear extensive lessons on how to prononnce Japanese words for complets beginners! I'll also teach you the 14 most important Japanese words! Easy, but vital! And students can practice listening to a tour speech!

* Satisfaction Guaranteed *

You could pay $2,000 for a plane flight...$100 a night for a hotel ... and $210 for 15 rolls of photos. Or, you can pick up the phone, call 1-800-DLD-9753, and get your own DragonLord's Guide to NARA, Japan'm by Airborne Express for only $99.95 (plus shipping/tax). If for ANY reason you are not COMPLETELY satisfied with your tour of Nara, simply call and return the product in 30 days for full refund of purchase price. It's that easy! Let's go to Nara! Nara e Iko!! CALL NOW!!

All other hademarks are the proporty of their respective holders t appropriate and Proportional Scattering. Dragonal and Brighted State and Brighted Scattering and Bri

Kanji Pict-o-Graphix

Over 1,000 Japanese Kanji and Kana Mnemonics

By Michael Rowley. A delightful book that presents 1,200 Japanese characters with readings, main definitions, standard printed forms and visual mnemonics to make them easier to remember. Winner of two international design awards. WIRED magazine calls it "striking...entertaining and insightful." 216 pp, 8 x 8", paper, ISBN 0-9628137-0-2, $19.95

One Hot Summer in Kyoto

By John Haylock. The erotic, exotic tale of "fatuous" English teacher Peter Meadowes, who flees to Kyoto for a summer vacation and finds himself lusting after every woman he sees, all the while oblivious to his own boorishness. A politically incorrect view of Japan and a very funny novel that Publishers Weekly called "polished...delightful satire."

160 pp, 5.5 x 8.5", paper, ISBN 1-880656-08-6, $10.95

Holiday

Wabi-Sabi: for Artists, Designers, Poets & Philosophers

By Leonard Koren. An extended essay on the quintessential Japanese aesthetic of imperfect, impermanent beauty. Koren presents wabi-sabi as a prototypical "complete" aesthetic, nature-based and "soft" in contrast to the "hard" digital aesthetics of modern computer-age design.

96 pp, 5.5 x 8.5", paper, 27 b/w photos, ISBN 1-880656-12-4,

Stone Bridge Press

SUPER SUMMER SELECTION

Still the best

For the Mac-

By Wolfgang Hadamitzky. A powerful Macintosh program for learning and looking up Japanese characters. Displays compounds, readings, meanings, stroke order. Includes list customizer, testing, pronunciation, speed search, memo windows, and kanji card print capability.

$14.95

all kana, 100 kanji: $99 all kana, 500 kanji: $249 all kana, 2,000 kanji: $499

Call for a detailed brochure,

New low price

For the PC-

Dictionary & Glossary-Creation Tool

By Siegrist Software. A glossary creator and complete J-E, E-J kanji dictionary offering lookup of kanji compounds by reading, meaning, or character elements. The glossary tool is ideal for professional translators, scholars, information managers, and teachers. Prints out in Japanese or English order. Contains over 7,000 kanji and over 40,000 compounds. New low price: $195.

Call for a detailed brochure.

Credit cards accepted. Shipping/handling additional. Send fax orders to 510-524-8711 or e-mail to CompuServe 71650,3402.

8208 1-800-947-7271

BERKELEY, CA 94707

COLVIN & HOPPER

WE GET TO LIVE IN A TENT AND GO FISHING AND CANOEING! WON'T THAT BE FUN ??

WE'LL BE ROUGHING IT! LIVING OFF THE LAND! NO TY OR RADIO OR ....

2

2

Calvin: "Hobbes, Did you hear? Mom and Dad are taking us camping!" 1

→ ホップス、聞いたかい?ママとパパがキャンプに連れてってくれるんだって kei? Mema to papa ga kyanpu ni (?) mom and dad (subj.) camp(ing) to tsuretette kureru n da tte sa! Hobbuzu, (explan.) (quote) (collog.) take along (favor) Hobbes

Calvin: "We get to live in a tent and go fishing and canoeing! Won't that be fun??"

→ テントに 泊まって、釣 に 行ったりカヌー に 乗ったりできる んだ! おもしろそう だろ?? Omoshirosō daro?? ni nottari dekiru n da! kanū ni tomatte, tsuri ni ittari Tento in ride (-and) can (explan.) seems fun/interesting right? canoe in/at stay/sleep fishing to go (-and) get to (do) は「...することができる」、「...する機会が得られる」(会話的表現)。

 it might seem that a more literal translation of "won't that be fun" would be tanoshiiso daro, but tanoshiso is a special case, reserved for observations about how someone else seems to feel, and isn't used about oneself.

Calvin: "We'll be roughing it! Living off the land! No TV or radio or... Uh-oh." 3

生活をするんだ! あるがままの暮らしをするんだ! Genshi-teki-na seikatsu o suru n da! aru ga mama no kurashi o suru n da! primitive-style life (obj.) do (explan.) exist (subj.) as is (=) living (obj.) do (explan.) テレビもラジオ も なくて... あれれ。 Terebi mo rajio mo nakute... Arere. also radio also not exist-and uh-oh/oops

・ rough it は(キャンプや旅行などで)「不便で原始的な生活をする」(会話的表現)。

• live off は「...をもとにして生活する」。Live off the land は、現地の食物や資源に依存して生活す ること。

Hobbes: "What's wrong?"

どうか した の かい? Dō ka shita no kai? something did (explan.) (?)

Calvin: "This sounds suspiciously like one of Dad's plots to build my character."

→ どうもこれ は ボクの 精神 を 鍛え上げようっていう パパ の 策略 のひとつ tte iu papa no sakuryaku no hitotsu domo kore wa boku no seishin o kitaeageyő spirit (obj.) try to train well called indeed みたい C 怪しい de ayashii mitai na. looks/seems like and/with dubious/suspicious (colloq.)

build character は「精神を鍛え上げる」、 |人格を作り上げる|。

Calvin and HobbEs

I CAN'T WAIT TO GET THERE! A WHOLE WEEK OF HIKING AND CANCEING AND SWIMMING AND FISHING!

A WHOLE WEEK WITHOUT A SINGLE NEWSPAPER OR A DECENT CUP OF REAL COFFEE.

1

2

3

4

1 Calvin: "Gosh, this is going to be a FUN vacation! Camping out! Wow!"

→ スゴイ! これ は 楽しい バケーション になる ぞ! キャンプ するんだ! ワーイ! Sugoi! Kore wa tanoshii bakëshon ni naru zo! Kyanpu suru n da! this as-for fun great vacation will become (emph.) Camp do (explan.) (exclam. of excitement)

- · gosh は「うわー」、「大変!」など、驚きや軽い感動、ののしりを表わす間投詞。宗教にかかわ る語を直接使うことを避けるために God を婉曲に変形したもの。
- camp out は「キャンプ生活をする」。

2

Calvin: "I can't wait to get there! A whole week of hiking and canoeing and swimming and fishing!"

→ (キャンプ場 に) 着く の が 待ちきれない よ。 まるまる 一週間、ハイキングしたり、 ni) tsuku no ga machikirenai yo. maru-maru isshiikan, (kyanpu-jö haikingu shitari. to arrive (nom.) (subj.) can't wait (emph.) complete one week do things like hiking -and カヌー を 漕いだり、泳いだり、釣りしたりする んだ! koidari, kanū oyoidari, tsuri shitari suru n da! canoe (obj.) row -and swim -and fish -and

· can't wait = 「待ちきれない」、「待ちどうしくてたまらない」。

Mother: "A whole week without a single newspaper or a decent cup of real coffee."

まるまる 一週間、 新聞 の ひとつ も なければ、 maru-maru isshūkan, shinbun no hitotsu mo one week newspaper (nom.) one even not exist and まともな コーヒー の 一杯 も (飲め)ない 120 matomo-na kōhii no ippai mo (nome) nai coffee (nom.) one cup even not exist (can't drink) (explan.) (colleg.)

・ a single newspaper: singleを入れることで、新聞がただの一部もないことを強調している。

4

Calvin: "Doesn't Mom like camping?"

ママ はキャンプする の 好きじゃない の? Mama wa kyanpu suru no suki ja nai do (nom.) mom as-for camp doesn't like (explan.)

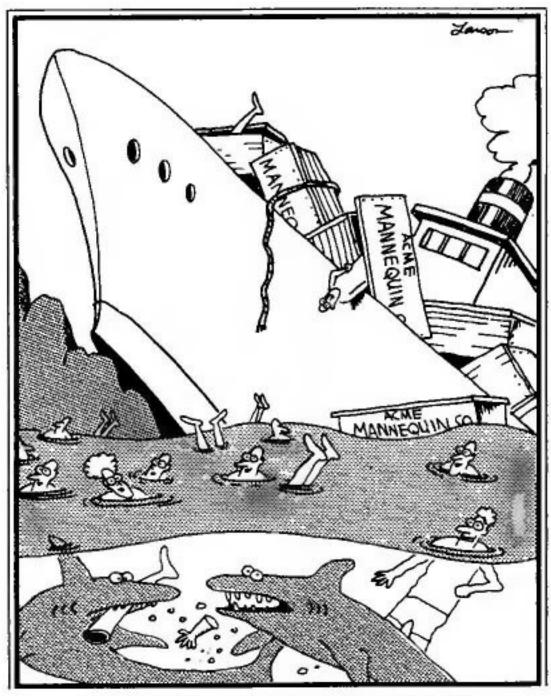

Father: "Mom was up a little too late packing."

ママ は (夕べ) 荷造り で 遅くまで 起きていて ちょっと 寝不足 Mama wa (yūbe) ni-zukuri de osoku made okite-ite chotto nebusoku Mom as-for last night packing with until late was up a little not enough sleep (explan.) is a more literal (but somehow less natural) translation would be 「ママは (夕べ) 荷造りで寝るのがちょっ と遅くなりすぎたんだ。」 Mama wa (yūbe) ni-zukuri de neru no ga chotto osoku narisugita n da.

・ was up は「起きていた」。

THE FAR SIDE by Gary Larson ゲリー・ラースン

"What is this? ... Some kind of cruel hoax?"

Shark: "What is this?.....Some kind of cruel hoax?"

何 だこりゃ? 誰か のむごい 悪巧み Nan da korya? dareka no mugoi warudakumi ka? what is as for this somebody 's cruel

Boxes: ACME MANNEQUIN CO.

アクミマネキン 会社 Akumi Manekin -gaisha (name) mannequin company

- hoax は「悪ふざけ」、「冗談」、「いたずら」。
- some kind of は「ここのようなもの」、「...かなにか」。
   ACME は何でも製造する架空の会社名で、ディズニーのアニメ、その他のマンガなどでよく使われる、いわば会社一般の代名詞。Acme の単語そのものは、絶頂、頂点の意がある。

The Far Side Gallery 2 copyright @ 1986, Universal Press Syndicate. All rights reserved. Reprinted/translated by permission of Editors Press Service, N.Y.

SystemSoft is Your One-Stop Source For Japanese Software on Macintosh and Windows Computers

We Support and Stock:

Apple JLK, Kanji-Talk 7.1 Adobe Fonts & Apps · Aldus Apps Ambassador, Shasta Claris Apps · Deltagraph Pro Deneba Canvas • ErgoSoft Apps Microsoft • Nisus Quark ExpressJ • Turbowriter MacroMedia Director Various software upgrades... and much, much more.

For our full range of products see Mangajin's "Definitive Guide to Japanese Application Software in the U.S." in Issue #29.

The SystemSoft Advantage:

- Great prices.
- Full support for all of the products we sell.
- Billingual support staff.
- Most packages available immediately.

Call SystemSoft for more information on these and other Japanese software products, or for the dealer nearest you.

ACADEMIC FOCUS

JAPAN

New from Gateway Japan

Academic Focus Japan: Programs and Resources in North America, a sister publication to Focus Japan II, is hot off the presses!

Academic Focus Japan profiles over 180 North American educational programs and resources; indexes 400 more by nature; Reference Lists note over 1,200 other support and resource organizations. Essential for students, counselors, K-12 teachers, & researchers. Highlights:

Degree (BA to PhD/JD) & Language programs scholarships & financial aid

Study & Exchange programs in Japan
English teaching leads

 Faculty listings K-12 classroom resources and teacher networks

Continuing education opportunities

Software and Computer products listing

Rates: $35 non-profit $45 Other $15 Students w/ ID $5 Postage/handling Focus Japan II - regularly 860, is 1/2 price with your order of Academic Focus Japant

To order, or for more info. & FREE brochures contact: Gateway Japan, NPA, 1424 16th Street, NW #700M, Washington, DC 20036 (202) 884-7646 Checks payable to National Planning Association. POs accepted. ISBN: 0-89068-125-2

The lowest fares to Asia and beyond.

oing to Japan, China, Hong Kong, Taiwan or Europe is easy and economical when you turn to Japan Budget Travel.

Whether you're traveling for business or pleasure, our highly-trained agents have the experience and expertise to assist you with all of your travel needs. We offer a complete range of travel services, including the Japan Rail Pass and Eurail Pass.

So when you want fast, dependable service—and the lowest prices around—call Japan Budget Travel.

Call any of our offices toll free:

- New York...800-722-0797 212-686-8855
- Chicago..... 800-843-0273 312-236-9797
- Boston......800-638-0024 617-353-1010
- Houston.... 800-445-5265 713-789-6633
- Atlanta...... 800-782-7781 404-231-4333
- Tokyo......03-504-0698* .not toll tree

BASIC JAPANESE through comics

Lesson 37 · Slang & Colloquialisms (1)

In this issue, we decided to present what is probably the most fun part of any language, and occasionally the most useful as well: slang. In our search for samples, however, we soon found ourselves in a muddle over the differences between slang, idioms, and colloquialisms. Hence we decided to expand our scope to include any type of "slangy" expression that you're likely to hear in the street but may have difficulty finding later on in your standard dictionary.

We can hardly attempt to cover the whole spectrum here, so we focused on what we felt were the more common slang words and idiomatic usages. We hope you enjoy them.

Mote-mote = "Be popular"

The women here have found out that Kameyama is capable of fathering healthy, energetic children, while the rest of the (better looking) men can sire only dull, listless kids.

Narration:

今や 彼は他の 誰 よりも
imaya kare wa hoka no dare yori mo now-(emph) he as-for other who/someone more than モテモテの 人生 を楽しんでいる の だった。 mote-mote no jinsei o tanoshinde-iru no datta.
popular life (obj.) is enjoying (explan.) was "Now he was enjoying a life of popularity more than anyone else."
"All of a sudden, he was enjoying more popularity than anyone else." (PL2)

Kameyama:

じゃ、お先に。 Ja, o-saki ni well (hon.)-before "Well, (I'll take my leave) before you." "Bye, guys." (PL2)

- imaya, used mainly in written language, is an emphatic form of ima in which "now" has the sense of "as opposed to before." The idea is that Kameyama's popularity is newfound.
- o-saki ni is short for o-saki ni shitsurei shimasu, lit. "I'm being rude by leaving before you," It is a standard way to say good-bye when leaving before others. Here he is being a bit flip.

Mote-mote is from the verb moteru, "be popular (with the opposite sex)," which itself borders on slang. Mote-mote is used for being popular in this sense, and sometimes in a more general sense as well—for example, to refer to entertainers who are hot.

© Okazaki Jirō / After Zero, Shogakukan

Ikasu = "Sharp"

This man is showing off his new set of clothes to a buddy.

Man: どうだ。/ いかす だろ。

/ Ikasu daro. Dō da. cool/sharp right?

"What do you think? Pretty sharp, huh?" (PL3)

Ikasu = "(be) sharp/smart/cool." It is primarily used by men, while suteki would be more commonly used by women. The literal meaning of ikasu is "cause to go," so the feeling is something like, "it really sends me." A related iku colloquialism is ikeru (lit. "can go"), which means "(be) quite good/delicious," as in kono sake wa ikeru. The word ikasu has been in use for many years.

4) Hoshisato Mochiru / Ribingu Gemu, Shogakukan

Dasai = "Hick"

This man has just informed his girlfriend that his family are farmers, and if they get married, they will work the farm together.

© Deluxe Company / Zusetsu Gendai Yōgo Binran, Futabasha

Man: あっ、まって! Matte! "Hey, wait!" (PL2)

Woman: グサーイ.サイテー Dosa-i, saite hick-ish Iowest "What a rube! That's the pits!" (PL2)

- she elongates the word dasai to dasa-i for emphasis.
- saitē is a pop spelling of saitei (最低), lit. "the lowest,"

Dasai is a slang word for something countrified, hickish, or just generally uncool. According to 現代用語の基 礎知識 (Gendui Yögo no Kiso Chishiki, "Essential Knowledge of Current Terms"), it seems to come from the word 田舎 ("country/rural area"). normally read inaka but in this case corrupted to dasha (based on other readings of the same kanji). The adjective form, dashai, became dasai.

Busu = "Ugly"

Reiko has always had (unwarranted) confidence in her appearance, but at a recent o-miai meeting for an arranged marriage, the man she was considering made a negative comment about her looks,

Busu is an extremely common slang word, referring to an ugly woman. As such, it is similar to the western slang word "dog." There are several theories as to the origin of the word. Bu (無, 不) added to a noun makes it negative (like adding "un-" or "dis-"). By extension, bu can have the implication of "bad" → "ugly." Another theory is that busin is from the Ainu word pushu, meaning "ugly," and yet another is that busy is from the name of a lethal poison that causes the ingester's face to contout hideously.

Reiko: あたしって ブス? Atashi tte busu? I/me as-for ugly "You think I'm a dog?" (PL2) > tte here stands for to iu no wa and functions like the topic marker wa.

Dekai = "Big"

A visitor from Japan has just arrived in New York and taken a taxi. He has apparently been in the States before.

© Kawaguchi Kaiji I Chinmoku no Kantai, Ködansha

Visitor: いつ来ても アメリカ はでかい 国 だ。 Itsu kite mo Amerika wa dekai kuni da. whenever (I) come America as-for huge country is "Whenever I come, America is a huge country." "Every time I come, I'm impressed by what a huge country America is," (PL2)

> これほど 文化 も 人種 も ゴッタ煮で。 Kore hodo bunka mo jinshu mo gotta-ni de. this much culture also races also melting pot is "Such a melting pot of cultures and races . . ." (PL2)

 the second sentence is not complete. It could be an afterthought, or simply an unfinished sentence.

Dekai (or sometimes dekkai) is a slang word for "big" that has been in use since well back into the pre-modern era. While it is generally considered a not very ladylike term, some women, particularly in the country, use it freely even in polite conversation. It may come from do (an intensifying prefix) or dai (大)+ ikai (版い, basically a synonym for okii, "large/great/massive").

Gotta comes from the "mimetic" FX word gota-gota, representing items in congested confusion. Ni(煮) is from the verb niru "boil," so gotta-ni is "things thrown together in no order and boiled" → "stew/melting pot."

Naui = "Now-ish"

This OL has just told her friends, who are on their way to the golf course, that she is going cycling. They reply that cycling is jimi, "plain/quiet/sober."

OL: これ だから ミーハー は Kore dakara miihā wa iva because airheads as-for disagreeable (emph.) サイクリング って ナウイ Saikuringu tte naui no vo! as-for with it (explan.) (cmph.) "That's why I hate airheads. Cycling is what's really 'in' now, you know." (PL2)

- iya means "distasteful/disagreeable," (See Basic Japanese #33). Yo often takes the place of da/desu yo, especially in feminine speech.
- tte here stands for to in no wa and functions like the topic marker wa.

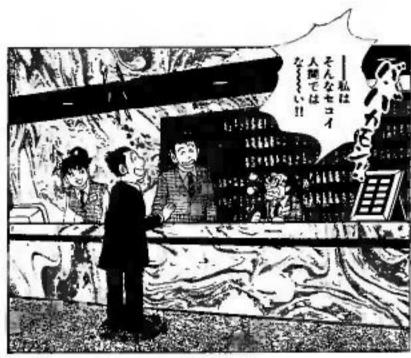

Akizuki Risu / OL Shinkaron, Ködansha

Miihā is a derogatory term aimed at people, usually young women, who are bubble-headed, frivolous and generally sheep-like in their behavior—e.g., those who run in a pack screaming after pop stars. It is thought to come from the beginning sounds of the diminutive forms (mii-chan and hā-chan) of common female names.

Naui ("trendy/in") is taken from the English word "now." One would normally expect the form nau-na for an imported adjective, but in this case it became "trendy" to turn it into an i-adjective. In recent times, naui as a word has gone the way of most other naui things and become somewhat passé.

Sekoi = "Petty/Self-serving"

Ohashi, who is hoping to improve business at his yakitori restaurant, has decided to spend a night at the hotel Platon to observe how they treat their customers. When Matsuda offers to give him some help, the other employees jokingly accuse him of trying to ingratiate himself to get a free meal or two at the yakitori restaurant.

C Ishinomori Shotaro / Hotel, Shogakukan

Matsuda: バ・バカモン!!/ 私 !

Ba, bakamon!! / Watashi wa Ri-ridiculous I/me as-for そんな セコイ 人間 ではな〜〜い!! sonna sekoi ningen de wa na-i!! that kind of petty human am not

"(Don't be) absurd! I'm not such a chintzy person!" (PL2)

Ohashi: ハハハ

Ha ha ha "Ha ha ha"

Sekoi is a slang word covering a range of meanings, including "chintzy," "petty," "small-minded," "mean," "nitpicky," and "self-serving."

Toraburu = "Be troubled"

Yawara has gone looking for Hanazono at the jūdō dōjō where he practices, but the members tell her that he is off somewhere else.

Boy 1: いえね、なんか 最近 女性 問題 で ie ne, nanka saikin josei mondai de you see, something lately girl/woman problem with

トラブってるらしい ん です よ。 torabutte-ru rashii n desu yo.
is troubled it seems (explan.) is (emph.)
"Well, you see, it seems that he's been troubled over some girl lately." (PL2)

Boy 2: 猪熊さん も 気をつけた ほうがいいです よ。
Inokuma-san mo ki o tsuketa hā ga ii desu yo.
(name -hon) also is/was/he careful is better to is (emph.)
"Ms. Inokuma should be careful, too,"
"You should be careful, too, Inokuma," (PL2)

 Inokuma is Yawara's last name. Japanese speakers often use the listener's name where an English speaker would say "you."

© Urusawa Naoki / Yawara!, Shogakukan

Toraburu, taken from the English word "trouble," is used both as a noun ("trouble") and, more recently, as a verb ("be troubled/trouble over"). Its use as a verb is based in the fact that it ends in ru, and thus can be conjugated like any other ru verb, as shown in the example above. Daburu ("to double/be doubled/be layered"), from the English word "double," works the same way. In written Japanese, this type of word is written entirely in katakana ( $\uparrow \ni \mathcal{I} \mathcal{N}$ ) when used as a noun, but gets a hiragana ru ( $\uparrow \ni \mathcal{I} \mathcal{E}$ ) when used as a verb.

Etchi = "Lewd"

Kösaku is talking to himself about some business he wants to take care of, but his coworker Kuniko, who has been chasing him for some time, thinks he is referring to something else . . .

Kōsaku: 今晚 こそ -発 きめて...

Konban koso ippatsu kimete . . . tonight indeed one shot determine

Tonight for sure, I'm going to decide it in one shot. "Tonight for sure, I'm just gonna do it!" (PL2)

Kuniko: やだあ、エッチィ! 耕作 ったら!!

etchi! Kösaku ttara!! Ya da-. distasteful lewd/indecent (name) (quote) "Ew, how lewd! Kōsaku!" (PL2)

- ippatsu, lit. "a single burst" can be used to indicate a variety of things that "go off" with a shot, such as gunshots, punches, etc. In this case, Kuniko mistakenly thinks that Kösaku is using it to refer to a sexual encounter.
- ya da— is a colloquial form of iya da, used to express disgust/dislike (genuine or feigned) for something. See Basic Japanese #33.

C Urusawa Naoki / Yawara!, Shogakukan

Etchi  $(\mathcal{I}, \mathcal{I}, \mathcal{I})$  is another well-used slang word. It is thought to be a Japanese pronunciation of the letter H, which most references agree stands for the Japanese word hentai ("abnormality/perversion"). Etchi does not actually refer to the "abnormal" or perverted, however; it simply means "indecent/lewd/dirty." Like the word sukebei/sukebe ("lewd," "lecherous"), it is often used as a verbal reprimand to someone who has done, said, or implied something lewd. The Shogakukan Nihon Kokugo Daijiten tells us that eichi (エイチ), a slightly different pronunciation for the letter H, is used among female students as slang for "husband," so correct pronunciation here is crucial.

Dekite-iru = "Having a relationship"

Shota's friend was expecting him to invite Miyuki along on a ski trip they were planning, as the two seemed to be a couple. Shota, however, denies any such relationship.

Shōta: ち、違う よ! オレは... yo! Ore wa ...

Chi, chigau different/incorrect (emph.) I/me as-for

"Y, you've got it wrong! I..." (PL2)

Friend: オレ は てっきり、正太 と みゆきさん

tekkiri, Shōta to Miyuki-san Ore wa I/me as-for beyond doubt (name) and (name -bon)

デキてる Ł 思ってた h やけど な! 66 ya kedo na! omotte-ta 17 dekite-ru mon 10 having a relationship thing (quote) was thinking (explan.) but (colloq.) "I was dead sure that you and Miyuki were an item." (PL2)

- tekkiri is a slangy word meaning "completely/beyond all doubt."
- dekite-ru is a contraction of dekite-iru.
- mon is short for mono, lit. "thing" but in this case more abstractly meaning "situation/circumstance." See Basic Japanese #35 & 36.
- ya kedo is a dialect version of da kedo, lit. "but." Some form of "but" is often tacked onto the end of a sentence to "soften" it.

The slang word dekite-iru strongly connotes physical intimacy, but can be used to mean simply "going steady/involved in a relationship."

Kubonouchi Eisaku / Tsurumoku Dokushin

Nanpa suru = "Hit on"

Looking out the lodge window, Shota and Nao-chan spot three young men pestering Miyuki as she tries to ski.

© Kubonouchi Eisaku / Tsurumoku Dokushin Ryō, Shogakukan

Nanpa suru (軟派する) is the expression for "hitting on" or "trying to pick up." The first kanji means "soft," and the second is "group/faction/school." It is used in contrast to 硬派 (kōha), the "hard school," which refers to the tough, macho type who must pretend not to be interested in things like girls. The passive form, nanpa sareru, is used for "be hit on."

Nao-chan:

地元 で スキー の インストやってる Jimoto de sukii no insuto yatte-ru renchii of instruction are doing guys/group (emph.) ナンパ ばっか して さぁ、 ガラ悪い Nanpa bakka shite sā, gara warui n da yo! do (colloq.) ill-bred (explan.) is (emph.) hitting on only "Those are the local guys who work here as ski instructors! They don't do anything but hit on girls, you know. How crass," (PL2)

あたし も 声かけられた もん! atashi mo koe kakerareta mon! also was talked to (explan.) "They approached me, too." (PL2)

yatte-ru is a contraction of vatte-iru "are doing."

bakka is a colloquial contraction of bakari, "only/nothing but."

gara warui, lit. "(a) bad pattern/design," means "ill-bred/vulgar" koe kakerareta is the past passive form of koe (o) kakeru, literally "put (a) voice on." This is the standard way to say that you approached someone verbally, or in the passive case, were approached verbally by someone.

Suppokasu = "Stand (someone) up"

Teruko is a bit forceful by nature. To thank Yamaoka for keeping her company while she was waiting for someone a few nights ago, she invites him for dinner at a restaurant. Of course, her way of inviting him is to tell him that he will be there.

Teruko: 七時

よ! わかった わね! Wakatta Shichi-ji yo! wa ne! 7 o'clock (emph.) understood (fem. colloq.) "Seven o'clock! You got it?!" (PL2)

すっぽかしたりしたら タダじゃ おかない okanai tada ja wa vo! Suppokashitari shitara if do something like stand up with nothing won't let be (fem.) (emph.) "Don't you go standing me up or you'll never hear the end of it!" (PL2) suppokashitari shitara is from suppokasu. Using the -tari form of a verb (usually followed by some form of suru, in this case shitara) means, "do something like . . . " tada ja okanai means "won't let it go easily/it won't end without trouble."

Suppokasu is slang for "stand someone up/break a promise" or "leave work undone." Su! (すつ) is a prefix for emphasis, and hokasu (ほかす) means "cast down/cast aside/abandon." (The h changes to p for euphony.) Note that hokasu on its own is no longer used in standard Japanese, though it does continue to be used in Kansai dialect.

BEER Update

(continued from page 18)

of his Japanese restaurants, Sankt Gallen, in the Roppongi district of Tokyo. The restaurant doesn't have a license, but is allowed by law to brew a non-alcoholic beer (technically less than one percent alcohol), which reportedly is quite popular with patrons.

What does the future hold in store for Japanese beer? It is too early to tell whether there will be a microbrewery revolution on the scale of that now underway in North America, but with beer currently accounting for seventy-five percent of alcoholic beverage sales in Japan, if beer drinkers want a change, they will most likely get it.

Bryan Harrell is a free-lance writer and translator living in Tokyo.

BEER Terminology

(continued from page 19)

duced because of enduring demand for their flavor) as ragā (¬ ガー, "lager"). Microfiltered products invariably sport the word nama with further clarification usually provided by the four characters 非熱処理 (hinetsu shōri) which mean "non-heat-processed." In plain English, that's "unpasteurized."

Beer Making Terms

kōjō (工場) "brewery" ♥ this actually means "factory," but in the case of beer, it should be taken to mean "brewery." bakushu (麦酒) "beer" ☞ the character for "barley" (麦, mugi) + the character for "wine/liquor" (酒, sake). This is a more oldfashioned way to say "beer," still used on many beer labels. Also pronounced mugishu.

Beer Drinking Terms

nodogoshi ga ii (吹越しがいい) "goes down smooth" で nodo means throat and -goshi comes from the verb kosu, meaning "pass/go through," so nodogoshi ga ii means "it goes down the throat well," or "it's smooth."

koku ga aru (こくがある) "has body"

aji ga usui/koi (味が薄い/濃い) "has a weak/strong taste" @ aji ga usui is a phrase sometimes used by Japanese beer drinkers to describe American beer.

nigami ga kiite-iru (苦味がきいている) "has bitterness [in a positive sense [" Els nigami means "bitterness" and kiite-iru is from kiku, meaning "to take hold/take effect."

otsumami (おつまみ) "snacks" 🖙 the ubiquitous and sometimes unidentifiable snacks served with beer (the o is honorific). geko ( 下戸) "a non-drinker/teetotaler" ™ written with kanji meaning "bottom/lower door."

jōgo (上戸) "a drinker" 🔊 written with kanji meaning "top/upper door."

Check the rest of the feature story for additional beer revolution = 革命/者しい変化 kakumei/ichijirushii henka *accounting for suru/medatasery • ubiquitous = なる所にある形す出される Itary tokoro

= (割合を) 占める (warioi o) shimeru • sport = 表示する川立たせる heaji ni aru/kanarazu dasareru

Beranmei Tōchan

by 立花屋菊太郎 / Tachibanaya Kikutarō

1 Tochan: おっ、なんでえ、こりゃ? (dialect) 0!, korya? nan dē, (standard) nan dai, kore wa? (interj.) what is as for this "Hey! What's this?" (PL2) に ビール いただいた んだ Kāchan: お中元 the vowel combination ai changes to \(\vec{e}\) or \(\vec{e}\) ni biiru itadaita n da O-chügen in certain dialects and masculine slang, in-(hon.)-summer gift for beer received (explan.) (emph.) cluding the speech of Edokko ("children of "We received (a case of) beer as an o-chagen gift." (PL2) Edo" = "native Tokyoites") like Tochan. Dai On Box: ギリン ビール in "standard" Japanese is a colloquial variation of da ("is/are"). Asking a question with Girin Biiru da, dai, or de is masculine; it can sound quite Girin Beer rough but here is merely informal. his syntax is inverted; normal order would be korya nan dai. o-chugen (the honorific o- is almost always included) refers to the custom of giving gifts at midsummer to one's boss, important business associates, and other social superiors, as a token of gratitude for favors received. itadaita is the plain/abrupt past form of itadaku, the humble word for "receive." Girin is a play on the name of a popular maker of beer, Kirin. 2 さっそく 冷しといて くんな。 Tochan: Sassoku hiyashitoite kunna. (dialect) (standard) hiyashite oite kure. right away chill-and-leave for me-(command) "Chill some for me right away, will you?" (PL2) 冷蔵庫 故障しちゃった At. Kāchan: それ が、 Sore ga, reizōko koshō shichatta n da yo. that (subj.) refrigerator broke down-(regret) (explan.) (emph.) koshō shichatta "The problem is, our refrigerator has broken down." (PL2) hiyashite is the -te form of hiyasu ("to chill/make cold"), and oite is the -te form of oku ("set/leave"). Oku after the -te form of a verb implies doing the action now/ahead of time/in preparation for some later event/purpose. He wants her to get some of the beer in the refrigerator right away so that it will be ready later on. The contraction hiyashitoite is used in "standard" Japanese as well as dialect. kunna is a dialect contraction of kurenasai, a command form of kureru ("give [to me]/do for [me].") Kurenasai was used in the pre-modern era but is not used today. Kunna or kunnasai are used today, but only in dialects. sore ga is used idiomatically for the feeling of "yes, but . . . /I hate to say this, but . . . / unfortunately . . . " when responding to what the other person has said with some kind of negative information/bad news. koshō shichatta is a contraction of koshā shite shimatta, from koshō suru, a verb meaning "break down/go haywire" for mechanical things like cars, household appliances, vending machines, etc. Shimatta (plain/abrupt past of shimau) after the -te form of a verb implies the action was regrettable/unfortunate. 3 Tōchan: うーん、冷たくねーと んまくねー し tsumetakunë to nmakunë shi na... (dialect) Un, na... (standard) tsumetakunai to umakunai shi Un, not good/tasty and (collog.) if not cold "Hmmm . . . and it's no good if it's not cold . . ." (PL2) ūn with a long vowel represents pondering what to say or do. tsumetakunai is the negative form of tsumetai ("cold"). To after a non-past verb can make a conditional "if/when" meaning, so tsumetakunai to/tsumetakunë to = "if it's not cold." Tsumetai is the word for "cold" used for beverages/food and for a sensation of chill that affects only part of the body, while samui is the word for cold ambient temperature and for feeling cold all over. umakunai is the negative form of umai ("good/tasty") - "not tasty/no good." 4 Kāchan: おまいさん、そんな こと しても 冷えない sonna koto shite mo hienai Omai-san, yo. that kind of thing even if do won't get cold (emph.) "Dear, even if you do that kind of thing, it won't get cold." "Doing that won't make it cold, Dear." (PL2) omai-san is Edokko dialect for omae-san. Omae (lit. "you") from a male speaker Tochan: 2.? sounds rough, but from a woman, especially with -san added, it usually has an endearing tone. "Huh?" (PL2) shite is the -te form of suru ("do"); shite mo = "even if you do." Sound FX: ブーン hienai is the negative form of hieru ("become cold"). yo is used for emphasis, especially with things you think your listener doesn't (sound of electric fan) know but needs to know.

オジャマします

O-jama Shimasu

by いまぜき伸 Imazeki Shin

Title: 千鳥 足

> Chidori -ashi plover feet/steps

Tottering Steps

 chidori = "plover(s)," and ashi = "feet/legs"; chidori-ashi essentially refers to walking like a plover, which is to say, in a waddling, zig-zag path. It's commonly used to describe the unsteady gait of a drunk person.

> Father: みつお も 少し 飲め。

Mitsuo mo sukoshi nome. (name) also/too a little drink

"You drink a little, too, Mitsuo." (PL2)

Sound FX: トクトク トク

Toku toku toku

("gurgling" sound of liquid pouring/flowing out of a narrow container opening)

Mother: ダメ です ヨ、 子供 なのに ビール なんか。

Dame desu yo, kodomo na no ni biiru no good is (emph.) child even though is beer a thing like "That's no good — even though he's a child, (giving him) a thing like beer."

"You mustn't do that - (giving him) beer when he's a child." (PL2)

 Japanese often address their listener by name in situations when English speakers would use only "you," or "you" in combination with a name.

nome is the abrupt command form of nomu ("drink").

· dame da/desu = "is no good/won't do"; it's one of the most common ways to say that something is not permissible.

· na no ni is the form no ni ("even though/when") takes after nouns: "even though/when it is."

 nanka is a colloquial nado ("a thing like/such as" or "things like/such as"), which often is essentially equivalent to wa ("as for"). The syntax is inverted. Normal order would be Kodomo na noni biiru nanka (= wa) dame desu yo.

Boy: ゲホッ

...にがァい!!

Geho!

... Nigāi!

回るウ!

(choking/spitting out FX)

"Bleaghhb. It's bitter." (PL2)

Father: 7 ハハハ

Wa ha ha ha

"Hah hah hah hah" (laugh)

 nigai = "bitter"; lengthening the a gives the feeling that it was really bitter.

3

2

1

Sound FX: ドサッ

Dasa!

Flop (effect of flopping down on bed)

Boy: うわあ、 から

mawaru. Uwā, me ga (exclam.) eyes (subj.) turn/spin

"Ugh, I'm dizzy." (PL2)

 uwa is an interjection/exclamation whose meaning can range from mild surprise to dismay to great discomfort/pain.

 me ga mawaru (lit. "[one's] eyes turn/spin") is equivalent to such phrases as "get or be dizzy/feel giddy/feel faint/be stunned."

> @ Imazeki Shin, All rights reserved First published in Japan in 1987 by Take Shobo, Tokyo. English translation rights arranged through Take Shobo.

オジャマします O-jama Shimasu

ショータイム

by いまぜき伸 Imazeki Shin

Title: ショータイム

Shō Taimu Show Time

Sound FX: カチャカチャ

1

3

4

Kacha kacha

Rattle rattle (sound of items in sales cart jostling together)

Passenger: ビール ちょうだい。

Biiru chōdai. beer please

"A beer, please." (PL2)

chōdai is an informal but still quite polite "please give me/let me have."

 the passenger is on the Shinkansen = "bullet train"; a variety of vendors periodically go up and down the aisles selling refreshments, box lunches, etc.

Comedian 1: いらっしゃいませーっ

Irasshaimase-! welcome

"Welcome (to the show)" (PL4)

irasshaimase is a polite command form of the PL4 verb irassharu ("come").
 It's the standard expression for welcoming a visitor to one's home, or customers to one's place of business. In this case we seem to have 2 tiny manzai comedians welcoming the bullet-train passenger to their show.

 manzai refers to comic dialogues performed by pairs of stand-up comedians, one playing the straight man/woman to the other's wit. Many manzaishi, or manzai comedians, use Kansai dialect.

Comedian 1: 新幹線 の おかげで Shinkansen no okage de bullet train 's owing to 旅 に 情緒 が なくなりました なァ。 tabi ni jōcho ga naku narimashita nā. travel to allure/pleasure (subj.) disappeared/became lost (colloq.) "Owing to the bullet train, the allure has disappeared from travel, hasn't it?"

"The bullet train has really taken the allure out of travel, hasn't it?" (PL3)

Comedian 2: ホンマ です なァ。

Honma desu nā, truth is (colloq.) "That's really true."

"(Yes) it really has." (PL3-K)

 okage refers to "indebtedness" (the o- is actually honorific, but cannot be dropped in this use), and okage de means "owing to/thanks to/as a result of." Okage de can be used both for giving credit and assigning blame.

jöcho (or jösho) refers to the emotional/psychological appeal that something has → "allure/pleasure."

 naku is the adverb form of nai ("not exist/not have"), and narimashita is the PL3 past form of naru ("become"), so naku narimashita is literally "came to not exist"

"disappeared/became lost."

 nā, like nē, gives the feeling of an exclamation that expects agreement from the listener ("it really is so, isn't it?"), or that expresses agreement with the listener ("[yes,] it really is so.").

honma is dialect for hontō ("truth").
 don't worry if you don't "get" the joke. The humor here is in the absurdity of © Imazeki Shin, All rights reserved First published in Japan in 1987 by Take Shobo, Tokyo. English translation rights arranged through Take Shobo.

OL Shinkaron

C Akizuki Risu, All rights reserved. First published in Japan in 1991 by Kodansha Ltd., Tokyo. English translation rights arranged through Kodansha Ltd.

by 秋月 りす/ Akizuki Risu

Salaryman 1: カミさん と うまくいってる か?

Kamisan to umaku itte-ru ka? with well going (?)

"Are things going well between you and your wife?" (PL2)

Sound FX: ひっく

Hikku Hic (a standard drunken sound)

Salaryman 2: いやー, ここんとこ 忙しくて 話 もあんまり koko n toko isogashikute hanashi mo anmari recently busy-(cause) conversation even not much

"Well, I've been so busy lately, we don't even get to talk much." (PL2)

Salaryman 2: よくない です

Yokunai desu yo not good is (emph.) (colleq.) "That's not very good, is it?" (PL3) kamisan is an informal word for "wife" and could be translated as "your old lady"; to refer to your own wife you usually say uchi no kamisan, at least on first mention.

 umaku is the adverb form of umai ("good"), and itte-(i)ru is the progressive ("is/are -ing") form of iku ("go"), so umaku itte-(i)ru = "is/are going well."

iyā with a long vowel is mostly a "warm-up"/hesitation word, like "well." which can introduce either affirmative or negative statements; in this case it also contains a hint of the short iya, meaning "no," but he is not really giving a direct/outright "no"; that meaning emerges more vaguely from the rest of koko = "here," n = no, and toko is a contraction of tokoro, meaning "place," so koko n toko is literally "this place here." but it idiomatically means "recently/lately."

 isogashikute is the -te form of isogashii ("busy"); the -te form is used here to indicate the cause/reason for what follows.

Sound FX: ガラッ

2

3

Gara!

Rattle (an abrupt rattle from opening the sliding door)

Sound FX: ひっく

Hikku Hic

Salaryman 2: たらいま。おーい、帰った ぞー。

Oi. koetta Taraima. hey arrived home (emph.) just now

"Hi. Hey, I'm home." (PL2)

Wife: A...

"Hunh?" (PL2) N . . .

 taraima is a drunken/slurred tadaima, which literally means "just now" but is also the standard greeting spoken when arriving home from work/school/an errand: "Hi!/I'm home/I'm back."

 oi is an abrupt "hey" or "yo!" for getting someone's attention. The first vowel is lengthened when calling out loudly, especially to someone far away.

 kaetta is the plain/abrupt past form of kaeru ("go/come home"), and zo is a rough/informal masculine particle for emphasis (he lengthens it because he's calling loudly), so kaetta zo is literally "I've come home." → "I'm home."

Salaryman 2: 会話 なんら。 大事な の は 夫婦 の会話っ na n ra, Daiji-na no wa fufu no kaiwa!

conversation (explan.-is) important thing as-for hisb&wife's conv. "It's conversation. What's important is a husband and wife's conversation."

"Talk. It's important that a husband and wife talk!" (PL2)

Sound FX: ひっく

Hikku Hic

Wife: あー、だいじょぶ。 れーぞーこ に ある から。 A, daijobu. Rēzōko ni aru kara. (interj.) all right/no worry refrigerator in exists because/so

"Oh, don't worry. It's in the fridge." (PL2)

(continued on next page)

L Shinkaron

© Akizuki Risu, All rights reserved. First published in Japan in 1991 by Kodansha Ltd., Tokyo. English translation rights arranged through Kodansha Ltd.

by 秋月 りす/ Akizuki Risu

1

2

3

4

4

ごはん は? Wife: おかえり。

Gohan wa? Okaeri. (hon.)-return home meal/rice as-for "Welcome home. As for dinner?"

"Hi. Do you want to eat right away?" (PL2)

Husband: あー、あつー。 先に フロ に はいる。

atsū. Saki ni furo ni hairu. first bath to will enter (exclam.) hot "Man, is it hot! I'll take a bath first." (PL2)

 okaeri is the informal form of okaerinasai, the standard greeting given when someone comes home: "Welcome home/welcome back/Hi."

stating just a topic (. . . wa?) with the intonation of a question asks very generally about the status/condition/etc. of that topic. It's possible in this case that she means "Have you had dinner?"; but based on the way he answers as well as the fact that she seems to be getting dinner ready, we interpreted it as a question of when he wanted to eat rather than whether he had already eaten.

atsū is an exclamatory form of atsui ("hot.").

Husband: はー、さっぱりした!

sappari shita! Hā, (sigh) feel refreshed

"Ahhh, I feel refreshed!" (PL2)

sappari refers to a feeling/condition of being "clean/neat/fresh"; sappari shita is the past form of sappari suru ("feel refreshed").

Sound FX: ぶはー

(effect of exhaling after taking big swig of iced mugicha, "barley tea")

うまいっ! Husband: あー、 麦茶

umai! mugicha ga ahh barley tea (subj.) good/delicious

"Ahh, mugicha tastes so good!" (PL2)

· umai, when used of food items, is an informal word for "delicious/tasty."

Husband: しまったあ。ビール 飲む つもり だった のにーっ! Biiru nomu tsumori datta Shimattā. even though Was beer drink intent (exclam.) "Shoot! I was going to have beer!" (PL2) shimatta is an exclamation of regret/chagrin: "Oh no!/Shoot!/Damn!" Lengthening the final vowel represents more intense regret/chagrin.

 tsumori is a noun meaning "intent," and datta is the past form of da ("is/ are"), so . . . tsumori datta = "was (my) intent to . . ." → "I intended to/was going to . . . ? noni ("even though/although"), especially at the end of sentence, can express regret/dismay/disappointment. He had been looking forward to the special taste of that first swig of ice-cold beer after a hot bath.

(continued from previous page)

 na n ra is a drunken/slurred na no (the form explanatory no takes after nouns) + da ("is/are").

daiji is a noun meaning "important," and daiji-na is its adjective form.

no is being used here as a kind of pronoun standing in for koto ("thing"), so daiji-na no = "important thing." Wa makes this the topic of the sentence.

daijōbu means "all right/okay" in the sense of "safe and secure/no cause for concern" → "don't worry."

Sound FX: んごー

 $Ng\bar{o}$ — (effect of snoring)

Sound FX: すびー

Supii (the breathing of someone sound asleep)

Ueda Masashi's

フリテンシ Furiten-kun

Title: ビール 好き Biiru -zuki like beer Beer Lover

2

3

4

 the suffix -zuki, from suki ("like"; s changes to z for euphony), can be added to the name of almost any object or activity to make a word meaning "a person who likes (that object/activity)" → "-lover."

> Man: わしゃ から ビール なんか Washa mukashi kara biiru nanka as for me long ago from beer a thing like

お茶がわり ě. ocha-gawari (hon.)-tea-substitute (colloq.)

"As for me, from long ago, beer is a tea substitute." "I've always drunk beer like tea." (PL2)

Furiten: ^-. Hē. (interj.) "You don't say." (PL2)

 washa is a contraction of washi wa; washi is a word for "I/me" used mostly by middle-aged and older men, and wa marks washi as the topic of the sentence.

 mukashi = "long ago," and kara = "from," so mukashi kara = "from long ago"; this often corresponds to "(I/we/they/etc.) have always . . . " in Euglish.

 nanka is a colloquial nado ("something like"), here essentially equivalent to wa ("as for"), but with a feeling of belittling/making light of what comes before it: "as for (the likes of) beer, . . . " In English the same feeling would be conveyed mostly by tone of voice.

-gawari, from kawari (the noun form of kawaru, "take the place of/substitute for"; k changes to g for euphony) can be added to various nouns to mean "a substitute for (the item)," so ocha-gawari = "tea substitute."

 sa is used in informal speech mostly by males for authoritative/assertive emphasis, including when bragging (in which case it can feel a bit like "so there/ what do you think of that"). It takes the place of da/desu ("is").

 hē is a light exclamation, like "Gee!/Wow!/How about that!/You don't say!" or like "Oh yeah?/Really?" when the speaker isn't actually questioning. It can imply that the speaker is impressed or merely be a show of polite interest.

> Man: ビール なんか お茶がわり Biiru nanka ocha-gawari da yo.

beer a thing like (hon.)-tca-substitute is (emph.) "I drink beer like tea." (PL2)

Women: ^-

Hē. (interj.)

"You don't say." (PL2)

Furiten: ビール ですか?

Biiru desu ka? is it? beer

"Is this beer?" (PL3)

だ Man: そう t. da vo. "That's right," (PL2)

ocha-gawari normally implies drinking something casually/often in the course of the day, since ocha in this case is the generic use that includes not just green tea, but black tea, herb tea, barley tea, and even coffee — i.e., any hot beverage taken for refreshment. But our beer lover seems to have also included ocha in its most formal sense: "tea-ceremony tea." The large tea bowl Furiten is holding, the large round kettle set on a sunken brazier, and the bamboo water-ladie laid across the top of the kettle all represent elements of formal tea ceremony.

© Ueda Masashi, All rights reserved. First published in Japan in 1992 by Take Shobo, Tokyo, English translation rights arranged through Take Shobo.

フリテンえ Furiten-kun

Title: スシ屋 Sushi-ya Sushi Shop

 -ya is added to the names of various commodities and trades to indicate either a shop dealing in that commodity/trade or the person running it.

Customer: さて と... / いくら?
Sate to... / Ikura?
well/now (quote) how much

"Well now . . . / How much (does it come to)?"
(PL2)

sate implies the speaker is about to do something/begin something.

 ikura can ask "how much" for just about anything, but it's often the question "how much does/did it cost?"

Customer: ねえ、ちょっと。/ いくら?

Nē, chotto. / Ikura?

say/hey a little how much

"Say, excuse me. What's my bill?" (PL2)

nē at the beginning of a sentence is used to get the listener's attention, like

"say/hey/look here."

1

2

3

4

chotto (lit. "a little") used as an interjection is also an attempt to get a person's attention. Its English equivalent depends on the context: "hey/say/excuse me/look here/just a minute/hold it!/don't!/etc."

Customer: ねえ、おっさん! / いくら だ よ?

Nē, Ossan! / Ikura da yo?

say/hey mister how much is (emph.)

"Hey, Mister! How much is it?" (PL2)

Chef: うるさい なー。いまやってる よす。 Urusai nā. Ima yatte-ru yō. noisy/annoying (colloq.) now am doing (cmph.)

"Cool it, will ya. I'm doing it right now." (PL2) ossan is a mostly masculine contraction of ojisan, which is used both to mean "uncle," and as a generic term of address/reference for men past their mid-twenties or so (especially when you don't know their name, but often even when you do). In its generic use, ojisan is less formal than "sir," more like calling someone "mister," but still quite polite, Ossan is less polite and can have either just a casual feel or a rough feel, so it needs to be used with caution; it is not normally used to mean "uncle."

asking a question with da is masculine and can sound very rough, with or without the emphatic yo.

urusai means "noisy/annoying/obnoxious," and a following na/nā is essentially for emphasis, so urusai nā = "you sure are noisy/obnoxious." When urusai is said sharply/emphatically, its feeling can range from "shut up!/be quiet" to "cool it/stop bothering me/go away/buzz off."

yatte-ru is a contraction of yatte-iru ("am/is/are doing"), from yaru, an informal word for "do."

Customer: ?

ikura also means "salmon roe," so the sushi chef thought the customer was ordering some more sushi. This is one of those cases where it's impossible to make the pun work in English. Since salmon roe by itself will not stay in place on top of the rice, a strip of nori ("seaweed" that comes in sheets) is wrapped around the rice to hold the roe in place.

by やまだ三平 / Yamada Sanpei

OL Reiko-san

1	Father: On Bottle:	Ever  にいてくれ。 Ever  にいてくれ。 Ever  にはいる Ever Ever  にはいる Ever
2		あーら、娘 に そんな こと させて / 飲み屋 の ママ に でも する つもり?  Ara, musume ni sonna koto sasete nomiya no mama ni demo suru tsumori? (interj.) daughter to that kind of thing make do drinking shop 's madame to or something do/make intent "My, my, (by) making your daughter do that kind of thing, do you intend to make her into the mamasan of a bar or something?" (PL2)  • ara (or āra) is an interjection showing surprise, "oh!/oh my!"
	•	sasete is the -te form of saseru, the causative ("make/let do") form of suru ("do"). The -te form often functions like the English phrase "by doing ," or, when the verb is causative, "by making (her) do"  -ya is often added to the names of a commodity or trade to indicate a shop/tradesman dealing in that commodity/ trade; in this case it is added to the name of an activity (nomi- is from nomu, "drink") to indicate a shop where that activity takes place. Nomi-ya tends to evoke a traditional Japanese-style drinking establishment rather than more contemporary, Western-style places, but it can be used as a generic term for any "watering hole."  ni suru is an expression meaning "make (it/me) into"; by inserting demo ("or something"), it becomes "make (it/me) into or something." Nomi-ya no mama ni demo suru is a complete thought/sentence ("make [me] into a mama-san or something") modifying tsumori, a noun meaning "intent." She speaks it with the intonation of a question, so it's equivalent to tsumori desu ka, "is it your intent to?"
3	Father:	いい ねェ。 へたな 会社 で O L する より よっぽど ましじゃないか。  li nē. Heta-na kaisha de ōeru suru yori yoppodo mashi ja nai ka. good/fine (colloq.) inferior/3rd rate company at be an OL more than greatly preferable is it not?  "(Sounds) good. It's a lot better than being an OL for some third-rate company." (PL2)
	.	heta-na literally means "unskillful/clumsy/bungling," so when applied idiomatically to a corporation it implies "inferior/third rate." De marks the location of an action, and adding suru to OL makes it a verb, "be an OL." yori is attached to the lesser item in statements involving comparisons: OL suru yori = "more than being an OL." yoppodo is a colloquial equivalent of yohodo ("very much/greatly"), and mashi means "better/preferable," with the connotation of "the lesser of two evils."
4	-	Sō nē. Ryōri wa oboeru shi, o-kane wa kasegeru shi, ikkyo ryōtoku ja nai. that way (colloq.) cooking as-for will learn and (hon.)-money as-for can earn and one action two benefits is not? "That's right. You'll learn to cook, and (at the same time) you can make money, so it'd be killing two birds with one stone." (PL2)
	:	ne (or nē) by itself often replaces desu ne ("is, isn't it?"), especially in feminine speech, so sō nē here literally means "it is that way, isn't it?" • shi is an emphatic "and/and moreover" for connecting clauses in a complex sentence. kasegeru is the potential ("can/able to") form of kasegu ("make/earn [money]"). ikkyo ryōtoku literally means "two benefits from one action," and was the expression used before —{i :} isseki nichō (literally, "one stone, two birds") was adopted from English. Today, both expressions are used. ja nai literally looks like "is not," but this is a rhetorical question: "it is, is it not? (Yes, it is.)" → "It is"
5	Reiko:	やってやろうじゃないの! / はい、お客さん、何がいかね?! Yatte yarō ja nai no! / Hai, okyaku-san, nani ga ii ka ne? do for you shall I not? yes/okay (hon.)-customer-(hon.) what (subj.) good/fine (?) (colloq.) "I'll do as you say, then. Okay, sir, what'll you have?" (PL2)
		厚揚げ 1万円 / 板わさ 5千円 /おしんこ 3千円 / 肉じゃが 2万円 / 焼魚 1万円 Atsuage ichiman-en / Itawasa gosen-en / Oshinko sanzen-en / Nikujaga niman-en / Yakizakana ichiman-en Thick-fried tofu ¥10,000 / Itawasa ¥5,000 / Pickled vegetables ¥3,000 / Meat & potato stew ¥20,000 Grilled fish ¥10,000 (PL2) yatte is the -te form of yaru (informal word for "do"), and yarō is the volitional ("let's/I shall") form of another yaru ("give to [someone]"), which after the -te form of a verb means "do (the action) to/for (someone)."  ja nai no is once again a rhetorical question, and since it follows a volitional form it becomes "shall I not (do the action)? (Yes, I shall.)" \rightarrow "I shall (do the action)."  hai, literally "yes," is sometimes used to indicated readiness for an action: "well then/okay/all right."  atsuage are thick slabs of tofu fried in deep fat, served with a variety of relishes such as grated ginger, green onions, and soy sauce. Itawasa comes from ita ("board," referring to kamaboko, a kind of steamed fish paste that comes on a small board) + wasabi ("horseradish" — the Japanese variety familiar to sushi lovers everywhere): slices of the steamed fish paste are dipped in soy sauce that has been spiked with the wasabi. Jaga is short for jagaimo ("potato"). The prices on Reiko's menu are unexpectedly high. (¥10,000 is almost $100 at current exchange rates.)

by やまだ三平 / Yamada Sanpei

OL Reiko-san

1 Reiko: たらいま~っ! Taraima-! just now "I'm bome!" (PL2) 帰って きた ぞ。 Father: 13, kaette kita zo. (interj.) return home came (emph.) "Ah, she's home." (PL2) taraima is a drunken/slurred tadaima, which literally means "right now/just now" but it is also the standard greeting used when returning home. It is actually an abbreviation of tadaima kaerimashita ("I have just now returned home"). The standard response to this greeting is o-kaerinasai, "welcome home." kaette is the -te form of kaeru ("corne/go home"), and kita is the plain/abrupt past form of kuru ("come"). A form of kuru after kaeru clarifies that the return is/will be toward the speaker (i.e., "come horne") rather than away from the speaker ("go home"). 2 Mother: まあ、酔っ払って... yopparatte . . . Mα, (interj) drunk (cause) "My goodness. You're drunk." (PL2) で スっちゃって / 頭にきた 飲んできちゃった I. から Reiko: 競馬 / atama ni kita kara nonde kichatta VO. Keiha sutchatte got angry because/so drank-and-came-(regret) (explan.)(emph.) horse races at lost-(regret)-(cause) "I lost money at the track, and it made me mad, so I went drinking." (PL2) mā is commonly used as an interjection of surprise by women. Though both men and women can use mā as a "softener" or "verbal warm-up/pause," men sound effeminate when they use the word to express surprise, yopparatte is the -te form of yopparau ("become drunk"); using the -te form here implies something like yopparatte do shita no? ("You're drunk: what happened?"). -Te forms often indicate the cause/reason for what follows - in this case the cause/reason for her (implied) question/concern. sutchatte is a contraction of sutte shimatte, the -te form of 19. & suru ("lose/forfeit") plus the -te form of shimau ("end/finish/put away"), which after the -te form of another verb implies the action was regrettable/undesirable. Here, too, the -te form is used to indicate the cause/reason for what follows. atama ni kita is the plain/abrupt past form of the expression atama ni kuru, literally "comes to one's head," meaning "get angry/mad." Atama ni kita kara = "because I got mad/it made me mad." nonde is the -te form of nomu ("drink"), and kichatta is a contraction of kite shimatta, from kuru ("come") and the plain/abrupt past form of shimau ("end/finish/put away," again implying the action was regrettable/undesirable"). A form of kuru after the -te form of another verb often means the person did the action before coming in this case, before coming home, which is to say, on the way home. ending a sentence with the explanatory no plus yo is mostly feminine. In most such cases men would say n(o) da yo. 3 特権 だったのに。 は 飲む、打つ、買う は 男の Father: ったく、 datta noni. tokken kau wa otoko no Ttaku, mukashi wa nomu, utsu. (exclam.) long ago as-for drink hit/gamble buy as-for male 's special privilege was even though "Sheesh, It used to be that 'drinking, gambling, and buying' were just for men." (PL2) ttaku is a contraction of mattaku (literally "completely/entirely"), which Sound FX: グビッ is often used as an expression/exclamation of exasperation. nomu ("drink") refers to drinking alcohol; utsu is from bakuchi o utsu ("to (effect of taking a gulp of beer) gamble"; bakuchi = "gambling"); and kau ("buy") in this triad means onna o kau ("buy women" → "engage the services of a prostitute"). 4 kau is the plain form of the verb for "buy," but in this case it functions Reiko: 買うも やった よ。 grammatically as a noun because it's a direct quote from the three Kau mo yatta yo. activities her father mentioned as having been exclusively masculine in buy also did (emph.) the past. Because she quotes directly from her father's words, it at first "I bought, too." (PL2) sounds like she's saying she bought a prostitute — which explains her Father: えっ!? father's surprise/alarm. yatta is the plain/abrupt past form of yaru ("do"). "What?!" (PL2) 5 yake refers to a state of "despair/desperation," and when prefixed to an Reiko: ヤケ買い 41 action noun (kai is a noun form of kau, "buy") it implies doing that ac-Yakegai vo! tion out of desperation or to relieve one's despair/frustration. The kind despair/frustration buying (emph.) "It was frustration-buying." of drinking she did on her way home, to "drown her sorrows," would similarly be called yakezake (from sake, "alcoholic beverage"; s "I went shopping to vent my changes to z for euphony). frustrations." (PL2) · in informal situations, the emphatic particle yo by itself can function as Father: あー、びっくりした! desu yo ("is/was" + emph.), especially in female speech. bikkuri shita! bikkuri shita is the plain/abrupt past form of bikkuri suru ("be surprised/ (sigh) be surprised/startled startled/frightened"). The  $\bar{a}$  before this is essentially a sigh of relief. "Whew, you had me scared (for a moment)!" (PL2)

(Continued from page 32)

なタレントなんです。あんまり親しまれるタレントじゃなくて、どっちかというと嫌いな人が結構多いと思う。本人はすごく、とってもいい人なんですけど、少なくともテレビの上のイメージでは、すごく強烈な、どっちかというと悪役的なキャラクターなんですよ。

- ① Schodt: じゃあ、喪黒の様な所もある。
- ② Abiko: そう、そこが又あの人の魅力になっているわけですよ。
- ② Schodt: 最後に、アメリカの読者に対して何か伝えておきたい事があれば、これを読んでいる時にこういう所を見てほしいとか、こういう所を理解してほしいとかがあれば、とおもっています。
- ます。

  ② Abiko: 基本的に日本人もアメリカの人も人間の奥の心というのは同じではないかと思うんです。だから、逆にアメリカの読者の人がこのマンガを読んで、どういうふうな感想を持つのかなという事にすごく興味があるんで、もし何か見て面白いと思われたら、ぜひその感想を僕が知りたいと思うんですよ。
- ® Schodt: いいですね。
- ® Abiko: それがすごく興味があります。
- ⑦ Schodt: もしかしたら、読者からの手紙が我孫子先生に殺到して来るかもしれません。
- ⑤ Abiko: それを期待してますけど。

but on the whole he's not a well-liked personality, and I think there are in fact quite a few people who dislike him. Kyosen himself is really a very nice person, but his TV persona is a very powerful character, more of a villain.

- ① Schodt: So he's like Moguro in some ways.
- Abiko: Right, and that's actually part of his appeal.
- ③ Schodt: Finally, is there anything you'd like to tell your readers in America, anything in particular you'd like them to notice when they read this manga, or any aspects of it you'd like them to understand?
- Abiko: I think the innermost reaches of the human heart are fundamentally the same whether you're Japanese or you're American. So, turning your question around, I'm actually very much interested in what kind of reaction American readers have when they read this manga. If they see something that they find particularly interesting, by all means I'd like to know what it is.
- Schodt: That sounds like a good idea.
- Abiko: I'm very curious about that.
- Schodt: You just might get a deluge of letters from our readers.
- ⑤ Abiko: I'll be looking forward to it.

Correspondence to Abiko-sensei will be forwarded from Mangajin. Write to: Mangajin/Abiko Interview. PO Box 7119, Marietta, GA 30065

Computer • Corner

(continued from page 24)

Japanese message becomes a string of garbage text.

You can remedy this by converting your files from Shift-JIS to JIS format prior to sending them. Most word processors (including WordPerfect-J) include export filters that do this. Tell the people you communicate with to do the same. Then, when you receive a file, before reading it, import it into your word processor as JIS text. Your application will then recognize the text and display the appropriate characters.

Before sending the text, copy it into your communications application. If this program is not equipped to recognize Japanese text, it will display the file as garbage text, but have no fear; at this point it is properly encoded and will be readable when viewed from an application capable of displaying Japanese. When you receive Japanese e-mail, use your word processor to import the text file from the communications software as JIS text.

You will have to make a few sacrifices to have optimum success with your Japanese e-mail. The first sacrifice will be the text layout and formatting. You will not be able to use bold, italic, or other type styles in your document. Also, since the Internet does not like long lines of code, it is best to use a carriage return after every forty Japanese characters (or fewer). To help you keep an eye on this, choose a monospaced font (most Japanese fonts are monospaced) and set the type size so that only forty characters fit on a line. Roman characters will take up half the space of Japanese characters, so if a line contains a mix, it may contain more than forty characters. However, do not use the half-width katakana characters in your message, as they may not transfer properly. Remember to hit the return key at the end of each line.

If you would rather preserve the formatting of your document, and your addressee is using a compatible word processor, you can save the file normally and send it as a binary transfer. The other party can then simply open the file and read it with their own word processor.

—Douglas Horn

Maboroshi no Futsū Shōjo

by 内田 春菊 Uchida Shungiku

A note on the title: A favorite device of manga artists is the use of hiragana or katakana (phonetic symbols) beside kanji to give unconventional readings. In this title, the reading maboroshi ("phantom/apparition/vision") is given beside kanji which would normally be read gensō ("fantasy/illusion/dream"). This was probably to indicate which end of the spectrum of genso's meanings was intended, but only the artist can say for sure. Concerning the use of katakana to write futsū beside kanji which are in fact read futsū, we can make more specific comment (see the article by Ito Hiroko below).

"The Illusory Ordinary Girl," would be a good literal translation of the title, but we prefer "The Elusive Ordinary Girl."

The Main Characters:

Sakata (she is addressed by her last name in this story) is Sayuri's best friend, and, unlike Sayuri, a fairly conventional high school girl. In Sakata's eyes, Sayuri's way of thinking is very peculiar, Sakata's greatest desire is to be like everyone else (futsū), which drives Sayuri crazy.

Yamashita Chōko is

Sayuri's mother, a divorced working mom. She works at a night club as a hostess, which makes her a somewhat unconventional Japanese mother. True to her free-thinking ways, she runs a very loose and easygoing household.

Yamashita Sayuri, a high-school student, is the heroine of our story. Raised by a single working mother, she has learned to be tough, resourceful, and independent-minded. In this respect, she is different from most of her classmates, and indeed, she is often puzzled by the rigid attitudes of her peers.

Yōji is Sayuri's boyfriend. She met him at a disco one night, and they have been dating steadily since then. He has dropped out of college, and now works as a host at a bar. Like Sayuri, he is somewhat outside of the mainstream.

© Uchida Shungiku, All rights reserved. First published in Japan in 1992 by Futabasha, Tokyo. English translation rights arranged through Futabasha.

The Meaning of "Futsu"

Maboroshi no Futsū Shōjo is a story about "futsū" (普通) what it means to be futsu, who in this day and age is futsu, and whether futsū is a good thing or not. In English, futsū is generally translated as "ordinary," "common." or "average," but in contemporary Japanese culture, the word "futsū" has implications beyond the dictionary meaning. The use of katakana to write the word futsū in the title (beside the kanji) is an attempt to convey the sense of this deeper meaning.

The word futst became a national buzzword in 1977 with the break-up of the Candies, the most popular female vocal group of the time. At their final concert, they announced, "Futsū no onnanoko ni modoritai" ("We want to go back to being ordinary girls") and broke into tears. This scene started a

(continued on page 59)

	Narration:	山下 紗由理 は ついに 高校 を 卒業いたしましたっ! Yamashita Sayuri wa tsui-ni kōkō o sotsugyō itashimashita! (surname) (given name) as-for finally high school (obj.) graduated Yamashita Sayuri has finally graduated from high school! (PL4)
	•	$tsui-ni$ = "at long last/finally," implying "after much effort/many hardships." In a point is placed after $tsui-ni$ to emphasize the feeling of "finally," not to mark it a tence. This is a common device in manga, but not generally in other kinds of war $sotugy\bar{o}$ = "graduation" and $sotsugy\bar{o}$ $suru$ is its verb form; $itashimashita$ is the $itasu$ , equivalent to $suru$ ("do"). $O$ marks $k\bar{o}k\bar{o}$ as the direct object of the verb, $so$ the small $tsu$ at the end implies the $ta$ is spoken crisply/sharply, so it in effect ser	as the end of an exclamatory sen- iting. polite past form of the PL4 verb atsugyō suru/itasu ("graduate").
2	Certificate:	字葉 証書  Sotsugyō Shōsho graduation certificate Diploma  • shōsho is used in the names of many certificates, wi tificate indicated before it: 借用証書 shakuyō shōsho at tificate indicated before it: 借用証書 shakuyō shōsho at tificate indicated before it: 借用証書 shakuyō shōsho at tificate indicated before it: 情用証書 shakuyō shōsho at tificate indicated before it: 情用证書 shakuyō shōsho at tificate indicated before it: tificate indicated before it	o = "certificate/bond of debt"; #
3	Sound FX:	がしっ Gashi! (effect of embracing strongly)
4	Yōji:	おめてと。 よかった な、さゆり、な。  Omedeto. Yokatta na, Sayuri, na. congratulations was good/nice (colloq.) (name) (colloq.)  "Congratulations. That was good for you, wasn't it, Sayuri, wasn't it?"  "Congratulations, Sayuri! Congratulations!" (PL2)	<ul> <li>omedeto is a shortened, informal-feeling omedeto         (gozaimasu), a congratulatory         phrase/greeting used for a wide         variety of joyful/auspicious oc-         casions, including birthdays,</li> </ul>
		ありがとう。 Arigatō. "Thank you." (PL2-3)	New Year's, times of signifi- cant personal achievements (such as graduations), and times of good fortune or special joy.
		yokatta is the past form of ii/yoi ("good/fine/agreeable"); yokatta na (or ne—lit. is often used to congratulate a person on their success/good fortune/new acquisi gratulations" than omedetö.  na is a masculine/informal equivalent of the particle ne, which expresses the spetener agrees with what he has said.	tion/etc. It's a less formal "con-

(continued from page 57)

tradition of female entertainers retiring from show business to tremendous applause from the media for their courage in returning to ordinary life, becoming futsū no okusan (ordinary housewives) or futsū no obasan (ordinary middle-aged women). In the mid-1980s, the Fuji-Sankei group contributed to an escalating futsū no onnanoko boom by coming out with a television program called Yūyake Nyan-Nyan that featured totally average high school girls singing and dancing. This show became a huge hit.

Why is it considered so admirable to be futs 2? Traditionally, the glue holding Japanese society together has been a highly evolved sense of harmony and social order. To maintain harmony, it is necessary that people act in very predictable, or "ordinary," ways. The oft-used expression deru kugi wa ute (出る釘は打て, "the nail that sticks out gets hammered down") reflects this idea,

For women, the norm has long been represented by the ordinary housewife type. In the past, simple survival dictated that most women marry. Parents raised their daughters to be good housewives, and the school curriculum for girls was designed for this purpose. Girls grew up learning to become women that men would like, not what they themselves wanted to be.

In 1947, coeducation was introduced in Japan, and girls began to study the same subjects as boys, in the same schools. In other words, they were given the same knowledge and skills to make their way in the world. For the first time, becoming a housewife was not the only way to earn a living.

At the same time, there was a shift in the family structure as the extended-family system disintegrated and the nuclear family took its place. With young couples trying to make it on their own, it became an economic necessity for many young wives to work. Husbands were obliged to change their attitudes and consent to their wives' working for the economic good of the household.

Those born after 1950 (Sayuri's mother's generation) experienced these major societal changes even as they were raised by parents still rooted in the old ways of thinking. Thus they were caught between two completely opposing value systems. Some held fast to the old ways, some embraced the new, and some adopted a little of each. Gone were the days when everything could be taken for granted, and people didn't have to think about whether or not they were futsū.

The generation represented by Sayuri, Sakata, and Yōji was the first to grow up with parents who had been educated in a coeducational school system. As such, they were exposed to a greater variety of attitudes and lifestyles than any previous generation. In Maboroshi no Futsü Shōjo, Sayuri and Sakata represent the extremes of the spectrum, with Sakata doing everything in her power to be futsü, and Sayuri questioning the very meaning of futsü in today's world.

Ito Hiroko is a graduate student at Harvard University.

5	Sakata:	もしもし Moshi-moshi "Excuse me" (PL3)	<ul> <li>moshi-moshi is most familiar as the word used for "hello" by the caller at the beginning of a phone call, but it can also be used when trying to get</li> </ul>
	Mother:	はっぱっぱっ! Ha! ha! ha! "Hah hah hah!" (light/cheerful laugh)	<ul> <li>someone's attention in person, like "excuse me."</li> <li>In such cases it sounds quite formal.</li> <li>\vec{E} with a rising intonation is like "Wha-a-t?" —</li> <li>here with the feeling that they can't believe what</li> </ul>
	Sayuri:		<ul> <li>they are seeing.</li> <li>tte is a colloquial equivalent of the quotative phrase to iu no wa, which is often just a fancy wa</li> </ul>
	Classmates:	えー、山下さん って すっご〜い。 すっご〜い。 E-, Yamashita-san tte suggo-i. Suggo-i. what? (name-hon.) (quote) amazing/incredible amazing/incredible amazing/incredible." "What? Yamashita-san is incredible, incredible." "Wow! Look at Yamashita-san! Can you believe it? Can you believe it?" (PL2)	credible "
6	Sakata:	しっかし、すごい ね。 Shikkashi, sugoi ne. but/however amazing/incredible (colloq.) もう 公認 なんだもん、山下 んとい Mō kōnin na n da mon, Yamashita n tok already officially sanctioned (explanis) because (name)/you 's pla "My but you're amazing. Because it's already officially	* konin is a noun referring to "official approval/sanction." Na n da mon combines two explanatory
	Sayuri:	approved at your place." "You're really incredible, Yamashita. You already have your mother's approval!" (PL2) ん、 まあ ね。 afte	<ul> <li>forms, and can altogether be thought of as "because it is."</li> <li>Japanese often use the listener's name in situations when an English speaker would say "you." The ner Yamashita is a contraction of possessive no, and toko is</li> </ul>
		$N$ , $m\bar{a}$ $ne$ .	ontraction of tokoro ("place"), so Yamashita n toko = "your ce." In normal syntax Yamashita n toko (wa) would come st.
7	Saynri:		<ul> <li>te iu ka (or more formally to iu ka) is used when qualifying/elaborating upon the statement just made: "I mean/that is to say."</li> <li>haha is the formally correct word to use when re-</li> </ul>
8	Sayuri:	同業者 だし、知りあいだったし な。 dōgyō-sha da shi, shiriai dotta shi na. same industry persons is/are and acquaintances were and (colloc "are in the same business and (already) knew each other." (PL2)	ferring to one's own mother in a conversation with someone outside the family; the polite okāsan is used for other people's mothers, and to show respect to one's own mother in conversations among family members.
	Sakata:	* shi is an emphatic "and/and besides" for linking two parts of a complex sentence.  * na can generally be described as a masculine equivalent of ne, but female speakers may use it as well, in very informal situations.
9	Sayuri:	Sakata no hō wa dō? tion." The phr (name)/you 's side/direction as-for how of directing the "As for your side/direction, how is it?" "How are things with you, Sakata?" (PL2)	"side/direction," so Sakata no $h\bar{o}$ = "Sakata's/your direction," is a way see listener's attention to a new item/topic.
10	Sakata:	うん それ なんだ けど Un sore nanda kedo yeah/uh-huh that (explanis) but "Yeah, it's that but" → "Yeah, that's what I	na n(o) is the form explanatory no takes after nouns, and da = "is/are," so sore na n da is literally "it's (the case) that it is that"   "it's that I wanted to talk about that." kedo can be either "and" or "but" depending on context; in a case like this it simply "softens" the end of her sentence and shows that she intends to go on.
11	Sakata:	Jitsu wa "Actually"	iitsu = "truth/fact," so jitsu-wa is literally "as for the truth." It's often used to show reserve/reluctance when beginning to speak about something unpleasant/embar-
	Sayuri:	なに? なんか 暗い ね。 Nani? Nanka kurai ne. what something/somehow dark/gloomy (collog.)	rassing.  nanko is a contraction of nanika, literally "something" but often used as an adverb meaning "somehow/vaguely (seems)." Nanka kurai = "somehow seem dark/gloomy/depressed" → "seem kind of depressed."

	Sakata:	語 きいてもらっても いい?  Hanashi kiite moratte mo ii?  story if do favor of listening is good/okay "Is it okay if (I have you) do me the favor of listening to my story?" "Can I talk to you about something?" (PL2)	<ul> <li>hancishi can refer simply to "conversa- tion," or it can be a more formal "story/ speech/address/consultation." The tone here is of something serious, like she has some kind of problem/troubles she would like to talk about.</li> </ul>
	Sayuri:	li yo. is good/okay (emph.) "Sure." (PL2)	<ul> <li>kitte is the -te form of kiku ("hear/listen to"), and moratte is the -te form of morau ("receive"). A form of morau after the -te form of another verb implies "receiving" the benefits of the ac-</li> </ul>
13	Sayuri:	ヨージもいっしょに 相談にのってくれる よ。 Yōji mo issho ni sōdan ni notte kureru yo. (name) also together with offer consultation/advice-(for you) (cmph.) "Yōji'll be glad to give you his advice, too." (PL2)	tion as a favor, so kiite morau is liter- ally like "do me the favor of listening."  -te mo ii literally means "it is good/ okay if," or, with the intonation of a question, "is it okay if?"
	Sakata:	えっ、うーん E!?, u-n huh (interj.) "Huh? Urr" (PL2)	speaker is a cowy ii.
	Yōji:	ハハハ U. b. b. (loughing in healtground convergation with Mrs. Von	nachita\
		Ha ha ha (laughing in background conversation with Mrs. Yan issho = "together," and issho ni = "together with/along with."	nasilitaj
		södan = "consultation," and södan ni noru is an expression for "give Notte is the -te form of noru, and kureru after the -te form of another tion for the benefit of the speaker or subject (which in this case is Sak yo is an emphatic particle used especially when asserting/revealing so know. Female speakers more typically say wa yo except in the most is an elongated ūn is a pause/hesitation sound implying she's not sure bo	verb implies someone else will do the ac- cata, the listener). comething you think your listener doesn't informal situations.
14	Sakata:	うん、 じゃあ、 あとで 山下 ん ち いく。
		Un, jā, ato de Yamashita n chi iku. yeah/uh-huh then/in that case later (name)/you 's home will go "Yeah, well, I'll come over to your house later on." (PL2)
ľ		n chi is a colloquial contraction of no uchi, possessive no plus "home, no uchi = "Yamashita's house/your bouse." The particle e, to indicate
00 - 120		been omitted after Yamashita n chi. Many particles get left out in coll
15	Sayuri:	been omitted after Yamashita n chi. Many particles get left out in collection of the collection of th	oquial speech.  is a colloquial variation of narete-iru ("is ned to"), from nareru ("become accustengthening the final u gives light empha-
15	Sayuri: Mother:	been omitted after Yamashita n chi. Many particles get left out in collection of the collection of th	oquial speech.  i is a colloquial variation of narete-iru ("is ned to"), from nareru ("become accus-
15	Mother:	been omitted after Yamashita n chi. Many particles get left out in coll コージ、なれてるう。 Yōji, narete-rū. (name) is accustomed/domesticated "Yōji's right at home (in the kitchen)!" (PL2) ハハハ Ha ha ha (laugh)	oquial speech.  is a colloquial variation of narete-iru ("is ned to"), from nareru ("become accustengthening the final u gives light emphaseeling here is that he makes himself right in the kitchen,  in the kitchen,
	Mother:	been omitted after Yamashita n chi. Many particles get left out in collection of the collection of t	oquial speech.  is a colloquial variation of narete-iru ("is ned to"), from nareru ("become accustengthening the final u gives light emphaseeling here is that he makes himself right in the kitchen,
	Mother:  Mother:  Sayuri:	been omitted after Yamashita n chi. Many particles get left out in coll コージ、なれてるう。 Yōji, narete-rū. (name) is accustomed/domesticated "Yōji's right at home (in the kitchen)!" (PL2)  ハハハ Ha ha ha (laugh)  サービス 奏者 の 男 は みんな 料理 うま Sābisu gyōsha no otoko wa minna ryōri um service industry member (=) men as-for all/everyone cooking good/s "Men in the service industry are all good cooks." (PL2)  そう かあ。そう だね。 Sō kā. Sō da ne. that way is it that way is, isn't it?/are, aren't they	oquial speech.  is a colloquial variation of narete-iru ("is ned to"), from nareru ("become accus-Lengthening the final u gives light emphaseeling here is that he makes himself right in the kitchen,  it v

18	O is a rough/masculine greeting, "hi/yo." Addressing one's listener with just his/her surname without -san also sounds very abrupt/masculine; for female speakers it is restricted to very infinal/close relationships.
	* gomen, from the honorific prefix go- and menjiru ("exempt/excuse has become an informal word for apologizing/begging pardon. kite is the -te form of kuru ("come"). The -te form here indicate the cause/reason for her apology. The syntax is inverted; norma order would be Ikinari kite gomen ne.	es
19	kata: 今日 は もう 出かけるなって 親 に いわれちゃって さ、けんかしてきちゃった。  Kyō wa mō dekakeru na tte oya ni iwarechatte sa, kenka shite kichatta. today as-for anymore don't go out (quote) parent(s) by was told-(regret) (emph.) fought-and-came-(regret) "I was told by my parents not to go out anymore today, and we had a fight."  "I had a fight with my parents because they, like, told me I shouldn't go out anymore today." (PL2)
	nyuri: あれ まあ。 Are mā. (interj.) (interj.)  "Oh, no/bummer. (Sorry to bear that)." (PL2)
	<ul> <li>mō ("already") followed by a negative becomes "no longer /not anymore." Typically the negative is the -nai for of a verb or adjective, but in this case it is the negative command indicated by na. Na after the plain/non-past form of verb makes an abrupt prohibition/negative command, "don't."</li> <li>iwarechatte is a contraction of iwarete shimatte, the -te form of iwareru ("be told," passive of iu, "say/tell") plus the form of shimau ("end/finish/put away"). Shimau after the -te form of another verb implies the action was regrettable/u desirable/counter to one's will.</li> <li>sa (or sometimes sā) is a particle used colloquially as a kind of verbal pause to draw attention to the preceding word/phrase, something like a teen's use of "like/you know" in colloquial English.</li> <li>kenka = "fight/argument" and kenka suru is its verb form (kenka shite is the -te form). Kichatta is a contraction of kshimatta, from kuru ("come") and shimau, again implying the action was regrettable/unwanted. A form of kuru after -te form of another verb often means the action was done/took place before the person came.</li> </ul>	a te in- kite
20	ayuri: ヨージ が めし つくってる から さ、いっしょ に くえば? Yōji ga meshi tsukutte-ru kara sa, issho ni kueba? (name) (subj.) meal is making because/so (emph.) together with if eat "Yōji's making us some dinner, so why don't you eat with us?" (PL2)
	<ul> <li>Yōji: こんちは。</li> <li>Konchi wa. * meshi is an informal word for "rice/meal," generally used more by men than women. As showed the putter clear by now, the female characters in this manga, especially the Yamashitas, have now reservations about using masculine forms among themselves — a pattern that is often true among close friends/family in real life as well. In some situations using such forms can make women sound rough, but here, among close friends/family, it simply creates a very casual atmosphere.</li> <li>* tsukutte-(i)ru* is the progressive ("is -ing") form of tsukuru ("make").</li> <li>* kueba is a conditional "if" form of kuu, an informal, mostly masculine word for "eat." In colloquial speech, conditional forms like -tara and -ba are spoken with the intonation of a question to mean "how about if?/why don't you ?</li> <li>* kanchi wa is an informal variation of kannichi wa, the standard daytime (usually afternoon) greeting, "hello."</li> </ul>	it al
21	kata: こんにちは。 Konnichi wa.  "Hello" (PL2)
22	 atashi is a variation of watashi ("I/me") used alm exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a distinctly feminine for an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a distinct by a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusively by women. It has a contraction of an exclusive by women. It has a contraction of an exclusive by women. It has a contraction of an exclusive by women. It h	feel.
	ened/informal form of suwatte-inasai, which is a relatively gentle command form of suwatte-iru (" sitting"), from suwaru ("sit down"). "Be sitting" "sit down and relax."
23	kata: でもー、 男 の 人 が 料理 なんてしてん のに  Demo-, otoka no hito ga ryōri nante shite-n noni but/however male (=) person (subj.) cooking (quote) is doing even though/when "But when a man is (in the kitchen) cooking"  • otoko no hito = "person who is male/male person" → "man"

24 Sakata: すわってても おちつかないです ょ ねえ。 ochitsukanai desu suwatte-te mo yo  $n\bar{e}$ . even if am sitting can't be settled/relaxed (emph.) (colloq.) "even if you're sitting down you can't relax, right?" "... it doesn't feel right to be sitting idly by doing nothing ... don't you think?" (PL3) なんで? Mom & Sayuri: そう? Sō? Nande? that way/really? why? "Really? Why?" (PL2) suwatte-te mo is a contraction of suwatte-ite mo, a conditional "even if" form of suwatte-iru ("be sitting"). ochitsukanai desu is an alternate PL3 form for ochitsukanai ("not be settled/relaxed"), from ochitsuku ("settle/ relax/become calm"). It feels a little less formal than ochitsukimasen, the more standard PL3 form. ne or në at the end of a sentence assumes or solicits agreement/confirmation either from the person being addressed or from a third party. Here it is a case of the latter: Sakata turns to Mrs. Yamashita on ne, expecting her to agree that it doesn't feel right to be doing nothing when a man is cooking. As the next two frames show, though, she is caught completely by surprise at the solidarity shown between mother and daughter. so literally means "that way," but when spoken with the intonation of a question it becomes "is it that way?/is it so?/really?" nande is an informal naze, "why?" 25 Sakata: "Huh?" (PL2) 26 Sakata: アハハ... アハハ... A ha ha . . . a ha ha . . . (nervous/embarrassed laugh) まあ、すわって お茶 でも のみなって。 Mother: suwatte o-cha demo nomina (interj.) sit-and (hon.)-tea or something drink (quote). "Come on, sit down and have some tea (or something)." (PL2) mā is a soft/gentle-sounding interjection/"verbal warm-up" that adapts to fit its context, and gives a tone of moderation — "well now/all right." At the beginning of an invitation/offer, it often feels like "please," but here that sounds too formal → "come on." suwatte is the -te form of suwaru ("sit down"); the -te form here is like "and"; "sit down and . . ." cha = "tea"; o-cha, with the honorific prefix o-, typically means "green tea" — though it can also be used as a more generic word for any kind of tea. demo, "or something," is often added to invitations/offers/suggestions to lend a touch of polite vagueness. It may or may not mean that the person actually has a choice of several items besides the item mentioned. Here, she probably just means "have some tea." nomina is a shortened/colloquial form of nominasai, a relatively gentle command form of nomu ("drink"). tte is a colloquial quotative form sometimes placed at the end of a sentence for strong emphasis, like "... I say/I tell you." 27 Yoji: さあ、 できた。 dekita. (interj.) finished/ready "All right, it's ready." (PL2) Mother: わーい。 Wa-i! (exclam.) "Hurray!" (PL2) sā is another interjection that adapts widely to context. It's often used like "well now/all right" to signal an impending event/action — in this case, the beginning of the meal, not the act of finishing the preparation. dekita is the plain/abrupt past form of dekiru, meaning "is finished/done/ready" for things that are being made, such as food/a meal. 28 Mom & Sayuri: いただきまあす。 Itadakimāsu. will receive/partake "Let's dig in." (PL2) itadakimasu, the PL3 form of itadaku ("receive") is the customary phrase spoken at the beginning of a meal, essentially expressing gratitude to the person who has prepared the meal. In a more formal situation it could be translated as "much obliged" or "thank you," but since the Yamashita's seem to be such an informal family, and since the lengthening of the ma adds to the informal/casual feeling, we decided to go with "dig in" - though we should note that the Japanese phrase actually sounds more polite than that even in an informal situation. The customary phrase for after the meal is gochisō-sama (deshita), which roughly means "thank you for a fine feast/re-

30 Sayuri: なに、サカタ、 ない 0)? 食欲 nai no? Nani, Sakata, shokuyoku appetite not have/not exist (explan.-?) (name) "What's the matter, Sakata. No appetite?" (PL2) いや、とっても おいしい です。 Sakata: 2! Iva. tottemo oishii E!?desu. delicious/tasty what/huh no very "Hunh? Oh no. It's very good." (PL3) shokuyoku = "desire to eat/appetite," and shokuyoku (ga) nai = "have no appetite/not be hungry." in colloquial speech it's quite common for questions to be asked using explanatory no, especially among female iyo has many meanings, but here it is an informal "no." tottemo is a colloquial variation of totemo ("very/tremendously/exceedingly"). Adding the small tsu gives it an even more emphatic feeling. 31 の 人 の 料理 食べん の なんて はじめて なんでェ... きんちょうしちゃって。 Sakata: Otoko no hito no ryōri taben no nante hajimete nandē... kinchō shichatte. tensed up-(unintended)-(cause) male (=) person of cooking eat (nom.) (quote) first time because it is "I'm just kind of on edge because it's the first time I've eaten a man's cooking." (PL2) Others: そう tc 0)? Sō na no? that way (explan.-?) "Really?" (PL2) taben is a colloquial contraction of taberu ("eat"). The particle o, to mark ryōri as the direct object of this verb has been omitted before taben. no is a "nominalizer" that makes the complete thought/sentence before it (otoko no hito no ryōri [o] taberu = "[1] eat a man's cooking") into a noun. Nante is a quotative form used after nouns to imply the item(s) mentioned is/ are extraordinary/astonishing. hajimete is a noun meaning "the first time," and nande is a contraction of na-node, the form node ("because") takes after nouns: "because it is." Hajimete na-node = "because it is the first time." She elongates the end of the word nande (to nande), a sign of hesitation/indecisiveness. kinchō shichatte is a contraction of kinchō shite shimatte, the -te form of kinchō suru ("become tense/tense up") plus the -te form of shimau ("end/finish/put away"). A form of shimau after the -te form of another verb implies the action is/was undesirable/unintended. The -te form of shimau is being used to indicate cause/reason: she is explaining the reason why she isn't digging in as enthusiastically as the others. 32 サカタ。 Sayuri: へんな Sakata. Hen-na strange/odd (name) "Sakata's weird." (PL2) Yōji: ハハハハ Ha ha ha ha (laugh) 33 ٤ 思う けど... そう? ふつう ない Sakata: to omou kedo . . . Futsū nai that way normally not exist (quote) think but "Really? Normally, I think (a man's cooking) doesn't exist, but . . ." "Really? Usually men don't cook, do they." (PL2) the exact meaning of this response is unclear. It could be interpreted as "I think most people don't have the experience of eating a man's cooking," with the nai ("not exist") referring to "experience." futsū is a noun referring to a "normal/ordinary situation," and strictly speaking wa ("as for") to mark this noun as the topic of the sentence has been omitted: futsii wa = "as for the normal situation." Since this is what the English adverbs "normally/usually" mean, futsii is often best translated as an adverb. kedo ("but") is used here merely to "soften" the end of the sentence. 34 Sayuri: へんな ハハハハハハハ 000 Ha ha ha ha ha ha no. Hen-na strange/odd one/person (laugh) "You're weird, (laugh)" (PL2) no can be used as a pronoun in place of a common noun, like "one" is often used in English; in this case no can more specifically be thought of as standing in for "person": hen-na no = "(you are) a weird one/person" -"you're weird."

35	Sayuri:	いってらっしゃあい。 Itterasshaai. "Good-bye!" (PL3)
	•	itterasshai is the standard phrase used to send off someone leaving for work, school, an errand, or any other excursion/outing from which the person will return home: "bye/see you later/have a nice day/etc." The phrase is actually a contraction of itte irasshai, literally, "go and come (home)" spoken in command form. They are presumably headed for the night clubs where they work.
36	Sakata:	ひー、これで やっと 話せる。  Hii, kore de yatto hanaseru.  (sigh) this with finally can talk  "Whew, now we can finally talk." (PL2)  * kore de is literally "with this," implying "now at this point/having come to this" → "now."  * hanaseru is the potential ("can/able to") form of hanasu ("talk/converse").
	Sayuri:	* a is an interjection showing sudden understanding/realization.  * a is an interjection showing sudden understanding/realization.  * Oh." (PL2)
37		だから だまってた んだ。  Dakara damatte-ta n da. therefore was quiet (explan.)  "So that's why you were so quiet." (PL2)
1	:	damatte-(i)ta is the plain/abrupt past form of damatte-iru ("is quiet/says nothing"), from damaru ("fall silent"). she uses the explanatory n da because she is stating the explanation she has figured out for herself.
38		べつに ヨージや ハハ の 前 で言ってもいい のに。  Betsu-ni Yōji ya Haha no mae de itte mo ii no ni.  not particularty (name) and mother of front in/at if say is fine/okay even though  "Even though speaking up in front of Mother and Yōji is not particularly a problem."  "You don't have to be shy about speaking up in front of Mother and Yōji." (PL2)
	Sakata:	え〜? だって、そんな の できない よ、 はずかしくて。 E-? Datte, sonna no dekinai yo, hazukashikute. what? but that kind of one/thing cannot do (emph.) embarrassing-(cause) "Wha-a-at? But I could never do a thing like that. It'd be too embarrassing." (PL2)
	:	betsu-ni is usually followed by a negative to make the meaning "not in particular," but betsu-niii (ii = "good/fine/okay") is a special case meaning "is not particularly a problem/nothing to particularly worry about" → "is fine."  ya is used to mean "and" between two or more items in a list, often with the implication that still more items could be added.  datte = "but," often carrying a note of protest/objection.  no here stands in for "thing": sonna no = "that kind of thing" → "a thing like that."  dekinai is the negative form of dekiru, meaning "can do."  hazukashikute is the -te form of hazukashii, "be embarrassed/ashamed." The -te form is used because she is stating the cause/reason for saying dekinai ("cannot do"). The syntax is inverted; normal order would be sonna no hazukashikute dekinai yo.
39	Sayuri:	そう かなあ。あたしは 話す けど な。 Sō ka nō. Atashi wa hanasu keda na. that way is it perhaps? I/mc as-for speak up but (colloq.) "You really think so? If it were me, I'd speak up." (PL2)
	Sakata:	川下 んとこは 特殊 だもん。 Yamashita n toko wa tokushu da mon. (name)/you 's place as-for special/exceptional is because "That's because you guys are different." (PL2)
	Sound FX:	シャー Sha (Sound of water running through a shower-type faucet head) ka na asks a conjectural question, "I wonder (if)/is it perhaps (that)?" Lengthening the last vowel emphasizes the conjecture, so it becomes "I really wonder if it is (that way)?" → "Do you really think so?" — referring to the fact that Sakata thinks it would be embarrassing to speak up about her problems in front of the others. wa in this case not only makes atashi the topic, but sets up a contrast: "I/me as opposed to/in contrast to (you)" → "if it were me"  n is a contraction of possessive no, and toka is a contraction of tokoro ("place"), tokushu refers to something "special/exceptional" → "different."  mon is a contraction of mono, which here is an explanatory form implying "that's because"
40		特殊 ねえ。 Tokushu nē. special/exceptional (colloq.) "Different, hunh?" (PL2)

41	Sayuri:	じゃ、紅茶 でも いれる わ。  Ja, kōcha demo ireru wa. well/then black tea or something will make (fem. colloq.)  "Well then, I'll make some tea." (PL2)	<ul> <li>ja is a contraction of dewa, literally meaning "in that case/then" but often used like "well/well then."</li> <li>kōcha, written with kanji meaning "red/crimson" and "tea" refers to what we call "black tea" in English.</li> </ul>
	Sakata:	サンキュ。 Sankyu. "Thanks." (PL2)	<ul> <li>ireru = "put in," or when speaking of coffee/tea, "make/pour."</li> <li>sankyu (more typically with a long final vowel, sankyū) is the katakana renderings of English "thank you." The</li> </ul>
42	Sayuri:	そうだ。さいしょに きくけど、 Sō da. Saisho ni kiku kedo, that way is first/beginning at will ask but "Oh, yeah. I ask this at the beginning but" (PL2)	word is favored by many because it sounds less formal/ stiff than arigato/sumimasen/domo/etc.
	Sakata:	ん? N? yeah/uh-huh "Yeah?" (PL2)
		sö da is literally "it is so/that way," but it's used idiom you have a sudden thought/idea, or when you rememb saisho = "the first/the outset/the beginning," and saish	atically like "Oh, I know/Oh, that's right/Oh, yeah" when er something you intended/needed to do. o ni = "at the outset/beginning."
43	Sayuri:	dotchi no otoko no koto? which guy about thing "About which guy?"	dotchi is a colloquial dochira ("which one [of two]"). The word functions as a noun, so no is required for it to modify another noun: dotchi no otoko = "which man/guy." no koto is literally "things of/about," but it's often best thought of simply as "about."
44	Sakata:	えと / どっちも なの。 Eto / dotchi mo na no. umm/urr both (explan.) "Umm(actually) it's both." (PL2)
	Narration:	タカシ (18) ヒロタ ヒデキ (19) Takashi (18) Hirota Hideki (19) (given name) (age) (surname) (given name) (age) Takashi (18) Hirota Hideki (19)
	Sayuri:	あー ね。 Ā ne. (interj.) (colloq.) "Ahh, right." (PL2) dotchi = "which one (of two)" and dotchi mo = "both."
45	Sayuri:		なかったんだ っけ? nakatta n da kke? as it not? (explan.) (recall)
	Sayuri:	たしか さいごに きいた の は そう だ ぞ。 Tashika saigo ni kiita no wa sō da zo. I think last heard (nom.) as-for that way is/was (emph.) "I'm pretty sure that's the last I heard." (PL2)
		それ が Sore ga that (subj.) "Well" to)"  da kke at the end of a sentence means the speaker is the him/herself about something he/she recalls.	or in this context, "leave/break up with"). explanatory n(o) makes it "wasn't it that (you were going ninking back and trying to recall something, or questioning an adverb without the particle ni after it like this, it implies
		a more tentative "I think/if I'm not mistaken/I'm prett kiita is the plain/abrupt past form of kiku ('hear/listen	v sure."

To be continued . . .

Warau Sērusuman

(Part 2)

by 藤子不二雄 (A) Fujiko Fujio (A)

The series:

Warau Sērusuman ("[The] Laughing Salesman") features a kind of black humor not generally associated with Japanese manga. Nevertheless, this title, moderately successful in print form, enjoyed a huge boom in popularity when it was shown in animated form on the Japanese TV series "Gimme a Break" (ギミア・ぶれいく).

The stories feature alecherously grinning "salesman" named Moguro Fukuzō who, under the guise of being helpful and sympathetic, sets people up for failure and disappointment. To provide background and help put this manga in perspective, see our interview with creator Fujiko Fujio (A) on page 28 of this issue.

The artist:

Fujiko Fujio is the pen name of a now-defunct duo of manga artists who share the credit for a string of hit titles, including the manga masterwork ドラえもん (Doraemon). The two artists first drew manga together while still in elementary school, and shortly after high school graduation, they were drawing manga professionally. They gradually achieved success in the world of manga, working together until 1988. In the beginning they worked on stories as a team, but later began to do separate titles, eventually dissolving the partnership because their styles had become separate and distinct. They maintained some of their former identity by adopting the pen names "Fujiko Fujio (A)" (Abiko Motō), and "Fujiko F. Fujio" (Fujimoto Hiroshi).

The story so far:

Salaryman Onchi Hideshi (his name is a pun on onchi 音地, "tone deaf[ness]") is out singing karaoke with his colleagues one night. When he takes a break from singing, however, he is surprised to find that his friends have sneaked out. Sitting in their place is Moguro Fukuzō, the Laughing Salesman.

Complimenting Onchi on his voice, Moguro suggests that he try singing in a more professional venue, with costumes, a proper stage and an audience. "You stand in the spotlight and sing to the audience's thunderous applause," Moguro promises. Onchi agrees, and they travel (via a lavish karaoke-equipped minibus) to the Super Music Hall.

Moguro flashes his membership card and the two are admitted to this karaoke hall of dreams. After choosing a costume and getting made up like a star, Onchi is all set to perform, but when he sees the huge audience, he is overcome with stage fright. Not to worry, says Moguro, it's only a virtual reality audience anyway. Onchi is abruptly pushed on stage, and Part Two begins.

Warau Sērusuman © Fujiko Fujio (A). All rights reserved. First published in Japan in 1969 by Chuo Koronsha, Tokyo, English translation rights arranged through Chuo Koronsha.

1 Sound FX:

Dowa-!

(a burst of approving oohs & ahs/cheers from crowd)

Sound FX:

Pachi pachi pachi pachi pachi pachi pachi Clap clap clap clap clap clap clap clap (applause)

2 Moguro:

Onchi-san! Dokyō tsukute utau n desu!
"Mr. Onchi! Be brave and sing." (PL2)

- dokyō="nerve/guts/boldness"; dokyō(ga) aru="have courage/guts," and dokyō(o) tsukete is the -te form of dokyō(o) tsukeru = "gather/muster (one's) courage."
   Tsukeru, literally "attach," has many idiomatic meanings, including "to don/put on" and "to kindle/ignite."
- n desu is a contraction of the explanatory no plus desu ("is/are"). A non-past verb followed by a firmly spoken n(o) da/desu can serve as a command.

3 Sound FX:

Ja ja-n (effect of dramatic/fateful moment)

Onchi:

Yōshi!

"All right, here goes!" (PL2)

yoshi (or yōshi) is an exclamatory/interjectory form of the adjective ii/yoi ("good/fine"). It's often used to show that one is ready to begin an action ("okay/all right, I'm gonna do it/let's do it").

4 Onchi: (singing)

O-re wa madorosu / nanatsu no umi o-...
"I am a sailor, over the seven seas..."

- madorosu is from Dutch "matroos," referring to a "sailor/seaman."
- nanatsu, the number nana ("seven") plus the generic counter-suffix -tsu, functions as a noun. No can reflect a wide variety of relationships between two nouns, but basically makes the first noun into a modifier for the second.

5 Onchi: (singing)

Shiranami ketatete susumi-yuku-.

"I kick up white waves as I press ever onward." (PL2)

Umi no otoko nya onna wa iranu"A man of the sea has no need of women—"
(PL2)

- shira- is from shiro ("white"); the final vowel often changes to a in combinations.
- ketatete is the -te form of ketateru, from keru ("kick") and tateru ("stand/raise [something] up").
- susumi is the stem form of susumu ("advance/go forward"), and yuku is an alternate form for iku ("go"), often used in combinations.
- nya is a contraction of ni wa, the particles ni ("for/ to") + wa (topic marker, "as for").
- iranu is an archaic equivalent of iranai ("not need"), from iru ("need").

Onchi: (singing)

Kamome o tomo ni hoshizora o

"With seagulls as my companions, into the starry sky, . . ."

nagamete omou furusato no yama-.

"I gaze as my thoughts return to the (distant) hills of home."
(PL2)

Sound FX:

Dowa-!

(a burst of approving oohs & ahs/cheers from crowd)

Sound FX:

Pachi pachi pachi pachi pachi pachi Clap clap clap clap clap clap (applause)

- · the particle ni here means "as."
- hoshizora is from hoshi ("star[s]") and sora ("sky"; s changes to z in combinations for euphony).
- nagamete is the -te form of nagameru ("look/gaze at"). The -te form here makes the word an adverb for omou ("remember/recollect/think back to").
- furusato refers to one's "old home town/native place." The word traditionally evokes the image of a small country village where one's family still lives and to which one's heartstrings are drawn.

8 Onchi:

A-, chouo ii koto atte ne.

"Yeah, there is a bit of a good thing."

"Yeah, I've got something good going (lately)." (PL2)

Colleague:

O-yasukunai na. / Konban hanashi o kikasete kure yo. Karaoketsuki de mo ii kara.

"Sounds serious! Tell me about it tonight. I'll even put up with some karaoke." (PL2)

- o- is honorific, and yasukunai is the negative form of the adjective yasui, in this case meaning "easy/simple." The phrase o-yasukunai is used to tease someone one suspects is hiding something interesting. The colleague seems to think that Onchi has a girlfriend he's keeping quiet about.
- -tsuki (from tsuku, "stick/attach") is a suffix meaning the item it follows "is/will be attached/included."

9 Onchi:

Warui kedo, konya mo chotto ne.

"Sorry, but I'm a bit (tied up) tonight, too." (PL2) warui literally means "bad," but it's often used as an informal apology: "it's bad of me" → "sorry."

Moguro:

Iya-, maru-de puro mitai deshita yo!
"Wow, that was just like a pro!" (PL3)

Onchi:

Dōmo, dōmo, dōmo.

"Thank you, thank you, thank you." (PL3) maru-de... da/desu = "is just/exactly like..." The pattern often includes another form meaning "is like,"

such as mitai or yō, later in the sentence.

Onchi:

Honto ni, mō, saikō no kibun desu! Mata zehi tsurete kite kudasai!

"I really feel like I'm on top of the world! Please, by all means, bring me here again!" (PL3)

- m\(\overline{o}\) is literally "already," but here it functions as an interjection that adds exclamatory emphasis,
- saikō is a noun meaning "the highest/paramount/best," and saikō no kibun = "highest/best feeling/mood."

Moguro:

Onchi-san, kore o dozo.

"Mr. Onchi, please accept this." (PL3)

dozo is a polite word widely used when offering something, especially food or drink. It corresponds to English "please" in the sense of "please take/eat/drink/have" rather than "please give me." See Basic Japanese 9.

4 Moguro:

Koko no menbāzu kādo desu.

"It's a membership card for this place." (PL2)

Onchi:

E-! Ko- kore o watashi ni?

"What? (You're giving) this to me?" (PL2)

 menbāzu kādo is from English "members' card" → "membership card."

Moguro:

E, dōzo go-jiyū ni o-tsukai kudasai. Tadashi . . . "Yes, please use it freely. But (there's one condition:)" (PL4)

- go- is honorific and jiyū = "freedom/liberty"; ni indicates manner, so it turns go-jiyū into an adverb, "freely/without restraint/however you wish."
- o-tsukoi kudasai is a PL4 equivalent of tsukatte kudasai ("please use") from tsukau ("use").
- todashi means "but" when stating "conditions/provisos."

6 Moguro:

sore wa anata hitori no kādo desu kara, hoka no hito wa zettai-ni tsurete konai yō-ni!

"That card is for you alone, so you must absolutely never bring anyone else with you!" (PL3)

Onchi:

 $Ha-h\bar{a}...$

 yō-ni after a non-past verb can make a gentle command.

"I- I see . . ." (PL3)

Onchi:

Fufun fun fu-n (cheerful humming)

Colleague:

Oya, Onchi, kono tokoro gokigen da na. "Say, Onchi, you seem to be in a great mood these days." (PL2) 1 Onchi: (singing)

O-re wa sabishii hagure-mono-...

"I am just a lonely outcast ..." (PL2)

Omae o sutete hitori saru—.
"Giving you up, I go away alone." (PL2)

- hagure-mono comes from hagureru ("stray/become separated from [one's companions/group]"). The stem of a verb plus the suffix -mono often implies "a person who (did the action/received the action)."
- sutete is the -te form of suteru ("discard/abandon").
   The -te form makes the word into an adverb for suru ("depart/go away").

Onchi: (singing)

Musebu kiteki ga wakare no uta yo-.

"The choked up notes of the train whistle are our parting song." (PL2)

Sound FX:

Dowa-!

(a burst of approval from crowd)

Sound FX:

Pachi pachi pachi pachi Clap clap clap clap (applause)

 musebu = "be choked" — in this case implying "choked with tears/sobs."

3 Sign:

BAR Ma-no-su

The Demon's Lair Bar

4 Moguro:

Onchi-san, kono tokoro asoko e kayoizume rashii ja nai desu ka?

"Mr. Onchi, I understand you've been going there a lot recently." (PL3)

Onchi:

Sō na n desu. Mikka ni ichido wa ikanai to . . . "That's right. If I don't go at least once every three days . . ." (PL2) kayoizume is from kayou ("commute/go back and forth to regularly"). The verb suffix -zume implies the action takes place frequently/repeatedly or constantly/without break.

 rashii follows the plain form of a verb (present or past) and implies a conjecture based on something heard/seen/read → "is apparently/seems to be/I understand that..."

 ikanai is the negative form of iku ("go"). To after a non-past verb can make a conditional "if/when" meaning.

5 Moguro:

Ki ga yasumaranai to iu wake desu ka? "You get restless — is that it?" (PL3)

Moguro:

Sore wa kekkō-na koto desu. "That's splendid." (PL3)

- yasumaranai is the negative form of yasumaru ("be calmed/comforted/rested"). Ki ga yasumaranai is an expression for being "restless/dissatisfied/unable to be satisfied."
- wake = "situation/reason/explanation," and the expression... to iu wake desu ka asks literally "is the situation/reason/explanation that...?"

kekkō-na = "fine/excellent/splendid"

Moguro:

Watashi mo o-susume shita kai ga atta to iu mono desu na. "It makes it worth my having urged you (to go)." (PL3-4)

Onchi

Honto ni saikō-na tokoro o shōkai shite itadane . . .

"I'm truly (grateful) for you having introduced me to such a wonderful place." (PL3-4)

- o-susume shita is the past form of o-susume suru, a PL4 equivalent of susumeru ("suggest/urge/recommend").
- kai = "(worthwhile) effect/results/fruits"; kai ga atta is the plain/abrupt past form of kai ga aru ("has worthwhile effect/result" -> "is worthwhile").
- ... to in mono desu is literally "the situation/explanation is ..."; the expression is essentially similar to ... to in wake desu, seen above in question form. Na adds colloquial emphasis.
- saikō-na is the adjective form of the noun saikō seen above: "highest/ best." Colloquially, the word often simply means "great/wonderful," so saikō-na tokoro = "great/wonderful place,"
- shōkai shite is the -te form of shōkai suru ("introduce"), and itadaite is the -te form of itadaku ("receive"). A form of itadaku after the -te form of another verb implies the speaker or subject received the benefit of the action. Using the -te form of itadaku implies an expression of gratitude;
  "having received the benefit of an introduction . . . . I thank you,"

7 Onchi:

Kimi-ra ga anmari shitsukoku tsureteke, tsureteke to iu mon da kara

"(I'm only doing this) because you guys pestered me so persistently, 'Take us along, take us along.'" (PL2) anmari in an affirmative sentence means "so much," and shitsukoku is the adverb form of shitsukoi ("persistent/tenacious"), so anmari shitsukoku . . . iu = "say so persistently" → "bugged/pestered me so persistently."

8 Colleague 2:

Mottai tsukete sõ itte-iru n da yo.

"They're just blowing things out of proportion." (PL2)

Colleague 3:

Sō da. Ato de takaku menbāzu kādo uritsukeru tame ni....
"That's right. It's for the purpose of selling membership cards to us later at a high price."

"Yeah. It's a ruse to charge us more for membership cards later." (PL2) mottai (o) tsukeru means to "exaggerate/attach undue importance (to something)" in an effort to impress the listener.

1 Onchi:

Demo chikagoro döryö ga "Omae dokka ii tokoro mitsuketa n daro. Tsureteke, tsureteke," tte urusakute...

"But recently my colleagues keep bugging me, saying 'You've found a good place (to go out to) haven't you? Take us along, take us along'." (PL2)

- tsureteke is a contraction of tsurete ike, the abrupt command form of tsurete iku ("take [someone] along").
- tte is a colloquial equivalent of quotative to, and urusakute is the -te form of urusai ("noisy/pesky"), so . . . tte urusakute impies "(they are) noisy/pesky, saying . . ." → "they keep bugging me, saying . . ."

<sup>2</sup> Onchi

Moguro-san, chorotto dake tsuretetcha ikemasen ka në?

"Mr. Moguro, would it really be no good if I took them along only a tiny bit?"

"Mr. Moguro, couldn't I take them along just once?" (PL3)

Moguro:

Ikemasen! Zettai-ni! "No! Absolutely not!" (PL3)

- chorotto is a colloquial variation of chotto ("a little bit"), with the feeling of "a tiny little bit."
- tsuretetcha is a contraction of tsurete itte wa, from tsurete iku. The -te wa form of a verb makes a conditional "if" meaning.

Moguro:

Ano kādo wa anata dake no kādo desu!
"That card is only for you!" (PL3)

Hoka no hito o tsurete ittara subete wa owari desu yo!

"If you take anyone else along, it's all over!"
(PL3)

- · tsurete ittara is a conditional "if" form of tsurete iku.
- the emphatic yo here comes close to the feeling of "I'm warning you!"

Onchi:

Ne, kon'ya ichido dake da yo, ichido dake!
"Hey, it's just this once tonight. Just this once!" (PL2)

Colleague 1:

Wakatteru tte. "We know!" (PL2)

 the colloquial quotative tte is essentially for emphasis. It can be thought of literally as "(I/we know that), I say!"

5 Onchi:

Zettai-ni hoka no hito o tsurete kicha dame da to iwarete-iru n da.

"I've been told I must absolutely never bring anyone else." (PL2) tsurete kicha in a contraction of tsurete kite wa, from tsurete kuru ("bring [someone] along"). Tsurete kite wa and tsurete kitara in the next frame are both conditional "if" forms of tsurete kuru.

6 Moguro:

Hoka no hito o tsurete kitara subete wa owari desu vo!

"If you bring anyone else along, it's all over!"
(PL3)

1 Colleague 1:

Oi, mada kai? / Zuibun tōi na.
"Hey, is it not yet? It's considerably far."
"Hey, are we about there? It sure is a long way." (PL2)

- oi is a relatively rough/abrupt way of getting someone's attention: "Hey!" or "Yo!"
- kal is a colloquial ka, for questions, but with a softer, friendlier tone.

Onchi:

Mō sugu da. Tsugi no intā o deta saki da.

"Now it's close. It's ahead after exiting the next interchange."

"We're getting close now. It's just off the next exit." (PL2)

- intā is shortened from intāchenji, the full katakana rendering of English "interchange."
- deta is the plain/abrupt past form of deru ("to exit").
- saki = "ahead"; deta saki = "abead after exiting."

Colleague 3:

Bakka ja nai? Konna toko made karaoke utai ni kuru nante...

"Is this ridiculous or what? — coming all this way to sing karaoke." (PL2)

- bakka is a colloquial variation of baka ("foolish/ crazy/ridiculous").
- ja nai is a contraction of de wa nai, "is not," so bakka ja nai looks like "is not foolish/ridiculous," but in this case it's being spoken as a rhetorical question:
  "Is this ridiculous? It sure is!" The feeling is essentially like "Is this ridiculous or what?"
- toko is a contraction of tokoro ("place"), and made =
   "as far as," so konna toko made is literally "as far as this kind of place" → "all the way to this kind of place" → "all this way."
- utai is the stem of utau ("sing"), and ni indicates purpose, so utai ni (kuru) = "(come) for the purpose of singing" → "(come) to sing."
- nante is a colloquial quotative form implying that what precedes it is somehow ridiculous/silly.

4 Colleagues:

O-! "Wow!" (PL2)

Colleague 3:

Korya sugoi ya! "This is incredible!" (PL2)

Onchi:

Naka e haittara motto bikkuri suru zo.
"You'll be even more amazed when you get inside." (PL2)

- · korya is a contraction of kore wa ("as for this").
- · ya is a colloquial exclamatory particle.
- haittara is a conditional "if/when" form of hairu ("enter").
- zo is a rough masculine particle for emphasis.

6 Hostess:

Anō, menbā no kata dake de, / gesuto no kata no nyūjō wa o-kotowari shite-ru n desu ga.

"I'm sorry but (we're open) only to members, / and we don't admit guests." (PL3-4) anō is a hesitation word like "uhh/um," except that it sounds much more polite. In a face to face encounter it often fills in where English speakers would say "Excuse me, but . . ." or "I'm sorry, but . . ."

- kata, which originally meant "direction," is a polite word for "person" — more polite than hito. No in this case is like "who is," so menhā no kata (literally, "person who is a member") is a polite way of saying "member."
- o-kotowari shite-(i)ru is a PL4 equivalent of kotowatte-iru ("are refusing"), from kotowaru ("refuse"). Nyūjō refers to "entering an event site," so nyūjo o kotowaru = "refuse admission/not admit."

Onchi:

Sonna koto iwazu ni kore de nantoka . . .

"Without saying that kind of thing, With this, somehow . . ."

"Don't be so inflexible. Perhaps this can persuade you." (PL2)

Kengaku shite morau dake da kara.

"(Because) it's only to have them observe."

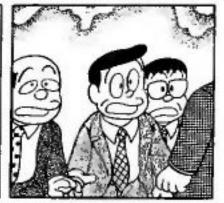

"They only want to observe." (PL2)

- iwazu ni is an idiomatic remnant of classical Japanese equivalent to iwanaide ("without saying"), the negative -te form of iu ("say"). Sonna koto iwazu ni is an expression used when trying to get your listener to change his/her mind about what he/she has just said: "Don't say that."
- kengaku, written with kanji meaning "look" and "learn," refers to "field observation" or "on-site study visits/tours" of factories, schools, government offices, etc. It would not normally be used in the context of an entertainment hall unless the visitor was in the entertainment business himself.

5 Colleague 3:

Nandaka aitsu, sukkari sutā-kidori da nā.

"He's acting like (he really thinks) he's a star or something." (PL2)

- nandako is a "softener" for statements about how something appears/ seems: "somehow/somewhat/sort of/vaguely (it seems like) . . ."
- sukkori = "completely/really"
- kidori refers to "an affectation/posturing," and X-kidori implies "acting like X,"

6 Colleague 3:

O- oi, sugoi ja nai ka!

"H- hey! This is incredible!" (PL2)

Colleague 3:

A-, honkaku-teki da na.

"Yeah, it's like the real thing." (PL2)

- ja nai ko is literally the question "is it not?" but here the question is purely rhetorical, and the statement is actually a strong assertion/exclamation.
- honkaku-teki = "is in earnest/full-scale/full-dress" → "is the real thing."

1 Onchi:

Koko ga ishō-shitsu da yo!

"This is the costume room!" (PL2)

Colleague 3:

 $H\bar{e}$ -!

"Yow!" (PL2)

 ishō = "clothing/wardrobe/costume(s)," and -shitsu is a suffix meaning "room."

2 Hostess:

Kon'ya no kosuchūmu wa dö nasaimasu?

"What will you do about tonight's costume?"

"What costume would you like tonight?" (PL4)

Onchi:

So da na . . .

"Let's see . . ." (PL2)

- kosuchūmu is a katakana rendering of English "costume."
- do = "what/how," and nasaimasu is the polite form of the PL4 word nasaru ("do"), equivalent to the PL2 suru, so do nasaimasu? = do suru? = "what will you do?"
- sō ("that way") + da ("is") + na ("isn't it?") can be an expression of agreement, but it's also commonly used like this to indicate that the speaker is pondering his answer: "let's see . . ."

3 Onchi:

Kon'ya wa seishun-mono de ikō to omotte . . . "Tonight I thought I'd go with something vouthful," (PL2)

- seishun ="springtime of life/bloom of youth" →
  "youth." The suffix -mono (literally "thing/item") here essentially refers to a "genre/category," so seishunmono is more literally "youth category (song)."
- ikō is the volitional ("let's/I shall/I think I'll") form of iku ("go").
- omotte is the -te form of omou ("think"). The -te form is often used to state the cause/reason for something in this case the reason for his choice of costume; a student's uniform.

Onchi:

Ja, kore kara meiku shite kuru no de, otaku-tachi wa kyakuseki e dōzo!

"Well, now I have to go get my make-up, so you people can proceed to your seats." (PL3)

Colleagues:

 $H\bar{a}\dots$

"Okay ... " (PL3)

- ja is a contraction of the conjunction dewa, "in that case/then/well."
- meiku is a rendering of the English word "make," from "make-up," which is variously rendered メークアップ mēku appu, or メーキャップ mēkyappu in full. Meiku shite is the -te form of meiku suru, a verb for "put on make-up."
- kuru after the -te form of a verb is often equivalent to "go do (the action)."
- otaku is literally "your home/your company," but in many contexts is a polite way of saying "you." -Tachi makes it plural.
- kyakuseki is literally "guest seat"; it's used to refer to the seats in any public hall.
- ... e dōzo politely urges the listener to go to the specified place.
- hā is a very tentative/uncertain hai ("yes/okay").

1 Hostess:

Sorosoro deban desu.

"It's almost your turn to go on." (PL3)

Onchi:

Yōshi! Harikitte ikō!

"All right! I'm gonna knock 'em dead!" (PL2)

- sorosoro literally means "slowly/gradually/by and by," but it's frequently used idiomatically to imply "It's about time for" some action — here, the action of going on stage.
- deban comes from the stem of deru ("go out/appear [on stage]") and ban ("turn").
- harikitte is the -te form of harikiru ("be enthusiastic/ energetic [at some activity]"), and ikō is the volitional ("let's/I shall") form of iku ("go"). Harikitte ikō expresses one's intent to "go at it with gusto/give it one's all."

Onchi: (singing)

A-, ki-mi no hitomi ni-

"Ahh, in those eyes of yours . . ."

 hitomi strictly speaking refers to "pupil (of the eye)," but it's also used as an elegant/poetic word for "eye(s)."

Onchi:

A! "Oh no!" (PL2)

Sound FX:

Jā-n (effect of dramatic/arresting moment)

Onchi:

A-! Moguro-san! "Urrr, Mr. Moguro!" (PL3)

Moguro:

Onchi-san! Anata wa yakusoku o yaburimashita ne!

"Mr. Onchi, you violated our agreement."
(PL3)

- yakusoku = "promise/agreement"
- yaburimashita is the PL3 past form of yaburu ("tear," or when speaking of promises/agreements, "break/violate").

6 Onchi:

A, gesuto no koto desu ka? Anmari iwareta node, chotto tsurete kita n desu.

"Oh, is it about my guests? Because they said so much, I brought them along a little."

"Oh, you mean my guests? They bugged me so much I (finally) sort of brought them along." (PL3)

- iwareta is the past form of iwareru, passive of in ("say"); anmari iwareta (node) = "so much was said to me" → "they bugged me so much."
- chotto ("a little") in this case is essentially just a "soft-ener/minimizer": he's trying to make his action seem as small/insignificant as possible, something like "sort of/kind of" in English.
- tsurete kita is the past form of tsurete kuru ("bring [someone] along").
- n is a contraction of explanatory no, used because be is trying to explain his action.

7 Onchi:

Mõ zettai-ni tsurete kimasen kara.

"I'll absolutely never bring them again, so..." (PL3)

Moguro:

Imasara teokure to iu mono desu!

"It's too late (for you to be saying that) now!" (PL3)

- mō ("already") followed by a negative becomes "not . . . anymore/never . . . again."
- imasara means "now," implying "now at this late point/now after what has happened."
   teokure = "too late/beyond remedy"

8 Moguro:

Anata wa koko de utau shikaku ga naku narimashita!
"You have lost your right to sing here!" (PL3)

- koko de utau ("[you] sing here") modifies shikaku = "qualification/right."
- naku is the adverb form of nai ("not exist/not be present," for inanimate things), and narimashita is the PL3 past form of naru = "become": "become not here" → "disappear/become lost."

9 Sound FX:

Don! Boom

(effect of loud, dull sound, here representing keeling over in shock)

sono uchi hitori de karaoke o utau otaku karaoke kapuseru to iu no ga dekiru n ja nai deshō ka në.

"I wonder if we'll eventually have karaoke capsules, where karaoke buffs can sing all by themselves." (PL3)

Hō! ho! ho! ho. (grotesque, high-pitched laugh)

- nigiwatte-(i)ru is from nigiwau ("flourish/be thronged with activity" "enjoy popularity").
   ... yā desu = "seems/appears to be the case that . . ."
- sono uchi = "in time/in due course/eventually."
- otaku is a relatively recent slang word for "hobbyist/aficionado/buff/nut."
  It usually has derogatory connotations, implying someone who is so wrapped up in the minutiae of his particular interest/hobby that he can't communicate effectively with other people. The term apparently came from the observation that such people stiffly address their listeners as otaku even when something less formal is called for (see p. 80).
- karaake kapuseru = "karaoke capsules," which suggests another step beyond the currently popular karaoke bokkusu ("karaoke boxes" small karaoke rooms that can be rented for private karaoke parties) toward the ultimate in individualized/compartmentalized karaoke facilities.
- dekiru = "be made/will be made" → "will get/have."
- ja nai deshā ka, "isn't it perhaps/probably (going to be) so?" or "I wonder if it isn't (going to be) so?" Nē adds colloquial emphasis.

1 Sound FX:

Yoro yoro (effect of staggering weakly)

Colleague 3:

On'ya? Zuibun shobokurete-iru zo.
"That's odd. He's looking awfully droopy."
(PL2)

- on'ya is a variation of oya, an interjection of mild surorise.
- shobokurete-iru is from shobokureru ("look dejected/ downcast/droopy").

Onchi: (singing)

A-, sugisarishi ano seishun no hibi yo-...

"Ohh, so long gone are those days of my youth
..." (PL2)

 sugisarishi is an archaic equivalent of sugisatta, the past form of sugisaru ("[time] passes").

Onchi: (singing)

Ima wa mō kimi to no yume yabure-...
"The dreams I had with you, are now torn asunder..." (PL3)

- · kimi is an informal/familiar "you."
- to = "with" and no here is like "that is/was," so kimi to no yume = "dream that is/was with you" → "dream(s) I had with you." Ga to mark this as the subject of yabure has been omitted.
- yahure is from yahureru ("be torn").

5 Sound FX:

 $Py\bar{u}$

(effect of egg flying through the air)

Sound FX:

Gucha

Splat (effect of egg splattering on his face)

Audience:

Hetakuso!

"You stink!" (PL1)

Hikkome!

"Get lost!" (PL1)

Mimi ga kusaru zo!

"My ears will rot!" (PL1)

Sound FX:

Pii pii pii pii pii pii (effect of insults/jeers/disapproving noises from audience)

- hetakuso is a particularly insulting form of heta ("unskillful/awkward/lousy").
- hikkome is the abrupt command form of hikkomu ("withdraw/retire/disappear").
- kusaru = "rot/decay/spoil/become foul."

Moguro:

Chikagoro karaoke höru ga nigiwatte-ru yō desu

"Recently, karaoke halls seem to be enjoying tremendous popularity, but . . ."

Naniwa Kin'yūdō

by Aoki Yūji Part 4

The series:

Naniwa Kin'yūdō first appeared in Kodansha's Weekly Comic Morning (週刊コミックモーニング) in 1990. It was an immediate hit and has run continuously ever since. The appeal of this series seems to be a combination of the subject matter (the unethical dealings of an Osaka loan/finance company), the gritty Osaka dialect used by most of the characters, and the rough but oddly detailed style of drawing.

The title:

Naniwa (written here in katakana ナニワ, but sometimes written with the kanji 浪花 or 浪速) is an old name for the Osaka area, where this series is set. Kin'yū (金融) means "money/finance," and the ending dō (道) written with the kanji for "road/path," can be thought of as meaning "the way of . . ." Given the content of the stories, the title could be rendered as "The Way of the Osaka Loan Shark."

The story so far:

In the beginning of the story, our hero, Haibara Tatsuyuki, takes out a personal loan from a shady sarakin loan company so his boss at the print shop can pay the shop's bills. The shop goes bankrupt anyway, and Haibara finds himself looking for work and burdened with a sarakin loan on his credit record.

He studies up on finance and applies to loan companies for work. A manager at one firm warns that he might have trouble getting hired at a legitimate finance company, but won't explain why.

After a number of rejections, Haibara decides to give the finance business one last shot. On his way up to the offices of Empire Finance, Inc. he passes by two gangster-types threatening a third man for having defaulted on a loan; then, at the door to the office, he overhears loud threats and abusive language coming from inside. Just as he begins to wonder about this place, he feels a tap on his shoulder and is brought in for an interview.

He lands a job at Empire and is put to work cold-calling Osaka-area construction companies in an effort to lure them into high-interest loans. His supervisor and mentor-to-be, Kuwata, gives him a directory of general contractors and tells him to go through it and call every number in the book. Kuwata assures him that if he makes 100 calls, he will "snare" at least one or two.

Most of the people who answer his calls are hostile and rude, but then Haibara gets lucky. The owner of Takataka Construction, Mr. Takahashi Kunimasa, inquires about interest rates. Haibara passes the phone to Kuwata and prepares to observe his technique.

© Aoki Yūji. All rights reserved. First published in Japan in 1990 by Kodansha, Tokyo. English translation rights arranged through Kodansha.

1	Kuwata:	オッ、さっそく カモ を 引っかけた んか!!  O!, sassoku kamo o hikkaketa n ka? (interj.) immediately/so soon mallard/sucker (obj.) snared/hooked (explan?)  "Hey-hey! You hooked a sucker already?!" (PL2)
	Kuwata:	ヨーシ、ワシ の やり方 よく 見とく ん やで!! Yōshi, washi no yari-kata yoku mitoku n ya de! (interj.) I/me 's method wel! look (explan.) (is-emph.) "All right, then, just watch how I do this!" (PL2-K)
	Sound FX:	ピッ Pi!
	:	(tone from pushing a button on his phone — probably to select the right line)  o! is an interjection of surprise, usually implying the speaker is pleased/impressed: "oh!/hey!/ho!/wow!"  kamo = "wild duck/mallard," but it's also a slang term for "an easy mark/pushover/sucker."  hikkaketa is the plain/abrupt past form of hikkakeru ("hook/snare").  n in both cases is a contraction of explanatory no. With the question particle ka following it, it's literally like asking "is it (the case) that ?" Ya de is a Kansai equivalent of da zo ("is/are" + masculine emphasis), and, in combination with this, the explanatory n(o) is merely for emphasis.  yöshi is an interjectory form of ii/yoi ("good/okay") that implies the speaker is about to undertake a particular action/challenge; yoku is the adverb form of the same word, and implies "(do the action) well/thoroughly."  washi is a word for "I/me" used mostly by middle-aged and older men.  mitoku is a contraction of mite oku, the -te form of miru ("look/watch") plus oku ("set/leave"). Oku after the -te form of a verb implies doing the action now in anticipation of a future need — i.e., he's telling Haibara to watch what he does so that he can learn to do the same thing in the future. Mitoke in the next frame is a contraction of mite oke, the abrupt command form of mite oku.
2	Kuwata:	この カモ、わしが キッチリ カタ にはめて やる から な。よー見とけ!!  Kono kamo, washi ga kitchiri kata ni hamete yaru kara na. Yō mitoke! this mallard/sucker I/me (subj.) exactly/perfectly frame/mold in insert/set (do for/to) because/so (emph.) well look/observe "I'll squeeze this sucker right into the mold, so watch closely!" "I'll make this sucker dance to our tune. Watch closely!" (PL2)
	•	<ul> <li>おかりました。 Wakarimashita. understood "Yes, sir." (PL3)</li> <li>hamete yaru is from hameru ("insert/fix/set"); yaru after the -te form of verb often implies "do (the action) for (someone)," but when the stated action has negative consequences, the feeling is more like "do (the action) to (someone)."</li> <li>yō is a colloquial version of yoku, the adverb form of ii/yoi seen above; Kansai speakers especially favor yō, but</li> </ul>
		the form is not limited to Kansai dialect.  wakarimashita is the PL3 past form of wakaru, "come to know/understand." The word is often used to show acceptance of what the other person has said/asked/ordered: "Yes/okay/I will do as you say."
3	Kuwata:	Moshi-moshi, o-denwa hello (hon.)-phone changed "Hello, (the speaker on this end of) the phone has changed."  Hello, let me respond to your question." (PL3)  moshi-moshi is most familiar as the word used for "hello" at the beginning of a phone call by the person initiating the call, but it's also used like this when resuming the conversation after it has been interrupted for some reason.  kawarimashita* is the PL3 past form of kawaru ("[something] changes/switches"). O-denwa
4	Kuwata:	金利 は 月 2分ですよ。  Kinri wa tsuki nibu desu ya. interest as-for monthly 2 bu/% is (emph.)  "The interest is 2% per month." (PL3)  kawarimushita (almost always with the bonorific o-) is the standard opening phrase used by the new speaker when a call is relayed from one person to another.
	•	for the "per week/month/year" construction in Japanese, the word indicating the time span precedes the amount rather than coming after. $ \exists wari \text{ ("tenths")}, } $ bu ("hundredths"), $ \exists rin \text{ ("thousandths")}, and  in m\bar{o} \text{ ("ten-thousandths")}  are the traditional terms used for speaking of percentages and interest rates — e.g., the 54.75% figure mentioned below would be  in m\bar{o} \text{ (lit., "5 tenths, 4 hundredths, 7 thousandths, and 5 ten-thousandths")} . For any number above  in many 10\%, wari is always used in combination with  in many 10\%, the following note suggests, many people today are more comfortable speaking in terms of  in many 10\% from English "percent."  in many 10\% wherever it may appear (footnote/headnote/endnote/margin note/interlinear note).$
5	Margin Note:	注・金利 は 月 2分= 月利 2 パーセント、年利 24 パーセントと いう意味。  Chū: kinri wa tsuki nibu = getsuri ni pāsento. nenri nijūyon pāsento to iu imi.  note interest as-for monthly 2 bu = monthly interest 2 percent, annual interest 24 percent (quote) say meaning  Note: "Kinri wa tsuki nibu" means 2% interest per month, or 24% interest per year. (PL2)

6	Kuwata:	* karite* is the -te* form of kariru ("borrow"), and haratte* is the -te* form of harau ("pay"). Itadaita is the plain/abrupt past of itadaku ("receive"), and haratte* itadakereba ii n desu, hai. 360,000 each 10 times if have you pay good (expl) is yes "For example, in the situation that you allowed us to loan you ¥3 million, all you would have to do is pay ¥360,000 each in 10 installments."  * karite* is the -te* form of kariru ("borrow"), and haratte* is the -te* form of harau ("pay"). Itadaita* is the plain/abrupt past of itadaku ("receive"), and itadakereba* is a conditional "if" form of the same word. Itadaku after the -te* form of a verb is literally "(l/we) receive the favor of (the action)" — which in the first case implies the borrower would be doing the lender a favor, feeling something like "allow us to loan you are in the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of a verb is literally "(l/we) receive the favor of (the action)" — which in the first case implies the borrower would be doing the lender a favor, feeling something like "allow us the lender a favor, feeling something like "allow us the lender a favor of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of a verb is literally "(l/we) receive the favor of (the action)" — which in the first case implies the borrower would be doing the lender a favor, feeling something like "allow us the lender a favor of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of a verb is literally "(l/we) receive the favor of (the action)" — which in the first case implies the borrower would be doing the lender a favor, feeling something like "allow us the lender a favor of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form of the same word. Italaku after the -te* form
7	Other Party:	あしたの 1時 頃 までに 300万 欲しい んや。 Ashita no ichiji -goro made ni sanbyakuman hoshii nya, tomorrow 's 1:00 about by 3 million want/need (explan.) "I need ¥3 million by about 1 o'clock tomorrow." (PL2-K)  to lend you," but in the second case is a polite way of stating what the lender will require/demand of the borrower.  ii is "good/fine," and -ba ii makes an expression meaning "it is enough to
	Kuwata:	かりました。10回 払い ですね。  Wakarimashita、Jukkai -barai desu ne. understood/okay 10 times payment(s) is (colloq.)  "All right. On the ten-installment plan, right?" (PL3)  do -/all you have to do is -/you simply" Haratte itadakereba ii is essentially a polite euphemism for "must pay."
	:	ya regularly replaces da ("is/are") in Kansai dialect.  -kai is a counter-suffix for "times/occasions," and barai is a noun form of harau ("pay"; h changes to b for euphony), so jukkai-barai literally means "ten-time payment (plan)."
8	On Form:	借入申込書 / 社名又は店名 / 代表者 / 申込金額 Kari-ire mōshikomi-sho / Shamei mata wa tenmei / Daihyō-sha / Mōshikomi kingaku Loan Application / Name of Company or Store / Representative / Amount Applied For
	Kuwata:	ところで、家族 構成 ですが  Tokoro-de, kazoku kösei desu ga by the way/now family composition/members is but  "Now, (I need to ask about) the other members of your family (but)" (PL3)
	•	$k\bar{o}sei$ ="composition/makeup/organization"; a question about $kazoku$ $k\bar{o}sei$ is essentially asking for information on the other members of the family.
9	Kuwata:	長女 の 正子さん は 29歳 でん な。   Chōjo no Masako-san wa nijūkyūsai den na?  eldest daughter (=) (name-hon.) as-for 29-yrs-old is (colloq.)  "(You say) your oldest daughter Masako is 29?" (PL3-informal)  * -sai is the counter-suffix for years of age den is a Kansai dialect contraction of desi ("is/are").
	On Form:	and the state of t
10	Kuwata:	ホーッ、区役所。 ええ ところ へ お勤め です なー。 Hō!, kuyakusho. E tokoro e o-tsutome desu nā. (interj.) ward office good/fine place to/at (hon.)-working is (colleg.) "Aha, the ward office! That's certainly a fine place to be working." (PL4-K, informal)
	On Form:	職業 又は 勤務(先) 自営 家事 又(役所) Shakugyō mata wa kinmu-saki Jiei Kaji Ku(yakusho) Occupation or Place of Employment Self-employed Homemaker Ward Office ē is Kansai dialect for ii/voi = "good/fine"; ē tokoro = "good/fine place." tsutome is the noun form of tsutomeru, which means "work for/at" or "be employed by"; o-tsutome is the polite term for referring to another person's employment. kinmu means "service/duty/employment," and -saki is a suffix added to action/motion nouns to indicate the "objective/destination" of the action/motion, so kinmu-saki = "place of employment."
11	Kuwata:	わかりました。じゃあ、これで 審査 の 方 へ まわします から。 Wakarimashita. Jā, kore de shinsa no hā e mawashimasu kara. understood then/in that case this with credit examiners 's direction to will send because/so "All right, then, now I'll send this around to the credit examiners, so" (PL3)  だいじょうと まかしといて ロシ が 100パーセント 滞額 出る ように する から!!
		Daijöbu, makashitoite. Washi ga hyaku päsento mangaku deru yö ni suru karal all right/safe leave it to me I/me (subj.) 100 percent full amount will be paid so that will do/make because/se "Don't worry, leave it to me. I'll make sure you get 100 percent, the full amount." (PL2) makashitoite is a contraction of makashite oite, an informal request meaning "leave it to me/count on me," from makaseru ("leave/entrust to [someone/something]").  yō ni after an affirmative verb means "like/as if/so that"; yō ni suru = "make it like/so that"

12	Haibara:	桑田さん、月 2分の金利だったら、安いですよねー。  Kuwata-san, tsuki nibu no kinri dattara, yasui desu yo nē.  (name-hon.) monthly 2% of interest if it is cheap/low rate is (emph.) (colloq.)  "Mr. Kuwata, if the interest is (only) 2% per month, that's pretty low, isn't it?" (PL3)
13	Kuwata:	アホウ。36万 の 10回払い やから、最初 の 1回 は 確かに 月 2分 や。 Ahō. Sanjūrokuman no jukkai-barai ya kara, saisho no ikkai wa tashika-ni tsuki nibu ya idiot/fool 360,000 of 10 installments because/so beginning of/at onc time as-for certainly/indeed monthly 2% is "Doofus! It's 10 installments of ¥360,000, so the (interest on the) first installment is indeed 2% per month." (PL2-K) ya kara is Kansai dialect for da kara ("because/so"). saisho = "the beginning/the outset," and saisho no = "the first/the initial." Ikkai means "one time," so saisho no ikkai = "the first time" → "the first installment."
14	Kuwata:	しかし、2回目 以降 は 元金 は 減っていく んや で!  Shikashi, nikai-me ikō wa motokin wa hette iku n ya de!  but/however second time and after as-for principal as-for progressively diminishes (explan.) (emph.)  "But from the second installment on, the principal decreases." (PL2-K)
	Haibara :	アッ、そうか。最後の 10回目 は 30万 に対して 6万。 実に 月 2割 ということですね。 Al, sō ka. Saigo no jukkai-me wa sanjūman ni taishite rokuman, Jitsu ni tsuki niwari to iu koto desu ne. (interj.) that way (?) last/final tenth time as-for 300,000 against/for 60,000 in fact monthly 20% (quote) say thing is (collq "Oh, right. The 10th and final installment would be ¥60,000 (interest) against ¥300,000 (principal). That means it's actually (a rate of) 20% per month." (PL3)
	:	the suffix -me indicates places in a sequence, "first/second/third/etc.," so nikai-me = "the second time." $ik\bar{o}$ = "and after," so nikai-me $ik\bar{o}$ = "on the second time and after/from the second time on." hette is the -te form of heru ("decrease/diminish"). Iku ("go") after the -te form of another verb often implies a progressive action or development. a! is an interjection of sudden awareness/mild surprise, $S\bar{o}$ ka is literally the question "Is it so/is that right?" but is used idiomatically as an exclamation of sudden realization/understanding ("That's it!/Oh, right!/Oh. I know!"). The two are frequently combined: $A!$ $s\bar{o}$ $ka$ = "Oh, right!/Oh, I get it!" saigo ("the end") is the opposite of saisho, above. Saigo no = "the last/the final," and saigo no jukkai-me = "the final tenth time" $\rightarrow$ "the tenth and final installment." • to iu koto da/desu at the end of a sentence = "means that"
15	Kuwata:	そや。 だから、平均したら 3分5厘 に なる んや。 So ya. Dakara, heikin shitara sanbu gorin ni naru n ya. that's right because of that if averaged 3.5% to becomes (explan.) "Right. So when you average it out, it comes to 3.5% (per month)." (PL2-K)
	Takayama:	10ヵ月 で 60万 の 金利 が 取れる ということや。  Jukkagetsu de rokujūman no kinri ga toreru to iu koto ya.  ten months in 600,000 of interest (subj.) can take/collect (quote) say thing is  "It means you can collect ¥600,000 interest in (just) 10 months." (PL2-K)
	Shacho:	しかし、 ヤツら に は そんな こと 関係ない。 Shikashi, yatsu-ra ni wa sonna koto kankei nai. but/however those guys to us-for that kind of thing irrelevant "But to them, that's all irrelevant." (PL2)
	Shachō:	ケツ に 火 が ついとる から、 現況 を 乗り切ること しか 考えとらん!!  Ketsu ni hi ga tsuitoru kara, genkyō o norikiru koto shika kangaetoran! rear end on/to fire (subj.) is attached/has ignited because/so current situation (obj.) ride out thing only [not] thinking  "They've got a fire to their butts, so they're only concerned with making it through their immediate difficulties." (PL2)
DV. 54-	:	so ya is a Kansai dialect equivalent of sō da ("it is so/that is correct").  heikin shitara is a conditional "if/when" form of heikin suru ("to average").  toreru is the potential ("can/able to") form of toru ("take," or in the context of fees/payments, "charge/collect").  yatsu is an informal/slang word for "fellow/guy," and -ra makes nouns plural, so yatsu-ra = "those guys."  tsuitoru is a contraction of tsuite-oru, equivalent to tsuite-iru (in the context of fire, "has ignited/is burning").  shika followed by a negative later in the sentence means "only." Kangaetoran is a colloquial equivalent of kangete-inai, negative of kangaete-iru ("is/are thinking [about]"), so shika kangaetoran = "is/are thinking only about."
16		注・3分5厘 = 実質 金利 に 換算すると、 年利 約 42パーセント に なる。 Chū: sanbu gorin = jisshitsu kinri ni kansan suru to, nenri yaku yonjūni pāsento ni naru. note 3 bu 5 rin/3.5% = actual interest to if/when convert annual interest approximately 42 percent to becomes Note: 3 bu 5 rin," when converted to the actual interest rate, becomes approximately 42% per year. (PL2)
		なお、 法定 の 金利 の 上限 は 年利 54.75 パーセント。 Nao, hōtei no kinri no jōgen wa nenri gojūyon-ten-nana-go pāsento. further determined by law (=) interest of upper limit as-for annual interest 54.75 percent Incidentally, the upper limit for interest set by law is 54.75% per year. (PL2)
	•	nao (lit. "further/still more") is used idiomatically to introduce afterthoughts or additional notes/disclaimers/warnings. In cases like this it has the feeling of "incidentally/for your reference/we might add."

17	Kuwata:	ショウワロネン 7ガツ 5ニチ タカハシ クニマサ Shi yo u wa I-I ne n 7 ga tsu 5 ni chi ta ka ha shi ku ni ma sa "S I-I M7 D5, Ta-Ka-Ha-Shi Ku-Ni-Ma-Sa"	<ul> <li>Kuwata is punching letters and numbers into the machine used to get instant credit reports. Shi-yo-u-wa represents the full batakana spalling of Shāwa the ess pages</li> </ul>
18 S	Sound FX:	ピピピピッ Pi pi pi! (sound of dialing touchtone phone)	katakana spelling of Shōwa, the era name during Emperor Hirohito's reign (1926-89). Shōwa is often abbreviated "S." The fifth day of the month would normally be itsuka, but on this machine the date apparently has to be entered as a number followed by the suffix -nichi, which is normally the counter-suffix used for (most) days of the month beyond the 11th, We've used "M" for "month" and "D" for "day" as the English equivalents of
	ound FX:	ツーツー Tsū tsū (sound of small printer printing on paper tape)
_	Sound FX:	ピリッ Piri! (sound of tearing small piece of paper — here, tearing off the paper tape printout)
21	Kuwata	Fun, omotta tōri da! • omotta is the pl (interj.) thought like/in accordance with is tōri follows cer	gatsu and nichi.  ain/abrupt past form of omou ("think"), and rtain verbs to mean "exactly in accordance to," so omotta tōri = "exactly as I thought."
22	Print-Out:	ショウカイショウサイコードNo タカハシ クニマサ Shōkai shōsai kōdo nanbā Takahashi Kunimasa inquiry details/particulars code no. (surname) (given name) "Inquiry Results, Code No/Takahashi Kunimasa."	the kanji for the first two words would be 照会 shōkai and 詳細 shōsai.
23	Kuwata:	社長、 やっぱり サラ金と 金融屋 から 6007 Shachō, yappari sarakin to kin'yū-ya kara roppyaka co. president as expected/sure enough loan co. and moneylender from 6 milli "Sir, sure enough he's been snacking to the tune of nearly ¥6 millienders." (PL3)	on about has pinched/snacked
		sarakin is short for sarariman kin'ya, "salaryman's financing." The name of cured emergency loans at high interest rates to salarymen and housewives we a generic term can include sarakin and respectable finance companies (cf. m 59), but the way it's contrasted with sarakin here suggests he's speaking of oth with underworld connections.  tsumande is the -te form of tsumamu, meaning "pinch/pick up (with one's feally to mean "snacking/nibbling." Here the word is being used as moneyle "pinch" can means "steal" in English, which isn't appropriate here, we detsumande-imasu in the PL3 form of tsumande-iru ("has snacked/is snacking)	ith relatively modest incomes. Kin'yū-ya as natomo na kin'yū-ya in Mangajin No. 35, p. ner outfits like their own — shady loansharks fingers/chopsticks/etc.)" and used idiomatiender slang for "take out a loan," and since ecided to translate the word as "to snack":
24 T	'akaya ma :	まあ、ええ。 不履行 はしていない んや から Mā, ē. Furikō wa shite-inai n ya kara (interj.) finc/okay nonfulfillment/default as-for has not done (explan.) because/so "Well, that's fine. (At least) he hasn't defaulted, so he's got poss	見込み はある。 mikami wa aru. possibility/potential as-for exists ibilities." (PL2-K)
T	'akaya ma :		あげてこい や。 agete kai _ya. go get _(emph.)
	:	$m\bar{a}$ is a soft/gentle-sounding interjection/"verbal warm-up" that adapts to fit tion — "well now/all right." $\bar{E}$ is Kansai dialect for $ii/yoi$ ("good/fine/okay" shite-inai is the negative form of shite-iru ("has done"), from suru ("do"). itte is the -te form of iku ("go"); the -te form here acts like the conjunction yatsu ("guy/fellow") here and in the next frame is being used like a pronour tōhon actually only means "(a full/certified) copy," but the context tells us to title registry on Takahashi's jitaka ("personal/private home"). agete is the -te form of ageru, here an informal word for "collect/round up." ("come"); karu after the -te form of another verb often means "go do (the acya is used at the end of commands/suggestions/requests to emphasize the sp	"and": "go to and"  n: yatsu = "he" and yatsu no = "his."  ne is referring to a copy of the real estate/  "Koi is the abrupt command form of kuru  ction)."
25	Shachō:	ウン、 そうせい。ヤツ が どれほど 苦しい か、もう Un, sō sei. Yatsu ga dare hodo kurushii ka, mō yeah/uh-huh that way do the guy/he (subj.) how much hard up/hurting (?) more "Yeah, do that. We have a need to find out a little more: How much "Yeah, do that. We need to find out a little more about just how	sukashi shiru hitsuyō ga aru. a little find out need (subj.) have is he hurting?"
		sei is a colloquial command form of suru ("do").  • kurushii is an ad from "painful/distressing" to "arduous/tough/straining" to "straitened/needy mō before a quantity means that much "more," so mō sukoshi = "a little more thought/sentence ("learn/find out a little more") modifying hitsuyō ("need/need/need/need/need/need/need/need	." Here we have the last meaning. re." Mō sukashi shiru is a complete

From Calvin & Hobbes, p. 34

怪しい	ayashii	dubious/suspicious
カヌーに乗る	kanữ ni noru	go canoeing
キャンプする	kyanpu suru	go camping
まともな	matomo-na	real/honest
寝不足	nebusoku	not enough sleep
策略	sakurvaku	strategy

From Basic Japanese, p. 38

プス	busu	(be) ugly/an ugly woman
違う	chigau	different/incorrect
エッチ	etchi	lewd/indecent
ガラ悪い	gara warui	ill-bred
いかす	ikasu	(be) sharp/smart/cool
地元の	jimoto no	local
人生	jinsei	life
人種	jinshu	(human) race
モテモテの	mote-mote no	popular
最近	saikin	lately/recently
最低	saitei	the lowest/worst
楽しむ	tanoshimu	enjoy
てっきり	tekkiri	completely/beyond all doubt
トラブる	toraburu	be troubled

From Beranmei Tochan, p. 44

お中元	o-chügen	summer gift (giving season)
冷える	hieru	become cold/chilled
故障する	koshō suru	break down/go haywire
冷蔵庫	reizōko	refrigerator

From Ojama-Shimasu, p. 46

千鳥足	chidori-ashi	tottering/zig-zag steps
情緒	jōcho	allure/pleasure/feeling
目が回る	me ga mawaru	be dizzy/feel giddy/feel faint
にがい	nigai	bitter
新幹線	shinkansen	bullet train
旅	tabi	travel/journey

From OL Shinkaron, p. 48

大事な	daiji-na	important/serious/critic
夫婦	fūfu	husband & wife
フロ	furo	bath
会話	kaiwa	conversation/talk
さっぱりする	sappari suru	feel refreshed
つもり	Isumori	intent/purpose

From Furiten-kun, p. 50

ビール好き	biiru-zuki	beer lover
昔	mukashi	long ago
スシ屋	sushi-ya	sushi shop

From OL Reiko-san, p. 52

頭にくる	atama ni kuru	get angry/mad
ぴっくりする	bikkuri suru	he surprised/frightened
かせぐ	kasegu	make/earn (money)
競馬	keiba	horse race(s)
$ -権	tokken	special privilege
酔っ払う	yopparau	become drunk

From Maboroshi no Futsū Shōjo, p. 57

だまる	damaru	fall silent
ハハ	haha	(one's own) mother
はずかしい	hazukashii	be embarrassed/ashamed
いきなり	ikinari	suddenly/abruptly
けんか	kenka	fight/argument
きんちょうする	kinchō suru	become tense/tense up
紅茶	kōcha	(black) tea
公認	kõnin	official approval/sanction
暗い	kurai	dark/gloomy
めし	meshi	meal (abrupt/slang)
なれる	nareru	become accustomed
おちつく	ochitsuku	settle/relax/become calm
親	ova	parent(s)
知りあい	shiriai	acquaintance(s)
食欲	shokuvoku	appetite
相談	sõdan	consultation/advice
卒業証書	sotsugyő shöso	diploma
卒業する	sotsugyō suru	graduate (v.)
すわる	suwaru	sit down
てつだう	tetsudau	help/assist
特殊	tokushu	special/exceptional

From Warau Sērusuman, p. 74

度胸	dokyō	nerve/guts/boldness
はぐれもの	haguremono	outcast/loner
星空	hoshizora	starry sky
ご自由に	go-jiyü ni	freely (honorific)
けっこうな	kekkō-na	fine/excellent/splendid
断わる	kotowaru	refuse (v.)
くさる	kusaru	rot/decay/spoil
むせぶ	musebu	be choked
ながめる	nagameru	look/gaze at
青春	seishun	youth
しつこい	shitsukoi	persistent/tenacious
しょぼくれる	shobokureru	look dejected/downcast
すっかり	sukkari	completely/really
捨てる	suteru	discard/abandon
手遅れ	teokure	too late/beyond remedy

From Naniwa Kin'yūdo, p. 83

	FIOH Naniwa K	in yuuo, p. 65
長女	chōjo	eldest daughter
不履行	furikō	nonfulfillment/default
はめる	hameru	insert/set
平均	heikin	average/mean
減る	heru	decrease/diminish
引っかける	hikkakeru	hook/snare
自営	jiei	self-employed
自宅	jitaku	(one's own) home/residence
家事	kaji	housework
金融屋	kin'yū-ya	moneylender
キッチリ	kitchiri	exactly/perfectly
苦しい	kurushii	hard up/hurting/needy
見込み	mikomi	possibility/potential
さっそく	sassoku	immediately/right away
世带主	setai-nushi	head of household
照会	shōkai	inquiry
職業	shokugyō	occupation

The Vocabulary Summary is taken from material appearing in this issue of MANGAJIN. It's not always possible to give the complete range of meanings for a word in this limited space, so our "definitions" are based on the usage of the word in a particular story.

Nant to Exchange Letters with Japanese Friends? ()

ALC Press is looking for people of all nationalities who would like to exchange letters (in English) with Japanese. In Japan there are lots of people, young and old, who want to correspond with overseas friends.

Press, Inc. have launched the provided. The Japanese pen-ALC Correspondence Club - a pals will then write to you. It is penpal introduction service - in order to promote international exchange and friendship among individuals in Japan and other countries. If you are interested in participating in this exciting program, please complete this form and mail it to our headquarters in Tokyo.

You will become a member of the ALC Correspondence Club upon our receipt of your registration form. Registration is free, and valid for six months. During the six-month registration period, we will match you with Japanese penpals with the

Tokyo-based publisher, ALC help of the information you have preferred that you write in English, but Japanese is acceptable

ALC Correspondence Club Registration Form

Sex: Male/ Female
untry:
e Age:
rtionality:

We're waiting to hear from you!

NIHONGO LEARNING SYSTEMS

かな

2440 Southwest Cary Parkway, Suite #205

Cary, NC 27513

Orders/inquiries .... 1-800-353-1706 FACSIMILE ......1-919-380-1134

Prodigy ID .....TWPM00A

Internet ID .....TWPM00A@PRODIGY.COM

IBM Compatible Software for Learning to Read and Write Japanese

KANJI RENSHUU - Supports learning the Kanji learned in grades 1-6 of Japanese elementary school. Stroke order with brush effect, multiple choice quizzes, and On-Yomi/Kun-Yomi display in kana and/or romaji. Includes 881. kanji deemed ESSENTIAL by the Japanese Ministry of Education. (996 characters supported in all.) PRICE-$50

KANA RENSHUU - Interactive program teaches both Hiragana and Katakana. Stroke order supported at the touch of a key with brush effects. PRICE- $25

JUKUGO RENSHUU - Allows the study of Kanji Combinations. Combinations include Hiragana characters. Customized lists can be built to concentrate on specific areas of vocabulary. Default study list included. PRICE-$25

Graphics - All 1850 Toyo Kanji plus Hiragana and Katakana in graphics compatible with Brodurbund Software Inc's Print shop Series of programs. Over 2000 graphics in all, Price - $35

Prices include shipping and handling. North Carolina residents add 6% sales tax. For free details send or fax name/address to the address above or call toll free and leave the information For sample diskette illustrating the products, send $4.00 (check or MO) to the address above. Add $4.00 shipping if outside of U.S. Requirements are: DOS 3.3 or higher and EGA graphics or better. Corporate and Educational Site License discounts available. Clip and send this adfor $5.00 off any program. Savings up to $20 if all packages purchased!

Use Your PC to Master Japanese and Chinese

Enjoy learning Asian languages with Smart Characters for Students™ word processor and vocabulary tutor. Unlike other word processors, Smart Characters combines reading, writing, translating, and vocabulary study tools to assist non-native speakers who may have only minimal foreign language skills. The result is an effective tool for word processing and foreign language study.

- □ Displays furigana, bpmf, and pinyin in a variety of styles to help you pronounce unknown or forgotten characters.
- □ The built-in vocabulary tutor teaches hanji and hanzi rapidly and effectively so you can read without notes. Create your own lessons and contribute to or select from the User's Group library, including each month's vocabulary from Mangajin magazine.
- Use the word processor to display or create sophisticated interactive hypertext lessons to learn or teach technical topics such as grammar and usage.
- Write and print any character; over 7700 are included.
- Handy on-line hypertext references and dictionaries include English notes to speed reading and writing. Optional dictionaries may be added and instantly accessed. The optional radical and stroke dictionary makes a particularly handy rapid reading tool.
- □ Version 2.5 provides better typography, more dictionary options, and is easier to use. Just $99.95, Call or write for a free brochure.

Apropos Customer Service, 8 Bellmap St., Arlangton, Massachusens, 02174-800-676-4021

Classified ads are free for individuals and non-profit groups (up to 30 words). Commercial ads are $2.00 per word, $3.00 per word bold-faced, $30 minimum charge or $80/inch for display ads, discounts available for size and/or frequency (2 ¼" width, camera ready). Send to:

Mangain Classifieds, P.O. Box 7119, Marietta, GA 30065 Categories: • Pen Pais • Notices & Events • Books & Publications •

Computers & Software • Job Seekers • Clubs • Consulting • Employment • Travel • Miscellaneous (Mangain reserves the right to edit or reject any classified advertisement.)

日本語のclassified OKです!

日本語のclassified OKです!

日本語のclassified OKです!

Books & Publications

名、日本人留学生を対象に日本語/英語の季刊誌A/Jゲイトウェイを発行します。初版発行は1994年1月の予定。ついては貴方からの体験談、学習論説、日米間の文化交換、日常生活での日米の違いなどの記事を募集します。日本語、英語どちらでも下記宛先まで。 Will be starting a quarterly Japanese/English newsletter for those studying Japanese, and for Japanese nationals studying in the US. First issue in January. Please send your articles on studying cultural exchange, and US-Japan relations to: A/J Gateway, 145 Aspen Dr., Newark, DE 19702-2865

If you like MANGAJIN, you'll like THE JAPAN EXPERIENCE

A quarterly newsletter about Japanese:

- Activities
- Culture
- Language
- High Tech
- Travel ... and more!

Subcriptions are just $7 US, $11 overseas, Single issues:$2 US, $3 overseas. MO Visa

THE JAPAN EXPERIENCE

P.O. Box 87195 • Dallas, TX 75287 (214) 394 0541 voice/fax

KanjiBase

For the PC-

Custom glossary creator with complete online Hadamitzky & Spahn character dictionary. Ideal for translators, teachers, and other professionals. Contains 8,000 kanji, over 40,000 definitions. $199

MacSunrise

For the Mac-

The most powerful kanji-learning tool available. Full-featured with audio and stroke orders for all 2000 everday-use characters. Priced from $99 to $499.

For a free brochure, call 800-947-7271 STONE BRIDGE PRESS • BERKELEY, CA

We have an interesting list of educational material (K-12) on Japan. For catalog send US$2 & self-addressed envelope (no stamps) to Pacific-Rim Slide-Shows, #302, 130 East 15th Ave, Vancouver, BC V5T 4L3 Canada

Learn Japanese on Your Own!

Comprehensive self-instructional audiocassette/book courses for learning Japanese and 90 other languages. Call or write for free 56-page catalog. 1-800-243-1234

(See our ad on page 4.)
Audio-Forum, Dept. 114,
Guilford, CT 06437

Japanophile: The quarterly magazine that evokes the old and the new Japan. Articles, stories, poems. Subscription $14. Box 223, Okemos, MI 48864

Computers & Software

The heavy duty kanji dictionary that won't break your back.

The Wordtank is the most sophisticated hand-held electronic kanji dictionary in the world. Search for kanji and jukugo by radical or stroke count. Input in katakana, hiragana or romaji. Japanese-English, English-Japanese dictional and and Over 250,000 ntries places a parasion cards. Cell tell-free 800-527-2607 to find out a ore.

WHEN YOU FINALLY GET SERIOUS ABOUT LEARNING TO READ JAPANESE..

Kanji 2045

A software-based study kit for Microsoft Windows 3.1+

Full search capabilities
Mark and mark searching
Super user-friendly interface
Create your own search index
Can use with Canon Wordtank
Mnemonic ordering and comments
Requires Windows 3.1+, 8+MB RAM
2045 Kanji, including the full standard set
Cross-referenced to 4 popular kanji dictionaries
Test ON, KUN, meaning and character recognition
Make and search your own notes for each character

Send check or money order for $199 Free shipping anywhere in the world

Educational Software International Tel: 808-396-1161 • Fax: 808-396-9231

272 Kalalau Street • Honolulu, HI 96825

Studying Japanese? For FREE information on GAKUSEI 1.1, the DOS-based beginning grammar tutorial, write to:

BARHAM SOFTWARE
15507 S. NORMANDIE AVE. #245

Miscellaneous

I want to buy Mangajin No. 31. If you have it, please call Terry at 408-727-1887

Please help: looking for companies or individuals who will sell or exchange CD's and videos. Please write to Cyprian Wise, 6-10-9 Haramachida, Machida-City, Tokyo 194 Japan

Freedom International Marriage Club

Are you a non-Japanese, between 20-70 years old, male or female, living in America or anywhere in the world and seriously want to get married to a Japanese national? Those in Japan can visit our restaurant and love encounter parties. For more information contact Mrs. Rie. F.I.M.C., 4-24-1-308 Nogata, Nakano Tokyo 165 Japan. Tel, Fax 0427-20-2821, 10AM – 10PM.

真剣に国際結婚を考えている日本人の 皆様。F·I·M·Cは手づくり国際結婚 No. 1.考えているだけでは出会えない。あなたを応援いたします。尚、出会いのパーティーも計画しています。 まず、ご連絡下さい。(理核宛)

ANIME THIS 'N THAT

Offering a complete line of Anime Products

Models

Video Tapes

Laser Discs

Send $2.00 U.S. for a Catalog to: Anime This in That P.O. Box 49296 Colorado Springs, Co 80949-9296

Hamadayama condo, quiet, sunny, 15 tsubo. heat/air, washer, piano. Shibuya/Shinjuku 20 minutes. ¥180,000 mo. + tel., utilities, deposit. S. Feinleib, 617-648-1457, fax: 617-648-1561

Want to sell complete collection of Mangajin back issues (1-34) to highest offer received by 8/1/94. Please direct responses to D. Kraft, PO Box 3327, Elizabeth, NJ 07207-3327

& anime direct from Japan. Charles Maib, 1919 Silver Bell Rd., #300, Eagan, MN 55122

Otakon '94, East Coast Japanese Animation Fan Convention, featuring anime video theatres, panel programming, dealer's room, art show & auction, and more! July 29-31 at Days Inn, Penn State. Contact Bill Johnston, 661-A Waupelani Dr., State College, PA 16801

If you have a business idea involving my role in Japan and yours in your country, write me soon: Uttama, Village C Mansion 102, 1-18-3 Koyamadai, Shinagawa-ku, Tokyo 142 Japan

Catifornian male, 23, seeks Japanese pen pals. My interests are kendo, motorcycles and Japanese movies. John Bush, 178 Haight St., San Francisco, CA 94117

Pen Pals

20-year-old Australian born and bred Japanese/Korean Girl, major in English & Japanese at university and planning to visit Japan next year! Hobbies include traveling, going to karaoke, dancing. Absolutely anyone welcome. Please write me in English, Japanese or Korean. Janelle Hwang, 60A Walpole St., Kew, VIC, 3101 Australia

I am a martial artist, college educated, federal law enforcement officer looking for a wornan (18-30) for friendship, possible marriage. I am true, honest, loyal, strong, sensitive and understanding. Please write to: Drew Arthur, PO Box 1464, Ft. Lauderdale, FL 33302 Would you like a serious friendship with a young, beautiful Chinese woman? Write with photo to Li San, Yoshida Copo 201, 4-15-2 Yamato-cho, Nakano-ku, Tokyo 165 Japan

American male, 25, seeks pen pals from Japan, France. Interests: martial arts, music, film, surfing, learning foreign languages, culture. Please write first in English, later in your basic language. Please write: Scott Ferguson, 2009 Fairfield Dr., Plano, TX 75074

African-American, 19, college student, interested in beautiful Japanese culture. Love to make lasting friends with everybody interested. Love people; will write back. Lawrence-Anthony Frelot, 177 Fleet Street, Vallejo, CA 94591-6831

California male of mixed Asian/Caucasian ancestry, 22, wants to correspond with a female of mixed ancestry (i.e., ハーブ) in any part of the world. Let's exchange letters/photos. Joe, 4838 Payton St., Santa Barbara, CA 93111.

American woman, 24, looking for marriageminded man, 27-35. Want to learn more about Japanese culture. Hobbies: sports, travel, etc. Would also like a pen pal. Leah Martinez, 1315 San Carlos Ave., #5A, San Carlos, CA 94070

American female, 29, seeks pen pals from around the world to share interests in anime, manga, video/computer games (RPGs), music. If you want to share thoughts on these subjects or others, please write: Julie Opipari, 1506 North Custer, Clawson, MI 48017

American male, 21, single, seeking a female friend in Japan. I'm very friendly and will answer all replies! Please write in English to Darrin Rossi, PO Box 4165, Dunellen, NJ 08812-4165

American gentleman, 26, emissary-in-training, seeks Japanese, German, French & Spanish ladies as pen pals. Literate in English, German & Spanish only (at present). Pianist, traveller & poet. Tim, 2860 Normandy Dr., Philadelphia, PA 19154

American male, 34, seeking Japanese woman for correspondence, friendship and possible romance. Sincere, many interests (photo optional). Write in English to Jim Hantsch, 936 Berkeley St., Santa Monica, CA 90403

Asian male in Hawaii wishes to correspond with Japanese/Asian ladies. Interests vary. Presently employed by JTB Hawaii, Inc. Please write in hiragana, romaji or English. Send/address letters to: Haruyoshi Murakami, PO Box 344, Pukalani, HI 96788/PO Box 330433, Kahului, HI 96732

American male, 29, seeks single Japanese female pen pals 18-28. I've been to Japan and want to return. I like Japanese culture, soccer, music & more! I LEA COK, Bill Monroe, 11210 N. 17th St, 204C Tampa FL 33612. Chinese female, 26, in love with Japan, would enjoy correspondence to make sincere friends with Japanese male. Please write to Holly Tan, 7 Brighthill Drive, #04-06 Singapore 2057

Japanese female student, 24, seeks pen pals, M/F, interested in Japanese language & culture. Interests: books, travel, computers, movies. Write in English or Japanese to; Sachie Hayashi, 1-14-8-1003 Shimomae, Toda-shi, Saitama, 335 Japan

Japanese female, 30, likes music, sports, traveling, meeting people, is waiting for your letters about your life, interests and dreams. Naoko Yoshitsugu, 3-11-16-311Igusa, Suginami-ku, Tokyo 167 Japan

Mr. Afara Ossama, 20 years old, would like to exchange bank notes, stamps and have pen pals from all over the world. The address: N° 160 La Colline, Mohammedia 20650 Morocco

Seattle and Western Washington, free advice regarding inexpensive lodging, food, entertainment, schools, travel, recreation and culture. University of Washington graduate, now semi-retired. Dan Wiggen, 7749 15 NW, #102, Seattle, WA 98117

American male, 32, looking for pen pals from Japan and other countries interested in computers, music and Japanese. Please write to Peter Sayers, 445 Seaside Ave., #3619 Box 110, Honolulu, HI 96815

German-American female, 44, law enforcement student, seeking intelligent, non-smoking Japanese gentlemen interested in law enforcement, forensies, jurisprudence, classical music, Buddhism, Please write: Helene Schmidt, PO Box 723, Elgin, TX 78621

American male, 30, single, learning Japanese and Chinese would like to correspond with Japanese ladies of any age for cultural exchange. Allen Frank, PO Box 5420, New Bedford, MA 02740

Employment seekers

Yale graduate student with MA/MPhil in linguistics seeks employment as free-lance translator. Native speaker, Will send resume, reference letters and sample writing upon request. Fax: 404-496-0415

Former Rotary Exchange Student to Sapporo seeks English teaching position in Japan. Have a lot of ESL teaching experience. Parrish Handa, 7315 NE 70th St., Vancouver, WA 98662 (206-253-9749)

Employment Opportunity

WANTED - COMIC BOOK EDITOR Parttime position in Los Angeles available for individual with experience. Company represents a comic book publisher in Japan. Please send resume and references to the following address: DYNA-SEARCH, INC., 11835 W. Olympic Blvd., Suite 825, East Tower, Los Angeles, CA 90064

Japan Then and Now us-Japan Expo's Premier Magazine

YES! Send me Japan Then and Now at $5.95 per copy. Enclosed is my order for copies of the magazine with a check

Make check payable to:

JAPAN AMERICA FRIENDSHIP FOUNDATION 1515 W. 190th St., #508 • Gardena, CA 90248 Tel: 310-532-2000 • Fax: 310-532-2340

Name
Address			_
City	St	Zip

*California residents add -8,25% sales tax for $

FEATURING ARTICLES, PHOTO ESSAYS AND INTERVIEWS BY NOTED EXPERTS ON TOPICS SUCH AS TRADITIONAL CULTURE, CONTEMPORARY JAPANESE SOCIETY, BUSINESS AND U.S.-JAPAN RELATIONS

SELECTED TOPICS IN THIS ISSUE INCLUDE:

- Current Japanese Politics: Creative Destruction or Just Plain Chaos?
- Balancing the Equation: Asia After the Cold War
- Virtual Reality in Japan
- Doing Business With Japanese Men: A Women's Perspective
- The Subtle Art of Persuasion in Japan
- Japan's Regal Masako; Reluctant Princess Not!

66 WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING ABOUT JAPAN THEN AND NOW 99

"Japan Then and Now is a terrific magazine for the old Japan hand, the neophyte Japanophile and people in between It covers a wide swath of Japanology and doesn't flinch from controversial or sensitive issues facing '90's Japan. Written intelligently and illustrated with eye-catching graphics, the magazine has only one fault: It is only published once a year."

Mike Tharp, West Coast Correspondent,
 U.S. News and World Report

"Japan Then and Now is a visually stunning magazine thet provides a comprehensive, up-to-date look at U.S.-Japan issues over the past year."

Mangajin Magazine

"Japan Then and Now is the best single volume insight into what is going on in Japan's "mind" that I've ever seen. It succeeds by drawing on a broad scope of authors with extensive on the ground experience in Japan, and does not shrink from looking at the hard edge of controversial issues."

 Mike Mullen, Exec. Director, Japan America Society of Southern California

"Japan Then and Now gets well beyond the typical how to bow and exchange business cards' approach to understanding Japan by revealing the complex building blocks of Japanese business and politics"

 Steve Clemons, Executive Director, Institute for Independent Japanese Studies

KANA-AT-A-GLANCE WALL CHART $14.50*

Hiragana • Katakana • Romaji • Stroke order

23"x 34" glossy poster in three colors, 7"x 7" chart also included at no extra cost. (This chart is ideal to tuck into a book!)

A-KANJI-A-DAY 1994 Daily Calendar

Featuring: Kanji used in newspapers ON-KUN readings • Stroke order $11.50*

eth shipping and handling, USA $3.50 Canada $5.50, Other Overseas $9.00 All prices in US$ *CA residents add 8.25% sales tax

ALSO AVAILABLE:

- Daily and Weekly Kanji Calendars
- Japanese Software
- Personalized in Japanese/English
  Business cards, Note Pads, Labels, Book Plates, Rubber Stamps, Photo Mugs, Luggage Tags, Keychains, Magnets

Japanese Typesetting

VISA

Call or write for your FREE Gift Catalog

HEY PUBLISHING CO.

P.O. Box 801235 Santa Clarita, CA 91380-1235

(805) 295-5905

MANGAJIN VOCABULARY SUMMARIES WITH DIGITZED VOICE FOR THE PC

Now you can get the vocabulary summaries of every issue of Mangajin on disk. The program contains a complete listing of all words as published in the matching volume of Mangajin, with digitized voice by native born Japanese speakers to assist you in your studies.

REQUIREMENTS: DOS 3.2 or higher. COVOX Sound System, Bayware sound adapter, or other MPC compatible sound cards. Program will operate without sound unit. Will operate on Japanese MS DOS or IBMDOS in CHEV US mode. Operates on single disk drive, 3½, 5¼, OD or HD. May be stored on hard drive for faster operation Also available on IOmega M21 (21 Meg Disk).

PRICE: Each volume $9.95 plus $2.50 postage and handling for DD or HD Disks. Payment by Postal Money Order or Bank Certified Check only. Make check payable to W&K Software. Special offer of all volumes (1-32) $179 plus $10 special handling. All new volumes available 30 days after date of issue.

TO ORDER:

W&K SOFTWARE

4535 West Sahara, Suite 105-6J Las Vegas, NV 89102 Tel: 702-258-1250 • Fax: 702-258-

THE MONTHLY CITY MAGAZINE

Published by Yohan Publication Inc. TEL: 03-3204-1106

INTRODUCING:

Japan Related A Cross-Cultural Journal

Mangajin, Inc. is now the proud publisher of Japan Related, a new magazine created to help Japanese and Americans work together more effectively.

People working for Japan-related companies face unique challenges and problems. American and Japanese values, beliefs and attitudes may differ in many ways which results in different ways of behaving, thinking and seeing the world.

Cultural clashes take on a new intensity in the workplace when money, jobs and even personal honor are at stake. When Japanese and Americans work together, communication is essential and it has to flow both ways.

Intercultural Manners

· Information About depails to

People and the Language and Advice

Book Remiews

Translatio

the Japan

Japan Related was created to facilitate this essential communication and to help Japanese and Americans learn to understand each other, communicate effectively, solve problems and work together more productively.

Japan Related is designed to correct the knowledge imbalance among those who need to know about Japan the most—namely Americans working day to day with Japanese bosses, co-workers, subordinates, suppliers and customers.

In-depth interviews with American and Japanese business people provide both perspectives on key issues. In addition, key articles in Japan Related are translated to offer feedback to our Japanese colleagues, to stimulate cross-cultural discussions, and to help people who are studying Japanese.

Don't miss out on this exciting opportunity to learn about Japan and generate a productive dialogue between Japanese and Americans, Subscribe to Japan Related today!

JAPAN REMARKATION TO COMPANY TO

	r call 1-800-552-3206 fo
☐ YES! Start my subscriber, I'll get off the newsstand	subscription to Japan Related t 6 issues for the special price of price.	today. As a Mangajin of $20*, a 26% savings
☐ I'm not convinced.	sed. I'll pay by I'll Visa Please send me my first copy alor cose to subscribe, I'll send in my	ng with a bill for five
Name		300
Address —
City	State Zi	Ρ
Phone	Occupation
FOR	R CREDIT CARD PAYME	NTS:
Card No.		_ Exp. date
Signature		30.00

A STRATE-PART CANADANS BY RIBERSHIAS ADSSESSED AND PRINTED STRAIN ONLINE AS APPAIR

Japan Related—The Best Of Both Worlds

FEATURE ARTICLES give you up-to-date information, in-depth analysis and expert opinion on the theme of each issue.

MANNERS-NAMA answers questions about cross-cultural etiquette with delicacy and exquisite correctness.

INTERVIEWS AND SURVEYS present opinions and experiences from people on the frontlines of the Japanese-American workplace.

United Language provides commonly used Japanese words and phrases which relate directly to the theme of each issue.

INTERCUTURAL COMMUNICATION THIS offer insightful advice about communication and relationships between Japanese and Americans.

REGITAR DIPARIMENTS include language tips, photo essays, book reviews, Japan trivia, trends in Japan, and cartoons.

Japan Related's no-nonsense, money-back guarantee:

If for any reason you are ever dissatisfied with your subscription to Japan Related, simply let us know and we will refund the price of all unmailed issues.

That's a promise!

Steve Leeper

Steve Leeper, Editor

FIRST CLASS MAIL PERMIT NO. 2004 MARIETTA, GA

POSTAGE WILL BE PAID BY ADDRESSEE

MANGAJIN, INC. P.O. Box 7119 Marietta, GA 30065

NO POSTAGE NECESSARY

> IF MAILED IN THE

UNITED STATES

Tallallardlandlardalalalalalardlallardl

漫画人

MANGAJIN

Books & Accessories From Mangajin

The new and improved Mangajin cap!

Our linen cap now sports a black embroidered logo with red accents. The back of the cap is adjustable to any size and you need to order yours today! It comes with a Got-To-Have-It price of only $10.00 for subscribers and $12.50 for non-subscribers. Don't wait!

The Classic Samurai T is a 6-color reproduction of our first cover on a white 100% cotton shirt, $10.00 for subscribers, $12.50 for others. Please choose size L or XL. Our 50/50 Classic Samurai shirt is the same design only on a white cotton blend shirt and is $8.00, L or XL.

The Clean-Cut Logo shirt, featuring our black logo on a white 50/50 cotton blend shirt, is only $6.50 if you're a subscriber, otherwise $8.00. Choose L or XL. It's a fashionably correct alternative.

Mangajin's Basic Japanese Through Comics

A compilation of the first 24 Basic Japanese lessons from Mangajin, it's the next best thing to a complete set of back issues! The lessons cover a wide array of expressions and illustrate usage in cultural context. Beginners will find the concepts and explanations easy to understand, while pros can expand their linguistic horizons. 160 pages, softcover. $14.95

The Essence of Modern Haiku

Breaking free from centuries of poetry limited to nature themes, Seishi Yamaguchi added modern touches while retaining the elegant beauty of the classics. Presented in Mangajin style, this collection has appeal for students of Japanese language & culture as well as haiku lovers everywhere. 368 pages. Softcover $19.95

Mangajin Back Issues

Need more Mangajin? Back issues will satisfy that craving! $6 each or $5.40 each for subscribers.

An Interview with Tokyo Journalist Sam Jameson, Outrageous Japanese, Beranmei Tōchan, Furiten-Manga kun, Business Manners, Yawara! (1)

#27 Japan's Wedding Industry, Outrageous Japanese, News, Brand Manga Business Manners, Yawara! (2) Beranmei Tōchan

#28 Japan's Vending Machines, Japanese for PCs, Kachō Shima Kōsaku Katsushika Q, Beranmei Tōchan

Reprints of the Japanese Software Special article in #29 are now available for $5 each, $3 for subscribers.

#6: Profile of sci-fi artist Matsumoto Reiji; Ginga Tetsudō 999 (1), Dai-Tōkyō, Pocket Story, Tanaka-kun

#10: Roundup of Japanese movies on video; the art of subtitling; sex & violence in manga; Dai-Tōkyō, Ginga Tetsudō (5), OL Shinkaron, Ojama Shimasu

#12: Japanese beer brands; Tale of two translations; Mac System 7; The Far Side, Dai-Tōkyō, Ningen Kōsaten (2)

#16: Getting around the high cost of sushi; Computer Corner: Twin-bridge review; Racial stereotypes in manga; Oishinbo (food manga, pt. 1), Bono Bono, Sarariiman Senka

#17: Tezuka Osamu, Japan's "God of Manga"; Computer Corner: developments in Unicode; Basic Japanese: Baby Talk; The Phoenix, Calvin & Hobbes, Oishinbo (2), Kuriko-san

#18: The corporate warrior; J-related CompuServe; bus. books; Eigyō Tenteko Nisshi: business manga, (1), The

Phoenix (2), Oishinbo (3), C&H, Ojama Shimasu #19: Controversy over racial images in Tezuka's works; Interviews with pro translators; Sumō, Japan's trendy old sport; Eigyō Tenteko Nisshi (2), Phoenix (3), Mad Ad (Perot)

#20: Language learning issue: general pointers, textbook reviews, kana learning programs, Kanji-Flash review; Ningen Kōsaten (medical ethics story, pt. 1), What's Michael, Saran-kun

#21: Tonic eiyō drinks: Salaryman's Secret Weapon?, Kuriko-san, Ningen Kōsaten (2), Beranmei Tochan

#24: Bars, Cabarets, and the "Water Trade"; Haiku-mania, Füryü Manga: Odaiji ni, Japan's Choco-Mania, Sararikun, Furiten-kun, Crayon Shinchan, What's Michael, Midori-san, Tanaka-kun #25: Sake Special: brands, terminology, manga, The "Japanification" of American Fast Food, Kuriko-san

#34: Pachinko, Japan's national pastime, Women's Cooking Magazines, Warau Serusuman (2), Naniwa Kin'yudo, Dai Tōkyō Binbō Seikatsu Manyuaru, A Visual Glossary of Modern Terms

#35: Fortune-Telling in Japan, Japanese Traditional Confections, Arerugen, Naniwa Kin'yudo (2), Dai Tōkyō Binbō Seikatsu Manyuaru, Furiten-kun, Obatarian, Far Side, Calvin and Hobbes

#36: Japanese Pop Music-A Beginner's Guide, Fred Schodt Interviews Fujiko Fujio (A), Naniwa Kin'yudo (3), Furiten-kun. Far Side, Calvin and Hobbes, Crayon Shin-chan, OL Reiko-san, Take'emon-ke no Hitobito

Kid Stuff

Japanese Word Book

Illustrated by Yuko Green A picture dictionary with a Japanese feel—characters wear kimono, eat Japanese foods and walk in Japanese gardens. The 200 words and phrases are labeled in romaji and kanji/kana and illustrated in black and white. E-J, J-E glossaries are included in the back for reference. Comes with a cassette tape for pronunciation practice. 106 pages, softcover. $16, subscriber price $14

Nihongo Daisuki! Japanese for Children Through Games and Songs

by Susan H. Hirate and Noriko Kawaura

A teachers' manual designed for use in elementary school classrooms, complete with photo-ready materials. The drawings aren't top-notch, but the activity-based curriculum, designed by professional language teachers, will be a relief to teachers struggling for ideas. 194 pages, softcover. $19, subscriber price $16

Let's Learn Japanese Picture Dictionary

Illustrated by Marlene Goodman

A delightful picture book of over 1,500 words, each page contains dozens of color drawings with labels written in English, romaji and kanji/kana. A wide range of subjects from "At the Doctor's Office" to prehistoric times and space travel. J-E, E-J glossaries are included in the back for reference. 80 pages, hardcover. $12, subscriber price $10

Japanese Manga

Naniwa Kin'yūdō

by Aoki Yuji. Given the content of the stories, the title of this series could be rendered as "The Way of the Osaka Loan Shark." Since its appearance in 1990, Naniwa has been a hit, largely due to its subject matter (the unethical dealings of an Osaka loan company), the gritty Osaka dialect used by many characters, and the rough but oddly detailed style of drawing. Adult situations, may not be suitable for all audiences. Five volume set in the original Japanese, no translations or notes. $40.00, subscriber price $35.00

Kachō Shima Kōsaku

by Hirokane Kenshi. Japan's most famous salaryman is a single, fortyish, middle-manager working at a giant consumer electronics company, where he battles for truth, profits and the Japanese Way. Mangajin readers will recognize a similarity to Ningen Kōsaten, also drawn by Hirokane. Adult situations, may not be suitable for all audiences. Five volume set in the original Japanese, no translations or notes. $40.00, subscriber price $35.00

OL Shinkaron

by Akizuki Risu. This series is centered on the lives of "OLs," Office Ladies, Japan's female counterparts to salarymen. The stories take place in the same office, and the same regular characters appear, but names are not generally used. A long-time favorite with Mangajin readers, OL Shinkaron first showed up in Mangajin #4. Three volume set in the original Japanese, no translations or notes. $30.00, subscriber price $25.00

What's Michael?

by Makoto Kobayashi. He's Back! Mangajin's favorite cat Michael has been a constant companion since our first issue. He's been the pet of a young woman, a married couple, and a gangster, to name a few, and some of his adventures take place strictly in the world of cats who dress and act like humans. Easy to read, What's Michael is particularly popular with beginners of Japanese. Five volume set in the original Japanese, no translations or notes. $40.00, subscriber price $35.00

Dai Tōkyō Binbō Seikatsu Manyuaru

by Maekawa Tsukasa. The hero of this series is Kōsuke, a young college grad who chooses to live a no-frills life. He works only part-time jobs and spends his time enjoying the simple pleasures of life, especially in finding innovative ways of living on the cheap. A regular since Mangajin #3. Five volume set in the original Japanese, no translations or notes. $40.00, subscriber price $35.00

Obatarian

by Hotta Katsuhiko. Obatarian first appeared in Mangajin#4. Her selfishness, suspicious nature and quick temper have found their way back into our pages again and again. You can't help but like this middle-aged terror. Five volume set in the original Japanese, no translations or notes. $31.50, subscriber price $28.00

O-jama Shimasu

by Imazeki Shin. Known to its fans as the "sheep-counting manga," the offbeat humor in this series is somewhat reminiscent of The Far Side. Selections appear in this issue of Mangajin. Three volume set in the original Japanese, no translations or notes. $19.50, subscriber price $17.50

Magazines

NIHONGO For teachers of Japanese

In addition to tips on how to present some of the trickier aspects of the Japanese language, this monthly publication contains articles on subjects such as assessing aptitude for teaching Japanese, handling cultural friction between teacher and students, and how to select a teacher's training program. Written completely in Japanese. Single copy of latest issue $9.00, subscriber price $8.10

HON'YAKU NO SEKAI For professional and aspiring translators

Features articles on topics such as how to find work as a translator, how to respond to help wanted ads, making the most of computers for translation, selecting dictionaries, examples of how translation is used in the world of business, learning "living language" from movie subtitles, etc. Written completely in Japanese. Single copy of latest issue $9.00, subscriber price $8.10

The Nihongo Journal

日本語ジャーナル The Nihongo Journal

The Nihongo Journal has something for all levels of study: lessons, drills and readings, as well as ads for language schools and products. Subscriptions to the Nihongo Journal $100; for Mangajin subscribers $95—does not include tapes. (Canadian subscriptions US$130, US$125 for Mangajin subscribers.)

June 1994

Job Hunting for Foreign Students; Japanese Dialogue for Job Hunting; Making Use of Employment Magazines; A Guide to Convenient Living; Ramen Museum Tour; Traveling Japan: Lake Biwa; JLPT Lesson 4 $9.00, subscriber price $8.10

May 1994

Telephone Conversation; Living in Japan: Using Banks; Art Museum Tour; Traveling Japan: Kofu; Lessons: Bonsai; Various Kinds of Postcards; Practical Course in Keego, Expressing Time. $9.00, subscriber price $8.10

1992 Nihongo Journals Available: $7 each

- 5: The Liberal Democratic Party; Ghouls, Goblins & Imaginary Beings; Symbols in Kanji; Beg. J: Golden Week
- 7: Phones for New Age; Game Arcades; J. Through Linguistic Functions: Requests; News Nihongo: Pro Baseball
- 8: Whaling Controversy; Festival Delights; Beg. J: Summer Vacation; Vocabulary Building: Onomatopoeia
- 10: Attending a J University; Horse Racing; J Paper; Bus. Writing: Negotiating Price Increase; Beginning J: Sports
- 11: Japan, Land of Earthquakes; Ogasawara Village; Autumn Leaves; Business Writing: Sending Out Invitations

Office Japanese

Meetings, telephone conversations, office visitors, business trips, personnel changes, corporate anniversaries, nemawashi, Japanese management—discuss them all using this book-and-tape set from the ALC Press (of Nihongo Journal fame). Uses model conversations, listening tasks, and communicative practices to hone speaking & listening skills. For advanced beginners and intermediate students of Japanese, set includes 2 thirty-minute tapes. Set of book & tapes $60.00, subscriber price $50.00.

Books

Japanese Jive, by Caroline McKeldin

English is widely used in Japanese product names and packaging, often with baffling results. McKeldin presents dozens of hilarious examples of real products bearing unreal English names, accompanied by tongue-in-cheek "analysis." 80 pages, softcover. $9.95, subscriber price $8.95

Shosha-man, by Arai Shinya, translation by Cheiko Mulhern Intended for a Japanese audience, this novel gives an honest and insightful look into the life of an employee of a shōsha (large-scale Japanese trading company). The plot revolves around the buyout of an American firm by the Japanese, and one man's struggle to do what is best for his company and himself. 224 pages, softcover. $13.00, subscriber price $12.50

Komikku Nichi-Bei Masatsu: Waratte bakari wa iraremasen:

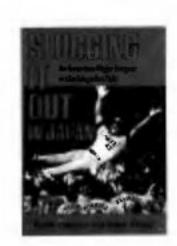

"Comic Japan-US Friction: Not Just a Laughing Matter," One Kosei, translator

Not Just a Laughing Matter presents 100 political cartoons on Japan from newspapers and magazines around the world. Everything from the contents to the notes is presented in English and Japanese (no language notes or grammar explanations, though). Priority was given to those comics that evoked a chuckle. Reviewed in Mangajin #28. Price $17.00 subscriber price $15.00

In the Realm of a Dying Emperor, by Norma Field

Set in the final year of the Showa Emperor's fatal illness, Realm examines the dark side of Japanese nationalism. By giving detailed portraits of three people who have taken unpopular stands against a government-endorsed nationalist symbol, a nation is revealed that is far more diverse than most people realize. 273 pages, softcover. $11.50, subscriber price $11.00

Japan, Inc., by Ishinomori Shōtarō

English translation of the Japanese educational manga Nihon Keizai Nyūmon. The story involves fictional Mitsutomo Trading Co., the kind of company that has presided over Japan's economic expansion during the past cantury, providing insight into how the Japanese view business and their political economy. 312 pages, softcover. $13.00, subscriber price $12.50

Slugging it Out in Japan, by Warren Cromartie w/Robert Whiting This Montreal Expo turned Tokyo Giant gripes about everything from soulless cities to gutless players; but by the end of the story admits his respect for Japan. Reviewed in Mangajin #14. 277 pages, hardcover. $18.50, subscriber price $17.50

America and the Four Japans, by Frederik L. Schodt

A remarkably thoughtful book about the ever-changing relationship between Japan and the US. Drawing on history, cultural commentary, and opinion on both sides of the Pacific, it portrays two nations in conflict yet increasingly connected. Is Japan a friend, a rival, a role model, or a mirror? What does Japan really mean to America? Reviewed in Mangajin #32, 200 pages, softcover. $10.95 subscriber price $8.95

Manga! Manga! by Frederik L. Schodt

Tracing manga from its 6th-century roots through its function as propaganda during the war to the billion-yen industry of the present, including more than 200 illustrations and translated sections of four classic manga works. 260 pages, softcover. $18.50, subscriber price $17.00

JTB's Illustrated Book Series Volume 1: A Look Into Japan

An intro to a variety of Japanese traditions, customs, & pastimes. Covers 100 categories: tea ceremony, bonsai, pachinko, eating utensils, hot springs, signs, signals, and more.

Volume 2: Living Japanese Style

Practical explanations of Japanese customs, designed to help avoid culture shock. Includes using the bank, taking the train, advice on how to behave in a variety of situations, etc.

Volume 3: Eating in Japan

Comprehensive guide to Japanese cuisine, including foods, beverages and sweets, with descriptions of restaurants and explanations of food. Section on etiquette included.

Volume 8: Salaryman in Japan

To understand the salaryman (white collar worker) is to understand Japanese business. This book delves into everyday life. Also features a section on business manners, phrases and terminology.

Volume 14: Japanese Inns & Travel

An intro to the types of Japanese lodgings (ryokan, *minshuk*u, youth hostels) including the history of travel in Japan, culture of hot springs, a catalog of ekiben plus local specialities.

These handy pocket-size books offer a wealth of information. Our price $10.00 each, subscriber price $9.50/each. Set of five $47.50, subscriber price $45.00

The Way of the Urban Samurai by Kasumi

There is no saving face when Japan insider Kasumi takes off the gloves and challenges you to get to know the truth about the Japanese male. Reviewed in Mangajin #24. 113 pages, softcover. $9.50, subscriber price

$8.50

The Japanese Through American Eyes

by Sheila K. Johnson

The author studied various pop culture media covering 1941 to the present to study how American's views of the Japanese have developed since Pearl Harbor. From the "anti-Jap" sentiments of WWII through guilt over Hiroshima to the latest wave of examination provoked by Japan's economic power, this book provides a fascinating look at Japan through the eyes of Americans. 191 pages, softcover. $10.00, subscriber price $9.50

The Job Hunter's Guide to Japan

by Terra Brockman
If you want to work in Japan, this book is for you. Each chapter focuses on a specific industry (computers, English teaching, etc.) and gives you complete information on that field. The first and last chapters provide an overview. 232 pages, softcover. $12.00,
subscriber price $11.50

Womansword: What Japanese Words Say About Women

by Kittredge Cherry
Several hundred terms about female identity, girlhood, marriage, motherhood, the work world, sexuality, and aging in Japan. A provocative mix of the ordinary, taboo, ancient and contemporary, these terms are defined and interpreted in short, lively essays.
Reviewed in Mangajin#4. 150
pages, softcover. $9.95, subscriber price $7.95

Doing Business with Japanese Men

by Brannen & Wilen
Defining problems women have with Japanese businessmen and offering solutions as well, Doing Business explains why misconceptions occur (on both sides) and would be helpful to anyone dealing with Japanese businessmen. Reviewed in Mangajin #26. 174
pages, softcover. $9.95, subscriber price $7.95

A Half Step Behind

By Jane Condon

This book explores the wide variety of lifestyles led by Japanese women—career women, entertainers, housewives, farmers—through a series of interviews with the women themselves. The result is a rare look at Japan from the woman's point of view. 320 pages, softcover. $12.00, subscriber price $11.00

Learning Japanese

Essential Japanese: An Introduction to the Standard Colloquial Language

Emphasizing sentence patterns as the key to attaining a basic control of Japanese, Essential Japanese stresses mastery of the fundamentals. Each lesson contains basic sentences, structure notes, exercises and dialogs to reinforce sentence patterns. Written entirely in romaji. 462 pages, softcover. $13.95, subscriber price $12.95.

Japanese for Busy People I

Created by the Association for Japanese Language Teaching, this course offers 30 lessons of survival Japanese with emphasis on vocabulary and grammar with practical value. Dialogs presented in both kana and romaji. 213 pages, softcover. $20.00, subscriber price $18.50. Tapes (four 30-minute cassettes): $40, subscriber price $35.

Japanese for Busy People II

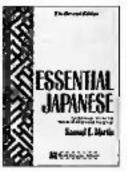

Sequel to JBPI combines vocabulary and grammar in realistic situations; opening dialogs, practice sections, exercises, quizzes. Kanji are introduced along with hiragana, katakana and romaji. 420 pages, softcover. $20.50, subscriber price $19.00. Tapes (six 60-minute cassettes): $90, subscriber price $85.

Let's Learn Hiregana, Let's Learn Katakana

These two workbooks teach the basic Japanese alphabet and the one used for borrowed foreign words & phrases. Practice and review builds writing skills step by step. A manageable way to learn with or without an instructor. softcover. Two volume set $18.50, subscriber price $17.00, or $9.50 each, subscriber price $8.50 each.

250 Essential Kanji for Everyday Use

A kanji workbook featuring characters that most frequently appear in daily life. Each of the 21 lessons features a situation where you might find yourself when in Japan: train stations, banks, post offices, restaurants. Incorporates quizzes and review exercises reinforcing lessons, making the text ideal for self-study. Put your knowledge to use by deciphering actual Japanese forms, maps, menus. This book assumes knowledge of hiragana and katakana. 240 pages, softcover. $16.95, subscriber price $15.95.

Kenkyushe's Furigana E-J Dictionary

This dictionary gives readings in hiragana for all kanji used in definitions and explanations. 980 pages, 49,000 headwords, heavyweight paperback. $24.00, subscriber price $21.60.

sample n., v. 標本, 見本(を取る); (質を)に あす; Statistics サンラル。

Read Japanese Today

Read 300 of the most common characters in a few hours whether or not you have any knowledge of the grammar or spoken language. 159 pages, softcover. Reviewed in Mangajin #1. (Not shown) $8.00, subscriber price $7.00.

Essential Japanese Grammar A summary covering all the gremmar needed for speech and comprehension. Not a textbook, but plenty can be learned by browsing through. 156 pages, softcover. (Not shown) $6.00, subscriber price $5.00.

358	GAKU, music; RAKU, pleasure; tano(shimu),	enjoy; tano-
75	(shii), fun, enjoyable, pleasant
2324	音楽 ongaku music	347
T.	文楽 bunraku Japanese puppet theater	111
冰	楽天家 rakutenka optimist	141, 165

fi GAKU, music; RAKU, comfort, 治く ease; tano(shu), pleasant 楽しみ tanoshimi, pleasure 怕 泊 音楽会 ongakukai, concert, musikiraku, ease, comfort 気楽 沎 泊 331 (木 15) 13 strokes

安楽死 anrakushi euthanasia

Kanji & Kana

Presents the 1,945 "daily use" kanji in the format shown, along with 60+ pages of kanji and kana history, rules and trivia. Indexed by romaji reading, number of strokes and radical. Hardcover. Reviewed in Mangajin #1. $17.00, subscriber price $15.00

A Guide to Raading and Writing Japanese

Gives easy-to-follow stroke order diagrams for 881 "essential characters," plus hiragana/katakana. Also a sample listing of 989 more, for a total of 1,850 kanji. Indexed by romaji reading, stroke count. hardcover. Reviewed in Mangajin#1.$14.00, subscriber price $12.50.

105, 85

Mangajin Subscriptions:

Subscribe to Mangajin and take advantage of our discounted rates on catalog items for subscribers!

- Subscriptions in the USA are $35 for one year (one year equals 10 issues; we are on a 5-week publishing schedule);
- Full-time students give us a call for a special rate;

Canadian & Mexican subscriptions are US$50;

 Overseas subscriptions are US$80 (Sorry, we can't ship subscriptions to Japan; orders must go through our exclusive agent in Japan—address, telephone and fax numbers are listed on page 2. Gift subscriptions to Japan will depend on the exchange rate and will cost the same as a subscription in Japan);

We accept MasterCard, Visa, Money Orders or Checks in American dollars.

How to Order:

 We accept Visa and MasterCard telephone orders—Please have card in hand when calling and use our Toll Free number! Our hours are 9:00 AM to 5:30 PM Eastern Time Monday through Friday.

Purchase orders are accepted by mail or fax. If you have any questions please feel free to call.

 All shipping and handling costs are included in US orders; others must pay ship charges. If you fax your order in we'll fax you back with the ship cost.

 Standard delivery time 2-4 weeks within receipt of order. Extra charge for rush orders.

 DESCRIPTION/QUANTITY		UNIT PRICE	TOTAL
(Georgia Residents	please add 5% Tax)	Tax if applicable
	CHARGE Acct. Number:	IT! MasterCa	rd 🗆 Visa 🗆
	Exp. Date:	Tel:

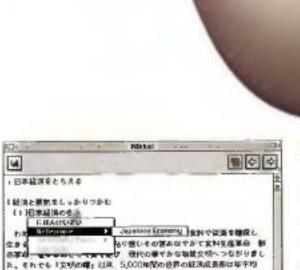

Nomura. A world of financial resources.

Global underwriting takes global know-how. We have a world of financial resources at our fingertips and expert knowledge of world markets. When we promise you the earth, we mean it.

Reading Japanese will never be easier.

Mikan helps you read!

にしてわずか!分にすぎないといわれています。人間の歴史の疑情な進歩を

7・ 200年前 イギリスが運算事命をテコルが通社会から工業国軍へ生まれ営

考えると、日本経済のこと1個紀の成長ホリはまさに課界的といえるで

(Nikkei's A Primer on the Japanese Economy and Kodansha's Short Stories by Takashi Atoda ) totaling 300 pages of entertaining and informative text, the furigana reading for all kanji characters, a 10,000 word integrated glossary derived from Kenkyusha's and over 1,000 grammar notes that

New Japanese-English Dictionary

explain difficult phrases.

Mikan lets you learn Japanese while you read. If you come across a word, character or phrase you don't understand, just click on it and the reading and definition pop up instantly — no need for kanji dictionaries. Plus, Mikan has a powerful relational database, so you can create and grow your own personal dictionary, then use it to quiz yourself.

Mikan helps you build your vocabulary!

Get Mikan today! And learn to read Japanese the easy way.

Order Mikan today for only $149!

Read Japanese the easy way. In the U.S., call 800-434-0474; or fax your order to 415-473-0507.

のたしたち人間の程氏は通知な自然と耐いながら、食料や資源を確保し

生きる勢力を重ねてきました。私の味らその答みはヤがて食料生産業会 参

市革命、産業業命として異を継び、現代の事やかな物質立切へつながりまし た、それでも「女明の欄」以前、5,000年間の世界の経済店長年は年平均

にしてわずか1%にすぎないといわれています。人類の歴史の関係な謎をを

考えると 日本経済のここ!世紀の成長がりはまるに難興的といえるでしょ 200年前 イギリスが高限革命をテコル計機社会から工業国家へ生まれ安

を活からいで調かできる。 良い協議が出る) 国連の知力が表を紹介 その個は子和になっ

Put Mikan on your Macintosh

and all you need to read

lapanese is at your fingertips.

complete with two books

1日本経済をとらえる

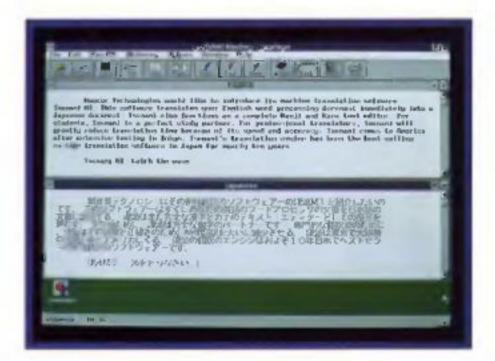

(経済と単数をしゃか)

(1) 旧本経済の参奏

Mikan comes

TSUNAMI MT for Windows

English-to-Japanese Translation Software

Enter text in the English window, or Drag & Drop from your word processor or the File Manager. Press the Trans button—instant Japanese!

Introducing Tsunami Machine Translator. With just Tsunami MT and MS Windows™, you can translate all of your English documents into Japanese at the click of a button.

The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly

Tsunami MT is written for all sorts of people. If your knowledge of Japanese goes as far as Sony and sushi, click the "fast" translation button and let Tsunami MT take care of the rest. For more advanced users Tsunami MT offers two user-interaction modes to allow user guidance and feedback during the translation process.

Japanese Word Processing

Professional translators and students of Japanese will appreciate Tsunami MT's full-featured Japanese text editor, With a standard Front End Processor (FEP), two kana entry tables, two laser printer-ready fonts, and its new kanji input system, Tsunami MT has editing features better than many Japanese word processors.

TsunamiMT is Smart...

Tsunami MT gives you a 60,000 word main system dictionary and unlimited user dictionaries. Translation speed is 500 words perminute, Translationaccuracy is 90 percent. Tsunami MT was developed at the Artificial Intelligence Laboratory in Tokyo.

Independent and a Team Player

link to the hottest new Windows applications with OLE 2.0 so you can drag and drop text from your word processor directly to Tsunami MT and back. If that's not enough, try the unique "File Import" button and pulla document directly from the File Manager. Tsunami MT reads text files from any word processor.

